

People in Political Science

Activities

Elias M. Amor Bravo, associate professor of the University of Valencia, Spain has been elected as a member of the Council of Advisers of the Valencia County Hall for the period 1991-85.

Uday Desai, Osbin Ervin, John Foster, and Keith Snavely, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, and Charles Goodsell, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, presented papers at the "Challenges of Public Administration" research conference in Breganz, Austria, June 3-5, 1991. The conference was co-sponsored by the Land Vorarlberg and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Parris N. Glendening, University of Maryland, College Park, has been elected as president of National Council of Elected County Executives. He has also been appointed to the Board of Governors of America's Clean Water Foundation and reappointed to chair the Intergovernmental Relations Steering Committee of the National Association of Counties.

Parris N. Glendening

Seymour Martin Lipset

Jorge Heine, Centro Latinoamericano de Economía y Política Internacional in Santiago, Chile, was elected president of the Caribbean Studies Association for 1990-91.

Eric B. Herzik, associate professor, department of political science, University of Nevada, Reno will be principal investigator and project manager of a $227,000 Department of Energy research grant analyzing economic development issues linked to the proposed high-level nuclear waste repository.

Seymour Martin Lipset, Virginia E. Hazel and John T. Hazel, Jr., Professor of Public Policy at George Mason University and senior fellow at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University, has been named president-elect of the American Sociological Association. A past president of the American Political Science Association, Lipset will be the first person to head both societies.

Lawrence D. Longley, professor of government at Lawrence University, has been appointed to membership on the Council of the International Political Science Association. Longley will chair three sessions at the IPSA's 15th World Congress in Buenos Aires, July 1992.

Ian Lustick, University of Pennsylvania, has been elected vice president of the Association for Israel Studies.

Gregory Mahler, professor and chair of the department of political science, University of Mississippi, has received a Malone Fellowship from the National Council on U.S.-Arab Relations to participate in a study tour of several nations in the Middle East. He has also been elected president of the Association for Israel Studies.

Albert P. Melone, Roy E. Miller, and Leland Stauber, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, presented papers and participated in discussions at the Bulgarian American Law Days Conference, May 26-June 3, 1991.

Rosemary O'Leary, Maxwell School, Syracuse University, is serving on a

Lawrence D. Longley

National Academy of Sciences Committee studying irrigation-induced ground water problems in the Western United States.

David Pfeiffer, professor of public management at Suffolk University, Boston, was elected president of the Society for Disability Studies at the annual convention in Oakland, June 26-29, 1991.

Administrative Appointments

Nancy G. Bermeo, director of graduate studies, department of politics, Princeton University.

E. Lee Bernick, acting head, department of political science, University of North Carolina-Greensboro.

Hans Binnendijk, director, School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University; formerly International Institute of Strategic Studies in London.

Philip Brenner, chair, department of international politics and foreign policy, school of international service, American University.

Joseph Cooper, provost and vice president for academic affairs, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore; formerly Rice University.

Thomas E. Cronin, McHugh Professor of American Institutions and Leadership at The Colorado College has been appointed acting president, The Colorado College, effective May 1991 through January 1992.

Joseph Cooper

Richard Eichenberg, director, program in international relations, Tufts University.

Charles J. Fox, associate professor and MPA director, department of political science, Texas Tech University, has been appointed interim director of the Center for Public Service, Texas Tech University.

John A. Gardiner, acting associate dean, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, University of Illinois at Chicago.

Donald Hanson, chair, department of political science, University of Utah, effective July 1991.

Robert E. Hawkinson, chair, department of political science, Willamette University.

John Hibbing, chair, department of political science, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Llewellyn D. Howell, chair, department of international studies, American Graduate School of International Management; formerly The American University.

Carol W. Kohfeld, director of the masters in public policy administration program, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Jarol B. Manheim, director, National Center for Communication Studies, The George Washington University; he continues as director, political communication program.

John D. Martz, III, acting head, department of political science, Penn State University; Martz previously headed the department from 1978-1985.

