American Hegemony and World Oil

The Industry, the State System, and the World Economy

Simon Bromley

"... a major contribution to the current debates on the nature of power in the international system. . . . Bromley dispels two myths—the purported loss of U. S. hegemony and the realistic conception of states. This book, drawing on a wide reading of social science literature, will be a must for students of international relations and of international political economy." — Fred Halliday

State Theory

Putting the Capitalist State in Its Place

Bob Jessop

"This book makes a very substantial contribution to the literature on the state. . . . a magisterial tour through the development of state theory in the 1970s and 1980s, engaging virtually every significant current of theoretical work on the state in the period: Marxist structuralism, German state-derivation approaches, the French regulation school, discourse theories, statist analyses." — Erik Olin Wright

State Failure

The Impotence of Politics in Industrial Society

Martin Jänicke Translated by Alan Braley

"... provocative, well-argued, and likely to make a big impact on debates in the areas of theories of the state, comparative political economy, innovation, alternative politics, and environmental policy. At a time when Americans are realizing that simply deregulating everything may produce a large amount of dysfunction, State Failure offers a welcome corrective to lack of discourse in this area." — Christopher S. ## Undeclared War

Twilight Zone of Constitutional Power

Edward Keynes

"A fresh examination of the 200-year-old question of presidential and congressional powers in military action and foreign policy, looking particularly at the accretion of power in the hands of the President and the degree to which the judicial branch has attempted, or should attempt, to make decisions in the twilight zone. It is a searching inquiry, ranging from the early years of the republic to the Vietnam War."

— Foreign Affairs

POLITICS AND WAR

European Conflict from Philip II to Hitler

David Kaiser

In this bold and sweeping work, David Kaiser looks at four hundred years of modern European history to find the political causes of general war. In four distinct periods (1559-1659, 1661-1713, 1792-1815, 1914-1945) he shows how war became a natural function of politics, a logical consequence of contemporary political behavior.

CHINA'S CRISIS, CHINA'S HOPE

Liu Binyan

Foreword by Merle Goldman

Liu Binyan, China's preeminent intellectual, a renowned writer and journalist, offers a compelling portrait of his native country. Having endured decades of hard labor and eventually expulsion from the Communist Party (at which point he was allowed to travel to America), Liu is in a unique position to provide insight into the complex economic, political, and social issues that led to the Tiananmen Square uprising in spring 1989.

SADAT AND AFTER

Struggles for Egypt's Political Soul

Raymond William Baker

In this compelling study, Raymond Baker recreates the public worlds of eight groups on the periphery of Egyptian politics that have sustained themselves despite official efforts at containment. Taken together, these alternative groups reveal that Egyptians are more than the objects of diverse external pressures and more than the sufferers of a host of internal problems. In examining Egypt from the margins rather than from the center, Baker proposes a new direction for Third World political studies.

David Bachman

"Bachman's arguments, supported by superb and exhaustive research in available Chinese-language and Western source materials, are strong and seldom overstated... This is a work of innovative scholarship of high quality on issues of central concern to the study of contemporary China."

— William Kirby, Washington University

In this book David Bachman examines the origins of the Great Leap Forward (GLF), a program of economic reform that must be considered one of the great tragedies of Communist China, estimated to have caused the death of between 14 and 28 million Chinese. Bachman proposes a provocative reinterpretation of the origins of the GLF that stresses the role of the bureaucracy.

BOOKS FOR A CHANGING WORLD

New Thinking & Old Realities America, Europe, and Russia

*Michael T. Clark and Simon Serfaty,
Editors*

224 pages, $24.95 (cloth),
$13.95 (paper)

With the radical transformations in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, seven scholars examine the new world of global politics that is emerging from the ruins of the Cold War. What kind of order will replace the old and how new will that order really be? And what role can and should the United States play in it?

The Invisible Threads

Independent Soviets Working for Global Awareness and Social Transformation

Gale Warner

256 pages, $13.95 (paper)

Pre-glasnost and pre-perestroika, Soviet citizens were working behind the scenes laying foundations that have enabled dramatic social and political change to take place in the Soviet Union. Warner gives us a rare account on how these ordinary citizens took extraordinary risks to change Soviet international policy.

ALTERNATIVES

An Invaluable Resource...

As a leading forum for both critical and speculative ideas about emerging forms of world politics, Alternatives encourages a wide range of perspectives. Its contributors challenge the ethnocentrism of modern social and political analysis, and thus seek to highlight the diverse experiences of peoples in a world of increasingly complex connections and exclusions; these diverse experiences are explored also vis-à-vis the possible emergence of a humane global polity.

1991 (Vol. 16) subscription rates are:

$28.00 for individuals ■ $60.00 for institutions

Colorado residents please add 3% sales tax. For subscriptions outside the U.S. and Canada, please add $6.00 for surface mail or $12.00 for air mail.
