

---

NEWS

---

CALENDAR OF MEETINGS

Meeting on Dominican Crisis and U.S. Policy—Storrs, February 28, 1966

The Latin American Colloquium of the University of Connecticut sponsored this panel discussion.

Panelists were William Barnes, Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy; Hugh M. Hamill, Jr., and Robert G. Mead, University of Connecticut; and Robert F. Smith, University of Rhode Island.

Catholicism and Social Change in Latin America—Berkeley, March 15–19, 1966

Sponsored by the Institute of International Studies, University of California, Berkeley, and the Federación Internacional de los Institutos Católicos de Investigaciones Sociales y Socio-Religiosas, the meeting's task was to construct a research design for a five-country study in Brazil, Colombia, Chile, Mexico, and Argentina. Participants were Ivan Vallier, Berkeley; Francois Houtart, Louvain; Gustavo Perez, Colombia; Justin O'Farrell, Argentina; Renato Poblete, Chile; Rocco Caporale, New York; Luis Lenero, Mexico; Rodrigo Olivari, Mexico; and Godofredo Deelen, Brazil. The Roman Catholic Church, progressive Catholic movements, Catholic values and fertility, religion and politics, catholicism and social development were all subjects of discussion. Ivan Vallier presented A Framework for the Comparative Study of Religion and Development: Latin American Catholicism; Luis Lenero discussed Development and Socio-Religious Change; and Gustavo Perez, Proposal on the Implications of the Religious Factor in the Social Development of Latin America. Three conclusions were reached at the meeting: 1) the religious factor deserves priority attention in theories of development and change; 2) research designs capable of focusing on comparative studies of the Church—cross-national and intra-societal (diocesan)—are needed; 3) comparative studies of Latin American catholicism need the support of strong analytical histories of the Church's development in each country. This was the first meeting of its kind, representing the preliminary stage of collaborative research between the Institute of International Studies and Church research groups. For information on future meetings, contact Ivan Vallier, University of California, Berkeley.

Latin American Research Review

Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese—Edinburgh, March 19, 1966

The Future of Latin American Studies in Scottish Schools, Colleges, and Universities was the theme of this meeting held under the auspices of the Hispanic and Luso-Brazilian Councils and the Scottish Branch of the Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese. Participants included Scottish school and university teachers who heard the following presentations: The Parry Report by H. S. Parker; British Relations with Latin America by John Walker; Postgraduate Studies in the Latin American Center at Glasgow University by N. Warman; and Resources for Latin American Studies in Scotland by D. L. Shaw. The meeting was a follow-up to a similar conference held at Oxford in October 1965.

Workshop on Science, Technology, and Development—Itatiaia, Brazil, April 11–16, 1966

Identification of possibilities of U.S.-Brazilian cooperation in the fields of science and technology as related to development was the central focus of the meeting. Joint sponsors were the United States National Academy of Sciences and the Conselho Nacional de Pesquisas, Brazil. Ten U.S. participants, 13 Brazilian participants, and eight observers from the U.S. government and Ford Foundation attended the sessions. The Brazilian participants presented papers on topics related to agriculture, public health, assistance to industry, mineral resources, development of scientific and technical manpower. This was the first meeting of its kind in Brazil and a future follow-up meeting may be scheduled. For further information, contact Victor Rabinowitch, National Academy of Sciences, 2101 Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418.

Seminario Multitendencista sobre Integración Económica, Política y Social Bogotá, April 15–24, 1966

The Regional Secretariat of the World Assembly of Youth sponsored this seminar for more than 30 delegates from 15 Latin American countries, seven observers from other countries, and seven observers from international organizations. Topics on which lectures were presented included the following: Historical Antecedents of the Ideal of Latin American Integration by Andres Townsend Ezcurra, Secretary General of the Latin American Parliament, and Jaime Sanin Echeverri, Asociación Colombiana de Universidades; Structural Reality of the Latin American Economy by Francisco Trujillo and Jaime Lopera, Colombia; Integration as an Inescapable Process for Economic and Social Development in Latin America by Godofredo Gonzalez, Venezuela, Alvaro Perez Vives, Colombia, and Fernando Sanz Manrique, Colombia; Viability of Economic Integration by Alberto Sola, Asociación Latinoamericana de Libre Comercio, and José Moncada, IDB; Latin American Political Integration and Factors Opposing It by Jaime Aguilera Blanco, Universidad Nacional de Colombia; Social Integration as a Consequence of Economic and Political Integration by Luis Alberto Monge, Costa Rica, and Luis Ratinoff, Programa Latinoamericano de Estudio sobre Desarrollo; Realizations Within the Ideal of Latin American Integration by Andres Townsend Ezcurra, Alberto Sola, and Heliodoro Agudelo Rivera, Confederación Latinoamericana de Sindicalistas Cristianos; Extra-Latin American Experiences of Economic, Political and Social Integration and its Relationship to Latin American Integration by Ulrich C. A. Krebs, European Community, and Alberto Navas, Universidad Javeriana. The final report of the meeting (Doc. AMJ-CIRAL/24) may be obtained from the Asamblea Mundial de la Juventud, Secretaría Regional para América Latina, Centro de Información Regional para América Latina, Apartado 4791, Lima, Perú.

University of London Meeting on Latin America: Social, Political and Economic Institutions—London, April 18–21, 1966

Presentations comprising the program included the following: Genealogy of Public Vices by S. L. Andreski, University of Reading; The Impact of Urbanisation by John Cole, University of Nottingham; The Evolution of Latin American Political Parties by Harold Blake-more, University of London Institute of Latin American Studies; The Christian Democratic Parties by George Hall, British Foreign Office; The Role of the Military in Revolutionary Politics by John Lynch, University of London; Student Movements in Latin America by Alistair Hennessy, University of Warwick; The Mexican System by Peter Calvert, University of Southampton; Brazil since Vargas by Leslie Bethel, University College, London; Argentina after Perón by David Huelin, Bank of London and South America; The Economic Commission for Latin America by Gordon Bridger, Ministry of Overseas Development; Banking and Finance for Development by Hugh Holley, Bank of London and South America; The Law and the Foreign Investor by Ian Kennedy, University College, London; and a Symposium on Continuity and Change in Latin America, introduced by Malcolm Deas, All Souls College, Oxford. The University of London's Department of Extra-Mural Studies and the Institute of Latin American Studies sponsored the sessions.

3rd International Seminar on Demography Buga, Colombia, April 20–23, 1966

With the objective of analyzing the results of research conducted in Colombia on problems of population, family planning, abortion, and programs of training for doctors and auxiliary health personnel, this seminar was organized by the División de Estudios de Población of the Asociación Colombiana de Facultades de Medicina. Among the participants were Carmen Miró, Centro Latinoamericano de Demografía; and Donald Bogue, University of Chicago. One hundred persons, representing the fields of medicine, sociology, economics, anthropology, statistics, demography and social work, attended the Seminar. Among the papers presented were Unitary Synthesis of the Family Planning Program in Colombia, by Alberto Bayona-Núñez and Unitary Synthesis of Abortion Surveys in Colombia, by G. Llanos, N. Lenis, and B. Lara.

