PUBLISH YOUR BOOK WITHOUT A LOT OF MONEY

The American Press is a publisher of general and scholarly books. We publish on a subsidy basis: that is, the author contributes financially toward publication on the first edition. In return, he shares heavily in all proceeds from his book. We grant a high royalty on every copy sold.

The American Press has been founded to fill a great gap in the publishing industry between the legitimate trade houses and the sucker-a-minute vanity companies. We provide a quality publishing service at the lowest prices commensurate with this quality. We edit with care, and design with taste. (Every book is designed, not merely set in type by a printer.) We manufacture with skill; publicize and promote intelligently.

Our imprint is one that is respected by librarians, booksellers, critics, and reviewers. If you have a manuscript, or are working on one, we hope you will choose to write to us about it and give us the opportunity to read it. If it has merit (WE ACCEPT AND REJECT ON GROUNDS OF MERIT ALONE), a realistic publication plan will be thoroughly explored with you—without obligation on your part.