Kenneth Mott, chair, department of political science, Gettysburg College.

David Nice, chair, department of political science, Washington State University.

William Parle, head, department of political science, Oklahoma State University.

Craig A. Rimmerman, chair, department of political science, Hobart and William Smith Colleges, for 1991-92 academic year.

John Gerard Ruggie has been appointed Dean of the School of International & Public Affairs, as well as professor of political science, at Columbia University. He was formerly the director of the University of California's systemwide Institute on Global Conflict and Cooperation and professor of international relations at UC San Diego.

Richard B. Saltman has been appointed associate professor with tenure and director of the Division of Health Policy and Management at Emory University School of Public Health.

Wesley G. Skogan, chair, department of political science, Northwestern University.

Leonard Williams, chair, department of history and political science, Manchester College.

James F. Wolf, director, Center for Public Administration and Policy, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

New Appointments

Emanuel Adler, associate professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison, effective August 1992; formerly Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Gregory Andranovich, assistant professor, joint appointment with the department of political science and cooperative extension, Washington State University. Ph.D. from the University of California, Riverside.

John Gerard Ruggie

People in Political Science

Michael S. Bailey, assistant professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Michael Barnett, associate professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison, effective August 1990; formerly Wellesley College.

Larry M. Bartels, professor of politics and public affairs and Stuart Professor of Communications and Public Affairs, department of politics and Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University; formerly University of Rochester.

Kenneth Bickers, assistant professor, Indiana University, fall 1992; formerly Rice University.

Donald R. Brand, associate professor, Wilkes University; formerly Franklin and Marshall College.

Lisa Brandes, assistant professor of political science, Tufts University; formerly Yale University.

Robert Brown, assistant professor of political science, University of Mississippi.

Cynthia Burack, assistant professor, department of political science, The George Washington University.

Matthew Burbank, assistant professor, department of political science, Washington State University. Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

David Canon, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly Duke University.

Patricia D. Conley, assistant professor of political science, Northwestern University.

Martha Cottam, associate professor with tenure, department of political science, Washington State University; formerly University of Alaska, Fairbanks.

Brian Crisp, instructor, department of politics, Wake Forest University.

R. Craig Curtis, assistant professor, department of political science, Bradley University.

Paul D'Anieri, assistant professor of political science, University of Kansas.

Daniel H. Deudney, assistant professor of political science, University of Pennsylvania; formerly Princeton University.

Robert Devigne, assistant professor of political science, Tufts University; formerly Mellon post-doctoral fellow, Stanford University.

Robert Durant, as professor of government and public administration, University of Baltimore; formerly of the University of Georgia. Durant was also awarded the Schaefer Research Chair in Public Policy in the William Donald Schaefer Center for Public Policy.

Daniel Estrada, assistant professor, joint appointment with the department of political science and comparative American cultures, Washington State University. Ph.D. from California State University, Fullerton.

Evelyn Fink, assistant professor of political science, University of Nebraska-Lincoln; formerly Michigan State University.

Bonnie Fisher, assistant professor of political science, University of Cincinnati; formerly Ohio State University.

Patricia S. Florestano, visiting professor of government and public administration and senior research fellow, William Donald Schaefer Center for Public Policy, University of Baltimore.

Kristina H. Ford, associate professor of political science, University of Mississippi; formerly Public Policy Research Institute, University of Montana.

Carlos A. Forment, assistant professor of politics and sociology, department of politics and department of sociology, Princeton University.

Charles Franklin, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly Washington University.

Kate Frierson, program associate, South and Southeast Asia Program, Social Science Research Council.

Andrew Green, instructor in political science, department of government, Connecticut College.

Lori Gronich, program associate, International Peace and Security Program, Social Science Research Council.

Marvin Harder, professor of political science, department of government, Connecticut College, academic year 1991-1992; formerly Center for Public Affairs, University of Kansas.