Latin American Research Review

10th Annual Meeting of Kroeber Anthropological Society—Berkeley, April 30, 1966 Seven papers delivered at this meeting focused on Latin America. The titles were in Defense of the Olmec Mosaic Jaguar Masks by Tillie Smith, University of California, Berkeley (UCB); The Role of Chincha in the Culture History of Late Pre-Spanish Peru by Dorothy Menzel, UCB; Religion and Empire in Ancient Peru by John H. Rowe, UCB; The Place of Pachacamac in Andean Culture History by Thomas C. Patterson, Harvard University; A Different Breed of Cat: Change of Meaning in Middle Horizon Design Elements from Ica, Peru, by Patricia J. Lyon, UCB; and Fatalism-Schmatalism, or Alienation: Latin American Style by Octavio I. Romano, V., UCB.

Service Center for Teachers of History Meeting on Latin America—Washington, D.C., April 30, 1966 Problems in Understanding Brazil was the subject of the symposium sponsored by the department of history of the Catholic University of America and the AHA Service Center for Teachers of History. Round table discussion involved Manoel Cardozo, Catholic University; Elinor Halle, USIA; Douglas Elleby, USIA; Mathias Kieman, editor of The Americas and director of the Academy of American Franciscan History; and Karl Schmitt, University of Texas.

United States University Involvement in Latin American Institutional Development Ithaca—May 1–4, 1966 More than 40 representatives of universities, government agencies, and private foundations in the United States and Latin America attended this meeting of the Cornell Latin American Year. Conference sessions involved discussion of purposes and prospects for associations between North American universities and Latin American institutions. Evaluations were made of the varying forms of collaboration that have evolved; the role of the U.S. university staff member as a visitor in a Latin American institution; new approaches to be tested in the fields of public administration, food production research, the junior-level visiting professor; and means of increasing the effectiveness of U.S. university involvement in Latin American institutional development. William D. Carmichael, dean of Cornell University's graduate school of business and public administration, organized the meeting. The proceedings will be published by Cornell University Press.

1st Meeting of Subcommittee on Historical Methods and Procedures for Statistics of Conference on Latin American Gathering, Analyzing and Publishing History—New York City, May 27–28, 1966 Publishing Historical Statistics of Colombia was the theme of the meeting. Eight persons were in attendance with five as participants and three as invited advisors. Participants were Miguel Urrutia, Centro de Estudios Latinoamericanos; Frank Safford, Dartmouth College; David Bushnell, University of Florida; Robert C. Beyer, College of William and Mary; and William P. McGreevey, University of California, Berkeley; the advisers were Howard F. Cline, Hispanic Foundation; R. Albert Berry, Yale Economic Growth Center; and Robert Gilmore, Ohio University. No papers were presented, and all the reading dealt with studies that would be undertaken to bring together a definitive set of historical statistics for Colombia. If the committee is successful in assembling these statistics, the work undertaken in Colombia can be applied to other countries, thereby ultimately providing a model for effective work in quantitative history throughout Latin America. William P. McGreevey, chairman of the Committee on Historical Statistics, organized the sessions. Contact him about future meetings by writing Center for Latin American Studies, University of California, Berkeley, Calif. 94720.

Inter-American Conference on International Judicial Cooperation—Montreal, June 3–5, 1966 Several papers with Latin American content or perspective were on the agenda: Report on the Execution of Foreign Judgments in Argentina and in the States That Have Subscribed to the Montevideo Treaty of 1940 by Salvador Maria Lozada, Buenos Aires; Notes on Bolivian Legislation Relating to International Judicial Cooperation by Antonio Céspedes Toro and Edgar Camacho Omiste, La Paz; International Judicial Assistance in Civil and Commercial Matters in the Republic of Colombia by Alfredo Cook Arango, Medellín, and Miguel Betancourt Rey, Bogotá; Notes on Ecuadorian Legislation for International Judicial Cooperation by Juan Isaac Lovato V., Quito; Mexican Standards in Lawsuits Relating to the Civility of exhortos or cartas rogatorias by Roberto Molina Pasquel, Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México; Acknowledgment and Execution of Foreign Judgments in Peru by Roberto MacLean, Universidad Nacional Mayor de San Marcos, Lima; and

Latin American Research Review

The Uruguayan Execution of Foreign Judgments and Arbitral Awards by Dante Barrios de Angelis, School of Law of Uruguay, Montevideo.

PAHO Advisory Group Meeting on Pediatric Education—Washington, D.C., June 6–8, 1966 More than 20 participants from medical faculties in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Jamaica, Mexico, the United States, and Venezuela as well as from several United States institutions concerned with pediatrics attended this meeting. Three working papers formed the bases for discussion: Teaching Hospital Services in Relation to Learning Goals in Pediatrics by Nelson K. Ordway, Yale University; The Community Health Service Area as a Pediatric Teaching Facility in Latin America by A. Yankauer and Ramón Villarreal, PAHO; and Training in the Field: Pediatric Continuation Education, University of the West Indies by E. H. Back, University College Hospital of the West Indies. The paper topics represent the three areas selected by PAHO to receive special attention in developing the direction of expanded PAHO assistance to pediatric education.

7th Brazilian Meeting on Anthropology Belém, June 6–10, 1966 Amazonian Archaeology, Ethnology and Linguistics was the theme on which both Brazilian and foreign scholars presented papers. Among the topics on the agenda were Adaptation and Exploration of the Region by Man from the First Witnesses until the Present Day by Betty J. Meggers; Archaeological Prospecting in the Amazon Channel by Peter Paul Hilbert; Distribution and Correlations of the Marajó Phase by Mario F. Simões; Archaeological Problems, Views, and Investigations in Amazônia by Clifford Evans; Anthropological Studies in Amazônia by Eduardo Galvão; Group Structure in the Forest: Tukuna by Roberto Cardoso de Liveira; Tribal Groups in the Rural Area of Rio Branco by Edson Diniz; Indigenous Groups of Tumucumaque by Protásio Frikel; Indigenous Groups of Tocantins by Expedito Armand; Some New Elements for the Study of the Batuques of Belém by Napoleão Figueiredo and Anaíza V. e Silva; The Messianic Movement of the “Canela” by Wm. H. Crocker; Amazon Communities by Charles Wagley; and Linguistic Groups of Amazônia by Aryon Dall’Igna Rodrigues. The Brazilian Association of Anthropology sponsored the meeting under the direction of Eduardo Galvão of Emílio Goeldi Museum in Paraná, which is in the midst of its centennial celebrations.

4th Meeting of Regional Advisory Committee on Health Statistics Washington, D.C., June 6–10, 1966 This Committee meets every two years to advise PAHO in planning and carrying out its program in health statistics. The subject for discussion was Mechanization and Use of Computers in Health Statistics. Members of the committee chosen to attend this meeting because of their specialized knowledge came from Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Guatemala, Mexico, the United States, and Venezuela. For further details on the sessions, write Office of Research Coordination, PAHO, 525 23rd St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.

5th Meeting of PAHO Advisory Committee on Medical Research—Washington, D.C., June 13–17, 1966

Members of the Advisory Committee consist of 15 scientists and educators from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Jamaica, Mexico, Peru, the United States, Uruguay, and Venezuela. Consultant reports on the medical and health-related research program of PAHO and a special session on Life at High Altitudes comprised the meeting. Among the presentations of interest at the session on High Altitudes were Introduction to the Study of Man at Altitudes by Hermann Rahn, State University of New York at Buffalo; Natural Acclimatization to High Altitudes—Review of Concepts by Alberto Hurtado, Facultad de Medicina Cayetano Heredia, Lima; Acquired Acclimatization to High Altitudes by Alexander von Muralt, University of Bern, Switzerland; Acquired Acclimatization to Sea Level by Tulio Velásquez, Universidad de San Marcos, Lima; Population Growth and Fertility at High Altitudes by José Donayre, Facultad de Medicina Cayetano Heredia. Reports of the meeting are available from the Office of Research Coordination, PAHO, 525 23rd St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.

PAHO/WHO Study Group on Epidemiology of Alcoholism San José, June 14–17, 1966

Meeting to discuss the Epidemiology of Alcoholism were eight participants and 15 observers from seven Latin American countries. The presentations they heard were Historical Outline of the Position of Mental Health in Relation to Problems of Alcoholism in Latin America by René González, PAHO; Epidemiological Research on the Problems of Alcohol and Alcoholism by J. Mariátegui, Lima, G. Calderón, México, and Adis Castro, San José; The Treatment and Prevention of Alcoholism by G. Vidal, Buenos Aires, A. Neto, São Paulo, and Irma Morales, San José; and Bases for a Program of Epidemiological and Sociological Investigation of Alcoholism in Latin America by José Horwitz and J. Marconi, Santiago. This study group session was the first of its kind in Latin America. An abstract of the final report will be published in the Boletín of the Oficina Sanitaria Panamericana.

Seminar on Law and Development in Latin America—Ithaca, June 16–18, 1966

Law and Development in Latin America was the topic considered by some 40 law professors, legal practitioners, and government officials. Co-sponsored by the American Society of International Law and the Cornell Law School's international legal studies programs, the meeting was part of CLAY. The conferees evaluated the objectives and methods of teaching Latin American law in U.S. law schools and the question of how those schools can best serve students from Latin America. The participants also considered what U.S. legal education can do to cooperate with programs of economic and institutional development in Latin American countries, and sought to identify the most useful avenues for U.S. lawyers to pursue in the study of Latin America. H. D. L. Merillat, executive vice president of the American Society of International Law, and Robert A. Anthony, director of international studies at the Cornell Law School, were co-directors of the conference. Sessions were chaired by Merillat, Anthony, Rudolf B. Schlesinger, Cornell Law School; John Howard, Ford Foundation; and Michael H. Cardozo, Association of American Law Schools. A summary will be published by the American Society of International Law, 2223 Massachusetts Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008.

Latin American Research Review

Conference of the Americas—Malnutrition as a Factor in Socio-Economic Development—Panama, June 19–25, 1966

One hundred and fifty participants from 16 Latin American countries, the United States, and international agencies attended this AID-sponsored meeting. Among the presentations were Remarks on Country Reports by Leonard G. Wolf, Washington, D.C.; Magnitude of the Problems of Malnutrition in the Preschool Child by Arnold E. Schaefer, Bethesda, Md.; Legislative Activities of the U.S. Congress in the Fight against World Hunger by Graham Purcell, Washington, D.C.; Malnutrition and Development by Luis Bernales Chienda, Lima, Peru; Knowledge Gathering Dust (Objectives of the New U.S. Food for Freedom Bill and its Relation to Latin America) by John W. Johnston for Herbert J. Waters, Washington, D.C.; Collaboration by UNICEF in Nutrition in Latin America by Oscar Vargas-Mendez, UNICEF, New York; Promoting a National Food Policy and Local Production by Moises Behar, Guatemala; Promoting Grass Roots Health and Education Programs by Carlos H. Canales, Managua, Nicaragua; Role of the Private Sector in Latin America by James H. Boren, Washington, D.C.; Presentation of Prototype Educational Material to Latin American Delegates by Dallace E. Marable, Washington, D.C.; and The Use of Communications Media as an Educational Device to Reach the Masses by Sig Michelson, New York. The Final Report may be obtained by writing to Operation Niños, Bureau for Latin America, Agency for International Development, Washington, D.C. 20523.

World Land Reform Conference—Rome, June 20–July 2, 1966 More than 70 countries sent delegations to the meeting for a total of some 250 participants. Of this number more than 40 represented Latin American countries. Three major study groups, which met in smaller, specific sessions throughout the conference, considered: 1) problems of land tenure and structural reforms, including supporting measures; 2) economic and social aspects of land reform; and 3) planning and administrative aspects. A basic background document for the conference was the Fourth Report on Progress in Land Reform, prepared jointly by the UN, FAO, and ILO. Of the papers presented by the United Nations, one pertained specifically to The Role of Peasant Organizations in Land Reform Programs, with Special Reference to Latin American Countries; another prepared for the UN by Thomas F. Carroll was Issues of Financing Agrarian Reform: The Latin American Experience; and one of those submitted by ILO dealt with Gearing Agrarian Reform to Employment Objectives with Particular Reference to Latin America. Among the country papers presented from the Latin American area were Memorandum on Assessment of Agrarian Structure in Haiti; Program of Reform of Agrarian Structure, Including Land Settlement, in Honduras; Basic Outlines of Ecuador's Agrarian Reform Program—1964–1966; Report on Cuba's Agrarian Reform Program—1964–1966; Report on Cuba's Agrarian Reform; The Mexican Land Reform Program; Agrarian Reform in Nicaragua; The Chilean Agrarian Reform; Progress of Agrarian Reform in Perú; and Report on Agrarian Reform in Venezuela. Additional details about the conference may be obtained from FAO, Via delle Terme di Caracalla, Rome, Italy.

Colloquium on Economic Integration of Latin America—Washington, D.C., June 22–24, 1966 Presentations at this Georgetown University Colloquium included the following: Latin American Economic Integration: The Basic Philosophy of the Movement by Felipe Herrera, IDB; Latin American Integration in the Light of Historical Antecedents by Luis Alberto Sánchez, University of San Marcos, Lima; The Economic and Social Aspects of Latin American Integration by Carlos Sanz de Santamaría, CIAP, and Enrique Delgado, Managua, Nicaragua; The Political, Legal, and Institutional Aspects of the Movement for Latin American Integration by Gustavo Lagos, Institute for Latin American Integration, Buenos Aires; The United States and Latin American Economic Integration by Jacob K. Javits, U.S. Senator, Radomiro Tomić, Chilean ambassador to the United States, and William Barlow, Council for Latin America; and Latin American Integration and the Inter-American Re- gional System by Arthur P. Whitaker, Princeton University. Panel discussants also dealt with each speaker's presentation. The Latin American Studies Program at Georgetown University in cooperation with the IDB sponsored the colloquium.

Latin American Research Review

11th Seminar on Acquisition of Latin American Library Materials—New York City, July 7–9, 1966

Librarians, representatives of the booktrade, Latin American area specialists from the United States, Latin America, and Europe attended this meeting at the Columbia University Law School. Booktrade, bibliography, exchange of publications, the organization of Latin American book collections, and the training of personnel for these collections were the primary topics discussed. Dorothy Keller, University of California Library, Berkeley, spoke on Significant Acquisitions of Latin American Materials by U.S. Libraries 1965/66; Carl Deal, University of Illinois Library, gave A Report on Bibliographic Activities, 1965; José Ignacio Bohórquez, Escuela Superior de Administración Pública, Bogotá, presented Lista alfabética de las entidades de la administración pública nacional de Colombia 1821–1966; and Rosa Abella, University of Miami Library, Coral Gables, spoke on Cuban Refugee Organizations and their Publications. Proceedings and reports have been published as preprints and in the Final Report and Working Papers; they are available from the PAU. Marietta Daniels Shepard, Associate Librarian, PAU, was responsible for organizing the sessions.

Inter-American Juridical Committee—Rio de Janeiro, July 16–September 30, 1966

Six participants—Raul Fernandes, Brazil; J. J. Caicedo Castilla, Colombia; L. D. Cruz Ocampo, Chile; F. Gonzalez de la Vega, Mexico; E. Provenzali Heredia, Venezuela; M. A. Espeche Gil, Argentina—attended this meeting. They discussed the Simplification of Migratory and Customhouse Procedures among the Latin American Countries; Juridical Aspects of the Program of the Alliance for Simplification of Migratory and Customhouse Procedures among the Latin ceedings will be published in 1966 by the Legal Department of the OAS.

3rd Latin American Conference on Higher Agricultural Education—Piracicaba, July 17–24, 1966

Sponsored by the government of Brazil and the Latin American Association of Agricultural Colleges, the conference involved deans, professors, and technicians of schools of higher agricultural education, as well as representatives of other institutions and foundations. Participants discussed six topics: planning for higher agricultural education, methodology for higher agricultural education, integration of teaching and research with extension work, university relationships, graduate programs, and higher agricultural education and economic development. Proceedings will be mimeographed and distributed by the Escola Superior de Agricultura "Luiz de Queiroz," Universidade de São Paulo, Piracicaba, Brazil.

1st Latin American Regional Conference of International Geographical Union Mexico, August 3–8, 1966 More than 500 geographers from Latin America, the United States, Europe, and Asia participated in the conference sessions at which some 250 papers were presented. General topics toward which the papers were directed were 1) Geography and the Problems of Population—problems of the population in general, colonization, urban geography; 2) Geography and the Problems of Development; 3) Applied Geography; 4) The Use of the Soil in General and in Latin America; 5) Economic Geography—general and regional, agricultural, industrial and of transportation; 6) Geomorphology; 7) Aerophotointerpretation; 8) Hydrology and Climatology; 9) Cartography; 10) Geographical Methodology; 11) Symposium on the Valley and City of Mexico; 12) Problems of Geography in Latin America; 13) Agricultural Typology; 14) Medical Geography; 15) UNESCO Project for a Consultative Work on Geography Teaching in Latin America; and 16) Geo-Ecology of the Mountainous Regions of the Tropical Americas. The Sociedad Mexicana de Geografía y Estadística organized and financed this regional meeting of the IGU. Additional information may be obtained from Geog. Angel Bassols B., Committee of the IGU Latin American Regional Conference, Sociedad Mexicana de Geografía y Estadística, Justo Sierra 19, México 1, D.F.

7th International Congress on Nutrition Hamburg, August 3–10, 1966 Fifteen hundred scientists from 60 countries attended this triennial convocation of the International Union of Nutritional Sciences. Among these were 47 scientists from Latin America. Under the topic of Nutrition under Various Geographic and Climatic Conditions, the following reports with Latin American significance were presented: Improvement of Nutritional Status by Measures of Education and Training: Experiences in Various Countries by C. Tejada, Guatemala City; Improvement of Nutritional Habits in Central and South America by Means of Education, W. G. Jaffé, Caracas; and Short Reports on the Geographic Peculiarities of Nutrition by M. Auil Arenas, Chile, M. Béhar, Guatemala City, and M. Campagnoli, Buenos Aires.

Seminar on Health Aspects of Urban Housing—Buenos Aires, August 8–13, 1966 This seminar was the first of its kind organized in Latin America, and 25 engineers and executives from several national agencies attended the sessions. Topics of consideration were Population Density and Public Services; Housing and its Relation to Environment; Sanitary Conditions of Housing by Raúl Alvarez Form, University of Buenos Aires; Accident Prevention in Housing by Julio Figueroa, Santiago; Economic Aspects of Public Services and their Relationship to Housing Costs by Oscar Terrevezzi, University of Buenos Aires; and Relationship between Housing Conditions and Mental Health by Guillermo Vidal, Buenos Aires. PAHO and the University of Buenos Aires sponsored the seminar, and the latter institution will publish the proceedings.

International Symposium on Alcohol and Alcoholism—Santiago, August 15–19, 1966 The section of Epidemiology and Prevention of Alcoholism included several presentations of interest to social scientists: Genetic Factors in Alcoholism by R. Cruz-Coke and A. Varela, Universidad de Chile, Santiago; Epidemiology of Alcoholism in Latin America by G. Saavedra and X. Mariátegui, Peru; Role of Alcohol in Casualties and Violence by E. Medina, Chile; Teaching on Alcohol in the School by L. C. Muñoz and I. Parada, Chile; and Organization of Local Services for Alcoholism Control by I. Morales, San José. Of 55 doctors, scientists, psychologists, and sociologists attending this meeting, more than 20 came from institutions in Latin America. PAHO, the International Council on Alcohol and Alcoholism, and the University of Chile were the principal sponsoring agencies for the symposium, which was organized by J. Mardones of Santiago, Chile. The proceedings of the symposium will be published in Spanish by the Centro de Publicaciones Biológicas, Universidad de Chile.

7th International Congress of Prehistoric and Protohistoric Sciences—Prague, August 21–27, 1966 Of the 1400 scholars from 42 countries who attended this international meeting, approximately ten came from Latin American countries. In the section on Prehistory and Protohistory of the Non-European Continents there was a subsection on South America, which included the following presentations: Some Archaeological Problems of the Central-South Zone of Chile by Z. Seguel de Spencer, Universidad de Concepción, Chile; Megalithic Civilization of San Agustín and its Localization in Colombia by M. A. Hoyos, Paris; Sources for the Study of the Chavín Culture in Peru by Julio Espejo-Núñez, Lima; Human Sacrifices in Ancient Peru: Archaeological Remains in the Nevado Pichu Pichu by Eloy Linares Malaga, Universidad Nacional San Agustín, Arequipa; and European Ceramics in America in the 15th–17th Centuries—Its Study and Its Problems by J. M. Cruxent, Caracas. Sponsor of the meeting was the Union Internationale des Sciences Préhistoriques et Protohistoriques and the organizer was Jan Filip, president. Papers and proceedings will be published in 1967–68 by the Archaeological Institute of the Academy of Sciences, Letenská 4, Prague 1, Czechoslovakia.

4th Latin American Congress of Psychiatry and 6th Latin American Congress on Mental Health—Buenos Aires, August 22–29, 1966

The Consejo Interamericano de Asociaciones Psiquiátricas sponsored these two congresses with the Asociación Psiquiátrica de la América Latina and the Asociación Latino Americana Pro Salud Mental serving as the organizing bodies. Program topics at the 4th Latin American Congress of Psychiatry covered the Teaching of Psychological Sciences in the Medical Faculties in Latin America by Carlos Alberto Seguí, Perú; Postgraduate Education by Omar J. Ipar and Jorge García Badaracco, Argentina; The Problem of Psychiatric Epidemiology in Latin America by Vicente Sánchez, Patricio Montalva, and Luis Weinstein, Chile, by Sylvia Bermann, Alberto Bonhour, Fernando Pagés Larraya, and Virginia Prosdocimi, Argentina; The State of Psychiatric Assistance in Argentina by Oscar D'Amato and Héctor Villar, Argentina; State of Preventive Psychiatry in Argentina by Mario A. Sbarbi, Juan F. Mengoni, and Carlos Sisto, Argentina; State of Psychiatric Teaching in Argentina by Gregorio Bermann and Exequias Bringas Núñez, Argentina; and Psycho-Social Aspects of the Family Group in Latin America by Raimundo Macías, Mexico. The single presentation at the August 27–29 Latin American Congress of Mental Health was by Baltazar Caravedo on Attitudes of the Community toward the Problems of Mental Health in Latin America. Representatives from Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, Paraguay, Perú, Uruguay, and Venezuela each gave country reports.

Annual Meeting of Rural Sociological Society—Miami Beach, August 26–29, 1966

Under the general theme of Development and Change, a number of presentations had specific reference to Latin America:

Is There a Crisis of Rising Expectations? A Study of Members of a Mexican Ejido by Quentin Jenkins, Marcial Walker, and Alvin Bertrand, Louisiana State University; Community Development as a Tool for Societal Development by A. Eugene Havens, University of Wisconsin; Mass Movement and Agrarian Reform in Peru—La Convención by W. W. Craig, Jr., North Carolina State University; Design and Application of Rural Sociological Research in Developing Countries: Jamaica, Northern Nigeria, and Ghana by Helen C. Abell, University of Guelph; Community Development Programs in Latin America by T. Lynn Smith, University of Florida; Adoption of Agricultural Technology Among the Quiche Indians of Guatemala by Donald Sibley, Iowa State University; Adoption of New Farm Practices in Mexico Analyzed from an Infrastructural Frame of Reference by Abdo Magdub M., Instituto Nacional de Investigaciones Agrícolas, Mexico; Adoption Behavior and Economic Status in a Rural Colombian Community by Robert Lee Whittenbarger and Eugenio Maffei, University of Wisconsin; and Factors Limiting the

Latin American Research Review

Adoption of Corn-Growing Patterns in Mexico by Delbert T. Myren, Rockefeller Foundation, Mexico.

American Catholic Sociological Society      Sociologists from the ACSS and Miami Beach, August 27–29, 1966      the American Sociological Association as well as a few Canon lawyers and educators attended these sessions on The Church in the World: Focus on Change. Papers presented included the following: Religion as an Integral Element in the Ethnic Impact of Social Change on Catholicism in Latin America by Frances Jerome Woods, Our Lady of the Lake College; The Impact of Social Change on Catholicism in Latin America by Joseph Fitzpatrick, Fordham University; Changing Family Patterns in Brazil, Colombia, and Peru by Donald Barrett, Notre Dame University; and The Influence of Higher Education on the Family and Belief Systems of Catholic Women by Raymond Potvin, Catholic University, and Charles F. Westcoff, Princeton University.

Annual Meeting of Association of      Papers with Latin American import American Geographers—Toronto,      at this meeting were as follows: The Hut and the Milpa: A Meaningful Symbiosis in the Agricultural Economy of Western Guatemala by O. H. Horst, Western Michigan University; Jamaica and Martinique: Contrasting Aspects of Folk Agriculture and Non-Folk Agriculture by R. E. Crist and H. Popenoe, University of Florida; An Observation on the Problem of Ejido Cropland by J. G. Jensen, Oregon State University; Colonization of the Sebol Region in North-Central Guatemala by C. W. Minkel, Michigan State University; and A Regional Analysis of Subsistence Agriculture: A Case Study of El Llano, Aguascalientes, Mexico by B. Lentnek, Ohio State University.

61st Annual Meeting American      Presentations with specifically Sociological Association—Miami Beach,      Latin American content at this August 29–September 1, 1966      disciplinary meeting were as follows: Urban Development and Recent Changes in Rural Stratification: Rio de Janeiro, 1953–62 by A. O. Haller, University of Wisconsin; Educational Aspirations, Modernization and Urban Integration by Guillermo Briones, National University, Bogotá, and F. B. Waisanen, Michigan State University; A Comparative Perspective on Sex Role Identity: A Mayan Revealed Difference Research by Fred L. Strodtbeck, University of Chicago, and Robert Blair, Brigham Young University; Ethnic Endogamy: Mexican-Americans by Frank Mittelbach, Joan Moore, and Ronald McDaniels, University of California, Los Angeles and Riverside. One complete session focused on Comparative Social Systems: Latin America, and included these topics: The Two Great Rural Sociocultural Systems in Latin America: Problems of Stability and Change by T. Lynn Smith, University of Florida; Social Stratification and Social Mobility in a Latin American Industrial Metropolis, Monterrey, Mexico, by Jorge and Elizabeth Balan, Universidad de Nuevo León; Fertility and Mobility in Cross-Cultural Perspective by George C. Myers, Cornell University.

10th Congress of International Federation for Modern Languages and Literature
Strasbourg, August 29–September 3, 1966

Reality in Literature and Language was the focal point of this triennial international congress.

Several presentations touched upon Latin American topics. Among them were Hispanic American Poetic Realism by Teresa Alzola, Madrid; The Social Reality and Poetic Creation in "Martín Fierro" by Jorge Alberto Díaz Vélez, Buenos Aires; Manuel Antônio de Almeida and the Debut of Realism in Brazil by Alan Carey Taylor, London; *Reality and Deformity in the esperpento of Valle Inclán* by Hugo Cowes, Buenos Aires; Dreams and Reality in the Comprehension and Lack of Comprehension of the United States and Latin America by Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo, Nebraska; and Cultural Exchanges in the Gaucho's Satire of the Portuguese Language by Lothar Hessel, Pôrto Alegre, Brazil.

59th Annual Meeting of Pacific Coast Branch of American Historical Association—Portland,
August 30–September 1, 1966

In the section on The Role of the Caribbean Dictator, Ramón Ruiz, Smith College, discussed Cuba; and Julian Nava, San Fernando Valley State College, discussed

Venezuela. Comments were by Theodore E. Nichols, California State College, Long Beach, and Ernest Thacker, Los Angeles Valley College, respectively.

74th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association—New York, September 2–6, 1966

Among the papers presented at this convention that dealt with Latin America were those by Lorand B. Szalay and Charles Windle of SORO, the American University, Washington, D.C., on The Influence of Language on Verbal Associations, a study using Korean and Colombian student groups; by Joseph Stubbins of Los Angeles State College on Experiences of a Rehabilitation Psychologist in Peru; and by Fred L. Strodtbeck of the University of Chicago on Implementing the Logic of Discovery: The Yucatan Field Station. Millard C. Madsen of the University of California at Los Angeles presented a paper on Cooperative and Competitive Motivation of Children in Three Mexican Cultures.

Latin American Research Review

37th International Congress of Americanists—Mar del Plata, September 3–11, 1966

Despite considerable difficulties which were courageously overcome by the secretariat, the conference was held as originally scheduled. There was a large representation of scholars from Europe, the United States, and the Latin American countries. The Congress was structured around 37 scheduled symposia. Salient aspects of the meeting will be covered in a special report in the Spring 1967 issue of LARR.

4th Encuentro Latinoamericano del Movimiento Familiar Cristiano Caracas, September 4–9, 1966

Family and Council—The Social Mission of the Family was the central topic. Christian Family Movements in Costa Rica, Chile, and Brazil, respectively, were responsible for developing these sub-topics: The Family and Demographic Expansion, The Family and Integral Development, and The Family and the Socio-Political Structure. More than 500 participating couples and 300 priests attended the sessions. All papers, results, and commentaries will be published by the Movimiento Familiar Cristiano de Venezuela. For more information, write the MFC, Apartado de Correos 11329, Caracas.

4th World Congress of Psychiatry Madrid, September 5–11, 1966

Speakers and discussants gave the Latin American perspective in a number of sessions. In the second International Symposium of Psychopathological Art, C. García Pacheco Bahamonde of Lima was one of the speakers; in Medicine and Psychiatry, H. Delgado, Lima; Postgraduate Psychiatric Training, C. A. León, Cali, Colombia, and C. A. Seguí, Lima; Transcultural Psychiatry, J. A. Bustamante, Cuba, and A. Bonhour, Argentina; International Psychiatric Classification, R. de la Fuente, México; Addiction, A. C. Pacheco e Silva, São Paulo, and D. Fernandez Marina, Puerto Rico; Human Values in Psychotherapy, C. A. Seguí, Lima; Development of Mental Health Services in Various Countries, E. Dávila, México; Community Psychiatry, D. Nieto and G. Calderón, Mexico; a symposium on the Actual State of Psychiatric Assistance in Ibero-America and its Perspectives for the Future, organized by M. M. Velasco Suárez, México; and Criminology and Forensic Psychiatry, A. Pacheco e Silva, Brazil, and P. J. Téllez Carrasco, Valencia, Venezuela.

Annual Meeting of American Political Science Association—New York City, September 6–10, 1966

Five presentations had specifically Latin American content: Sociolization to National Identification: Chilean and Peruvian Workers by Daniel Goldrich, University of Oregon; Changing Contexts of Revolution in Latin America by Luigi Einaudi, RAND Corporation; The Catholic Church and Modernization in Chile by Fredrick B. Pike, University of Pennsylvania; and Political Perspectives of Venezuelan Elites: An Illustration of Computer Content Analysis by Frank Bonilla, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

6th International Colloquium on Luso-Brazilian Studies—Cambridge, Mass., and New York City, September 7–13, 1966

Meeting at Harvard and Columbia Universities and the Hispanic Society of America, participants discussed The Tasks of the Next

Twenty Years. Topics considered in the sessions were linguistics, the social sciences in Brazil, social sciences in Portugal, the history of Brazil, juridical order, history of the sciences, literature, teaching of the Portuguese language to foreigners, fine arts, the history of Portugal, and instruments of research and culture, education. Comprising the organizing committee were Theodore S. Beardsley, Hispanic Society of America; Ernesto G. Da Cal, Queens College; Lewis Hanke, Columbia University; Francis M. Rogers, Harvard University; Thomas E. Skidmore, Harvard University; Carleton Sprague Smith, New York University; and Charles Wagley, Columbia University. The University of Minnesota Press will publish the proceedings.

Symposium on Theory and Practice of Political Development—Airlie Farms, September 12–16, 1966

This Brookings Institution symposium in Virginia examined both the operational programs and the literature directed toward political development for reciprocal relevance and usefulness. Representatives from U.S. government and international agencies, universities and research institutes, private action groups, and foundations were among those in attendance. All conference themes had Latin American relevance, and primary geographic emphasis was on Latin America. Among the paper titles were the following: Rural Society and Political Development by Richard Adams, University of Texas; Intellectuals and Political Development by Frank Bonilla, MIT; Education and Political Development by Kalman Silvert, Dartmouth; Political Leadership, Parties, and Processes by Merle Kling, Washington University; The Military and Political Development by Luigi Einaudi, RAND Corporation; Politics and Economic and Social Development by Harvey Perloff, Resources for the Future. Papers from the meeting will be published in the spring of 1967 by the Brookings Institution in Washington, D.C.

1st National Colloquium on Oral History Lake Arrowhead, September 25–28, 1966

One presentation dealt with Latin America at this colloquium attended by 11 persons involved in oral history at institutions across the United States. Oscar Lewis, University of Illinois, discussed Various Techniques in Oral History, using his experiences with it while writing his book, The Children of Sanchez. He also played some of the tape recordings made in the course of his research. This was the first conference of national scope concerned with the various applications and techniques of oral history. James V. Mink, chairman of the oral history program, department of special collections, UCLA Library, was responsible for organizing the colloquium.

Latin American Research Review

Conference in Observance of 4th Centennial of Death of Fray Bartolome de las Casas—Dubuque, September 29—October 1, 1966

The Significance of Las Casas for Today's World was the theme discussed by scholars and statesmen from the United States and abroad. Among the presentations were Las Casas Today by Lewis Hanke, Columbia University; Las Casas and the "New Laws" by Sister Marie George, St. Dominic College; Las Casas' Contributions to Anthropology by Francis Xavier Grollig, Loyola University; Las Casas and the Indian Question by José Romero, River Forest, Ill.; Las Casas and the Negro by Robert Brady, Loras College; Las Casas as Agrarian Reformer by A. Richard Arena, Hartwick College; Successors to Las Casas—His Influence on His Times by Stafford Poole, Parrville, Mo.; Las Casas and a Philosophy of History by Sister Maria Regina, Caldwell College; Las Casas and the "Just War" by Gerard C. Flynn, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee; Juridical Contributions of the Las Casas-Vitoria Team by Edward J. Schuster, Loras College; and Las Casas and the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights by Don Agustín Yáñez, Mexican Minister of Education. Papers and proceedings will be published shortly after the conference by the Aquinas Institute of Theology, Dubuque, the sponsoring agency.

4th International Congress of History of America—Buenos Aires, October 5–12, 1966

More than 135 persons and institutions from Canada, England, France, Germany, Spain, Sweden, the United States, and 14 Latin American countries, in addition to some 112 historians and 52 institutions in Argentina accepted the invitation to attend this congress. La Emancipación was the central theme with four major sections and their sub-sections comprising the program. The breakdown was as follows: 1) Political History—precursors of independence, propelling ideologies, revolutionary movements, declarations of independence, signs of the emancipation; 2) Military and Naval History—military organization of the revolutionary movements, independence campaigns, military promoters of emancipation, military cooperation among the American nations; 3) Social History—the religious situation and spiritual life in the epoch of emancipation, revolutionary propaganda, transformations of the law, the institutions and the constitutional process, ethnic and social groups and their modifications, the economic factor in the struggle for emancipation; 4) History of International Relations—European politics in the epoch of emancipation, the attitude of the European nations and of the United States toward the revolutionary movement, Spain and Portugal confronting the separation of their dominions, reciprocal collaboration of the Latin American nations, formation of the Latin American nations and the recognition of their independence. The Academia Nacional de Historia de Argentina through its Comisión Académica convened the congress.

22nd General Assembly of Inter-American Press Association—Lima, October 21–28, 1966 Members of the IAPA and observers from the Americas attended this meeting to discuss freedom of the press in the Americas, technical matters, flow of news, and scholarships. The meeting was addressed by David Rockefeller, chairman of the board of the Council for Latin America and president of Chase Manhattan Bank, and there was a meeting of the IAPA Technical Center dealing with matters of interest to editors and publishers. The Scholarship Fund awarded scholarships to U.S. and Canadian newspapermen and students for a year of study in Latin America. Full proceedings will be published in book form by the IAPA several months after the meeting. For additional information, contact Carlos A. Jimenez, Manager, IAPA, 667 Madison Ave., Suite 704, New York, N.Y. 10021.

WCOTP Conference on Status of Teaching Profession in Americas—Bogotá, October 24–29, 1966 The World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession sponsored this meeting on the Status of the Teaching Profession in the Americas. Representatives of teachers' organizations in North, South, and Central America met to discuss the significance and importance of teacher status, and the role of teachers' organizations in the improvement of socio-economic and professional status. It was the first conference on the status of teachers in the Americas. José Joaquín Rivera, director, WCOTP Office for Seminars in the Americas, was responsible for organizing the meeting.

Meetings of Regional Associations of Latin American Studies

Monthly Meetings of Inter-American Council—Washington, D.C., March 10, April 6, May 10, 1966 At the March 10 meeting of the Inter-American Council, Richard P. Schaedel, managing editor of the Latin American Research Review, spoke on the history, composition, and future of the LARR, and on the movement toward a national association of Latin Americanists. Robert C. Cook, president of the Population Reference Bureau, Inc., spoke at the April meeting on the functions and facilities of the Bureau as they relate to the special interests and needs of Latin Americanists in the Washington, D.C., area who are teaching, consulting, and doing research on Latin America. At its final meeting of the academic year on May 10, members of the Council heard Clifton Kroeber of Occidental College report on the current activities and programs of the Pacific Coast Council on Latin American Studies.

