

THE CAMBRIDGE ANCIENT HISTORY

VOLUME X. THE AUGUSTAN EMPIRE, 44 B.C.—A.D. 70

Edited by

S. A. COOK, F. E. ADCOCK, and M. P. CHARLESWORTH

14 maps and 4 tables. 37s. 6d. net

This volume contains the history of the Roman Empire from the death of Caesar to the accession of Vespasian. It includes chapters on the struggle for power between Octavian in the West and Antony and Cleopatra in the East, the constitutional settlement that resulted in the Principate, the measures that Augustus took to safeguard and unify the Empire under his protection and control, and the fortunes of the dynasty which succeeded him.

VOLUME OF PLATES IV. Illustrating Vols. IX and X of the History

Prepared by C. T. SELTMAN. 12s. 6d. net

A HISTORY OF ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY

By the late H. F. TOZER

New Edition. With additional notes by M. CARY

10 maps. 16s. net

'The numerous quotations from the original writers make the narrative a live one, and the maps supplied are full of interest. No one who cares for ancient history or for geography can afford to be without Dr Cary's "Tozer."'—Near East and India.

THE MERCENARIES OF THE HELLENISTIC WORLD

By G. T. GRIFFITH. 16s. net

A study of Greek warfare at a time when it had produced an organised profession to follow it. Who employed these professional soldiers, from what countries they came, how they were recruited and paid—these questions are the subject of this book, which contains material for the social and economic as well as for the military history of the Hellenistic world.

ORPHISM

By J. R. WATMOUGH. 3s. 6d. net

The Cromer Greek Prize Essay for 1934 in which the author shows that Orphism is no less characteristic of Greek thought than is the cult of the Olympian gods. He draws an analogy between ancient Orphism and modern Protestantism.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS