Exporting American Dreams

Thurgood Marshall's African Journey
MARY L. DUDZIAK

"Dudziak brings vividly to life the important but little known history of Thurgood Marshall's intense involvement with Kenya during its journey toward independence in the 1960s. A powerful and poignant story, beautifully told."—Gary Gerstle, Vanderbilt University and author of American Crucible: Race and Nation in the Twentieth Century

The Common Law of Colonial America

Volume I: The Chesapeake and New England 1607-1660
WILLIAM E. NELSON

"In a rigorous and original analysis, Nelson's The Common Law in Colonial America brings to life the complex and fascinating origins of American law. As Nelson quite brilliantly reveals, the early colonists struggled to make sense of law, religion, sex, crime, and economics in a harsh, challenging and often forbidding New World."—Geoffrey R. Stone, author of Perilous Times: Free Speech in Wartime: From the Sedition Act of 1798 to the War on Terrorism

The Life of Susie Marshall Sharp

ANNA R. HAYES

"I could not put this book down. Susie Marshall Sharp's public life makes for an interesting story of feminism, lawyering, education, and party politics. But what is so rare is to find such a well-documented and totally unexpected story of her personal life to go along with the public record. This book works beautifully as a love story(ies), as a history of the courts and legal politics, and as a biography of the fascinating Susie Marshall Sharp."

Freedom: A Documentary History of Emancipation, 1861-1867

Series 3, Volume 1: Land and Labor, 1865

STEVEN HAHN, STEVEN F. MILLER, SUSAN E. O'DONOVAN, JOHN C. RODRIGUE, AND LESLIE S. ROWLAND, EDITORS

"This volume definitely lives up to the very high standards set by its predecessors. The editors tackle a significant, complex set of issues, explicating them in a lucid, well-argued fashion and displaying a thorough command of the existing and voluminous relevant secondary literature. The quality of both the history and the writing here is impressive."

Beyond the Prison Gates

Punishment and Welfare in Germany, 1850-1933

WARREN ROSENBLUM

Germany today has one of the lowest incarceration rates in the industrialized world, and social welfare principles play an essential role at all levels of the German criminal justice system. Warren Rosenblum examines the roots of this social approach to criminal policy in the reform movements of the Wilhelmine and Weimar periods, when reformers strove to replace state institutions of control and incarceration with private institutions of protective supervision.

The Journal of Legal History

Editor: Dr Neil Jones - University of Cambridge, UK

The Journal of Legal History, founded in 1980, is the only British journal concerned solely with legal history. It publishes articles in English on the sources and development of the common law, both in the British Isles and overseas, on the history of the laws of Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, and on Roman Law and the European legal tradition. There is a section for shorter research notes, review-articles, and a wide-ranging section of reviews of recent literature.

The Medieval Origins of the Legal Profession

Canonists, Civilians, and Courts

James A. Brundage

“The Medieval Origins of the Legal Profession is a major work of original scholarship, the crowning achievement of a long and distinguished career as a historian of the medieval canon law. Brundage has succeeded brilliantly in this first general account of the emergence of canon lawyers as a recognizable professional group.”

The Theory and Practice of Statutory Interpretation

FRANK B. CROSS

In this book, Cross offers the first comprehensive analysis of statutory interpretation and includes extensive empirical evidence of Supreme Court practice. It contains a thorough review of the active disputes over the appropriate approaches to statutory interpretations, namely whether courts should rely exclusively on the text or also examine the legislative history.