Latin American Research Review

The Inter-American Council also elected its new executive committee for 1966–67 at the May meeting: John Plank, Brookings Institution, president; Dorothy Dillon, USIA, vice president; Joan Snyder, Howard University, secretary; Earl J. Pariseau, Hispanic Foundation, treasurer; Howard Cline, Hispanic Foundation, representative to other organizations. In June 1966, the first issue of the Inter-American Council Newsletter appeared under the editorship of Janice Hopper. The permanent address for all communications with the Council is Room 505, The Brookings Institution, 1775 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Meeting of Midwest Council of Association for Latin American Studies
East Lansing, October 20–21, 1966

Michigan State University is to host this fall convocation. Details about the program may be obtained from Garland P. Wood, program chairman, who is director of the Latin American Studies Center at Michigan State University. William V. D'Antonio, University of Notre Dame, is the current president of the MCALAS. Other officers are Oscar Horst, Western Michigan University, first vice president, and Mary Jo Read, Eastern Illinois University, secretary-treasurer. During 1966–67 the MCALAS Newsletter, which is published from two to three times a year, is under the direction of Robert L. Gold, department of history, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale 62901. Robert J. Knowlton of Wisconsin State University, the newsletter editor, is on leave for the academic year.

Meeting of Pacific Coast Council on Latin American Studies—Northridge,
October 20–22, 1966

The theme of the Twelfth Annual Meeting of the Council is The State of Latin American Studies in the U.S. Julian Nava, Department of History, San Fernando Valley State College, Northridge, California, organized the meeting. The 18 California State Colleges (enrollment total, 150,000) are establishing an Inter-America Institute at this meeting.

PCCLAS officers are Matt Meier, president; Julian Nava, 1966–67 president; J. Granville Jensen, Oregon State University, secretary-treasurer; and Porfirio Sánchez, California State College at Los Angeles, membership chairman. All newsletter items and other inter-regional contacts with PCCLAS may be made by writing Martin H. Sable, Editor, PCCLAS Newsletter, 4161½ North Maple Drive, Beverly Hills, California 90212.

14th Annual Conference of South Eastern Conference of Latin American Studies Spring 1967 Program chairman for the 1967 meeting is Eugene Huck, department of history, West Georgia College, Carrollton. Alfred B.

Thomas of the University of Alabama is the president of SECOLAS, and Jane de Grummond, Louisiana State University, 1966–67 president. The South Eastern Latin Americanist is the Conference's quarterly newsletter, edited by Felicity Trueblood, 450 Main Library, University of Florida, Gainesville 32603.

Meeting of Rocky Mountain Council for Latin American Studies—Lubbock, April 1967 Contact Raymond Mack, president-elect of RMCLAS, at the department of government, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, for details about the 1967 meeting. The 1965–66 officers of the RMCLAS were John Haddox, Texas Western College, president; Raymond Mack, first vice president; Edwin Lieuwin, University of New Mexico, second vice president; and C. E. Kelsey, Jr., Texas Western College, secretary-treasurer.

Future Meetings

9th Convención de la Unión Panamericana de Asociaciones de Ingenieros
Date: October 23–29, 1966
Location: Mexico City
Write Meeting Coordinator, Luis Enrique Bracamontes, Platero No. 7–102, México, D.F., México, for information.

Inter-Regional Seminar on Planning in Relation to Urbanization
Date: October 24–November 7, 1966
Location: Pittsburgh, Pa.
This seminar will concern problems of urban growth and peri-urban settlement in developing countries. The participants are governmental nominees. The United Nations in collaboration with the U. S. government will sponsor the meeting. Contact Kurt Jansson, Assistant Director, Bureau of Social Affairs, United Nations, New York.

7th Pan American Pediatrics Congress
Date: October 29–November 3, 1966
Location: Mexico
This is also the 1st Latin American Pediatrics Congress and the 11th Mexican Pediatrics Congress.

5th Consultative Assembly of Latin American Faculty of Social Sciences/Central Treaty Organization
Date: November 1966
Location: Paris, France
Write UNESCO, Pl. de Fontenoy, Paris 7e, France.

6th Congreso Interamericano de Planificación
Date: November 6–12, 1966
Location: Caracas, Venezuela
The main themes of the congress will be developed by the presentations of Victor Urquidí, Mexico; Raúl Prebisch, Chile; Celso Furtado, Brazil; Orlando Fals Borda, Colombia; Gino Germani, Argentina; Enrique Tejera Paris, Venezuela; and Helio Jaguaribe, Brazil. Write Secretaría General Ejecutiva, Residencias Santiago de León, 3er. Piso, Esquina el Recreo-Sabana Grande, Apartado 10.861, Caracas.

Eastern Regional Meeting of Comparative Education Society
Date: November 9–10, 1966
Location: New York City
Write Ursula K. Springer, Brooklyn College of CUNY, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11210.

Latin American Research Review

Annual Meeting of Southern Historical Association

Date: November 10–12, 1966

Location: Memphis, Tenn.

Write Prof. Bennett C. Wall, Secretary-Treasurer, SHA, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

38th Annual Meeting of Southern Political Science Association

Date: November 10–12, 1966

Location: Gatlinburg, Tenn.

For program information, write Donald Strong, University of Alabama, University, Ala.

Annual Meeting of Southern Economic Association

Date: November 11–12, 1966

Location: Atlanta, Ga.

Contact Prof. Werner Hochwald, University of St. Louis, 221 North Grand Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63103.

Meeting of Association for Comparative Economics

Date: November 12, 1966

Location: Atlanta, Ga.

Write Paul E. Koefod, Dept. of Economics, University of Florida, Gainesville 32603.

11th Meeting of Inter-American Congress of Municipalities and 5th Inter-American University Seminar on Municipal Affairs

Date: November 13–19, 1966

Location: Caracas, Venezuela

Contact Carlos M. Morán, General Coordinator, Consejo Municipal de Caracas, Comisión Organizadora de la XI Reunión del Congreso Interamericano de Municipios, Apartado 2029, Caracas.

65th Annual Meeting of American Anthropological Association

Date: November 17–20, 1966

Location: Pittsburgh, Pa.

Write Alexander Spoehr and Arthur Tuden, Dept. of Anthropology, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh 15213.

Latin American Association for Study of Human Reproduction

Date: November 21–23, 1966

Location: Santiago, Chile

9th Assembly of Center for Latin American Monetary Studies

Date: November 21–25, 1966

Location: Buenos Aires, Argentina

Contact Javier Márquez, Director, Centro de

Estudios Monetarios Latinoamericanos, Durango No. 54, México 7, D.F.

3rd Ibero-Luso-Filipino-American Congress of Municipalities

Date: November 22–25, 1966

Location: Brasilia, Brazil

Write Osmar Cunha, President, Brazilian Municipal Association, Avenida Almirante Barroso 2, 3º andar, Rio de Janeiro.

Annual Meeting of National Council for Social Studies

Date: November 24–27, 1966

Location: Cleveland, O.

Write National Council for the Social Studies, 1201 Sixteenth St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Conferencia Regional Latinoamericana de Educación del Adulto

Date: November 27–December 3, 1966

Location: Lima and Cuzco, Perú

Contact Dr. Augusto Tamayo Vargas, Comisión Organizadora, Decano de la Facultad de Letras y Ciencias Humanas de la Universidad de San Marcos, Avenida Nicolás de Piérola 1222, Parque Universitario, Lima.

2nd Congress of International Federation of Bolivarian Societies

Date: December 1966

Location: Bogotá, Colombia

Write Coronel Alberto Lozano Cleves, Presidente, Sociedad Bolivariana de Colombia, Apartado 1043, Bogotá.

17th Annual Conference on Caribbean

Date: December 1–3, 1966

Location: Gainesville, Fla.

Contact Center for Latin American Studies, University of Florida, Gainesville 32603.

1st International Seminar for Study of Maya Script

Date: December 4–10, 1966

Location: Mérida, Yucatán, México

Write Comisión Organizadora del Ier Seminario Internacional para el Estudio de la Escritura Maya a/c Seminario de Cultura Maya, Ciudad Universitaria, México 20, D.F.

8th Latin American Congress on Sociology

Date: December 5–, 1966

Location: San Salvador, El Salvador

Write Dr. José Humberto Velásquez, Secretario de la Asociación Salvadoreña de Sociología, Apartado Postal 1490, San Salvador, El Salvador.

CALENDAR OF MEETINGS

UNESCO-ECLA Meeting on Investment in Human Resources

Date: December 5–13, 1966

Location: Santiago, Chile

9th FAO Regional Conference for Latin America

Date: December 5–17, 1966

Location: Punta del Este, Uruguay

Write Office of the Director General, International Agency Liaison Branch, FAO, Via delle Terme di Caracalla, Rome, Italy.

Annual Meeting of American Association for Advancement of Science

Date: December 26–31, 1966

Location: Washington, D.C.

Contact Dr. Raymond Taylor, AAAS, 1515 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Modern Language Association of America Annual Meeting

Date: December 27–29, 1966

Location: New York City

Write Mrs. Annabelle Quick, Convention Manager, MLA, 4 Washington Place, New York, N.Y. 10003. The Hispanic Area Studies Conference will be held in conjunction with the MLA meeting. For information, write Dr. Luis Leal, Dept. of Spanish, Italian and Portuguese, University of Illinois, Urbana.

79th Annual Meeting American Economic Association

Date: December 27–30, 1966

Location: San Francisco, Cal.

Address inquiries to Secretary, American Economic Association, 629 Noyes Street, Evanston, Ill. 60201.

48th Meeting of American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese

Date: December 28–30, 1966

Location: New York City

Contact Eugene Savaiano, Secretary-Treasurer of the AATSP, Wichita State University, Wichita, Kans. 67208.

81st Annual Meeting of American Historical Association

Date: December 28–30, 1966

Location: New York City

Write American Historical Association, 400 A Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003.

41st Annual Meeting of Linguistic Society of America

Date: December 29–30, 1966

Location: New York City

Contact Archibald A. Hill, Secretary-Treasurer, Linguistic Society of America, Box 8120, University Station, Austin, Tex. 78712.

13th Congress of Ibero-American Literature

Date: January 18–21, 1967

Location: Los Angeles, California

This session, the first of two to be held in 1967, has as its theme Poetry and Culture in Ibero-America, and has been timed to coincide with the centenary of the birth of Rubén Darío. Write Aníbal Sánchez-Reulet, UCLA, President of Mesa Directiva, Instituto Inter-nacional de Literatura Iberoamericana.

National Conference of Catholic Inter-American Cooperation Program

Date: January 26–28, 1967

Location: Boston, Mass.

Contact Office of the Organizing Secretary, Cosgrove Building, Davenport, Iowa 52801.

Louisiana State University Colloquium on Modernization of Brazil

Date: February 23–25, 1967

Location: Baton Rouge, La.

Write Eric N. Baklanoff, Director, Latin American Studies Institute, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge 70803.

21st Annual Meeting of Western Political Science Association

Date: March 16–18, 1967

Location: Tucson, Arizona

Write Robert L. Morlan, Dept. of Government, University of Redlands, Redlands, Calif. 92373.

Southwestern Social Science Association

Date: March 23–25, 1967

Location: Dallas, Texas

Write Anthony S. Lis, Dept. of Business Communication, University of Oklahoma, Norman 73069.

Daedalus Conference on Latin America

Date: April 1967

Location: Viña del Mar, Chile

Write Mrs. Nancy W. Williamson, Editorial Assistant, Daedalus, 7 Linden Street, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. 02138.

Plenary Assembly of International Committee for Social Sciences Documentation

Date: April 1967

Location: The Netherlands

Write the Committee at 27, rue Saint-Guil-laume, Paris 7e, France.

Meeting of American Academy of Political and Social Science

Latin American Research Review

Date: April 7–8, 1967

Location: Philadelphia, Pa.

Write The American Academy of Political and Social Science, 3937 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19104. The theme is Why the Communist and Western World are Fragmentizing.

Meeting of Eastern Sociological Society

Date: April 7–9, 1966

Location: New York City

Write I. P. Gellman, Secretary, Eastern Sociological Society, Dept. of Sociology and Anthropology, Washington Square College, New York University, New York, N.Y. 10003.

8th International Conference of International Planned Parenthood Federation

Date: April 9–15, 1967

Location: Santiago, Chile

Planned Parenthood—A Duty and a Human Right is the theme. Contact Donald Lubin, Director, IPPF—Western Hemisphere, 52 E. 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Conference on Iberian-American Civilization: The Common Denominators

Date: April 14–15, 1966

Location: Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas

Write Charles R. Ritcheson, Chairman, Dept. of History, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas 75222.

Midwest Sociological Society Meeting

Date: April 20–22, 1967

Location: Des Moines, Iowa

Write William L. Kolb, President, Midwest Sociological Society, Office of the Dean of the College, Beloit College, Beloit, Wisc. 53512.

36th Annual Meeting of American Association of Physical Anthropologists

Date: April 27–29, 1966

Location: Chapel Hill, N.C.

Contact Dr. Francis E. Johnston, Secretary-Treasurer, AAPA, Dept. of Anthropology, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia 19104.

Meeting of Population Association of America

Date: April 28–29, 1966

Location: Cincinnati, O.

Write Anders Lunde, Secretary-Treasurer, PAA, National Center for Health Statistics, Public Health Service, Washington, D.C. 20201.

5th Inter-American Statistical Conference and 5th General Assembly of Inter-American Statistical Institute

Date: 1st half of 1967

Location: Caracas, Venezuela

Write Tulo H. Montenegro, Secretary General, Inter-American Statistical Institute, c/o PAU, Washington, D.C. 20006.

INSTITUTIONAL NEWS

ACM Program of Field Studies in Central America

The Associated Colleges of the Midwest are for the second time sponsoring a program of field studies in Central America for ACM faculty members and students. The two-semester program extends from July 6–December 13, 1966, and from January 11–June 20, 1967, providing research opportunities for faculty and intensive field study for students. San José, Costa Rica, is the central location for the program, which is coordinated by Robert F. Voertman, Grinnell College. ACM member institutions are Beloit, Carleton, Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, Knox, Lawrence, Monmouth, Ripon, and St. Olaf.

UCLA Latin American Center Probes Development

Known as the Project on the Non-Economic Aspects of Development, this new program offers an interdisciplinary approach to development problems in Latin America. Directed by William W. Winnie, Jr., the program was initiated in late 1965 under the joint sponsorship of the PAU, the Peace Corps, and UCLA. The first course offered under the program was part of UCLA's