Richard Harknett, assistant professor of political science, University of Cincinnati.

Floyd W. Hayes III, associate professor of African-American politics, Purdue University; formerly of San Diego State University.

Rebekah Herrick, assistant professor of political science, Oklahoma State University; formerly University of Nebraska.

Brian Humes, assistant professor of political science, University of Nebraska-Lincoln; formerly of Michigan State University.

Alex R. Hybel, associate professor of political science, department of government, Connecticut College; formerly Pitzer College.

Donald Kettl, professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly Vanderbilt University.

Anne Khademian, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Jonathan S. Krasno, assistant professor of politics, Princeton University.

Marilyn Lashley, assistant professor, department of political science, Washington State University; formerly University of Maryland, College Park.

Nella Lee, assistant professor, department of political science/criminal justice program, Washington State University; formerly Montana State University.

Steven Livingston, assistant professor of political communication, National Center for Communication Studies, The George Washington University; formerly University of Utah.

John B. Londregan, assistant professor of politics and public affairs, department of politics and Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University; formerly Carnegie-Mellon University.

Cecelia Lynch, assistant professor of political science, Northwestern University.

Ian Lustick, professor of political science, University of Pennsylvania; formerly Dartmouth College.

James A. McCann, assistant professor of political science, Purdue University.

Averell Manes, assistant professor, department of political science, Washington State University. Ph.D. from Maxwell School.

Otwin Marenin, associate professor with tenure, department of political science/criminal justice program, Washington State University; formerly University of Alaska, Fairbanks.

Benjamin Marquez, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly University of Utah.

William H. Miller, visiting assistant professor, University of Arkansas.

Nina Moore, instructor, department of political science and Afro-American studies, University of Minnesota.

James S. Morse, instructor of government and politics, Widener University; formerly of Temple University.

William A. Munro, assistant professor of political science, Northwestern University.

Vidya Nadkarni, assistant professor of political science, University of San Diego.

Benson C. Onyeji, assistant professor of political science, Manchester College; formerly Bates College.

Ido Oren, assistant professor, department of political science, University of Minnesota.

Richard L. Pacelle, Jr., assistant professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Leigh Payne, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Wendy Rahn, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly Ohio State University.

Karen Rasler, associate professor, Indiana University; formerly University of California-Riverside.

Adolph L. Reed, professor of political science, Northwestern University; formerly Yale University.

Edwin Roberts, assistant professor of political science, California State University, Long Beach.

Thomas Romer, professor of politics and public affairs, department of politics and Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University; formerly Carnegie-Mellon University.

Robert Rohrschneider, assistant professor, Indiana University; formerly University of Kentucky.

Abdoulaye Saine, assistant professor, joint appointment with the department of political science and comparative American cultures, Washington State University. Ph.D. from the University of Denver.

Michael Schatzberg, professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Susan Sell, assistant professor, department of political science, The George Washington University.

Eduardo Silva, assistant professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Marion Smiley, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly State University of New York-Albany.

Leslie P. Thiele, assistant professor of political science, University of Florida.

Kenneth P. Thomas, assistant professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

William Thompson, professor, Indiana University; and director, Center for the Study of International Relations; formerly University of California-Riverside.

Aili Tripp, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Leonardo Villalon, assistant professor of political science, University of Kansas.

Kent Worcester, program associate, Western European Program, Social Science Research Council; formerly Columbia University.

Bernard Yack, associate professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly University of Michigan.

Cheryl D. Young, assistant professor, University of Arkansas.

Promotions

C. Fred Alford, professor, government and politics department, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland.

Mary T. Bailey, associate professor, department of political science, University of Cincinnati.

John J. Carter, Barker-Oakes Distinguished Professor of Social Sciences, Central Methodist College.

Robert Darcy, Regents Professor of Political Science and Statistics, Oklahoma State University.

Delavan Dickson, associate professor, department of political science, University of San Diego.

John J. DiIulio, Jr., professor of politics and public affairs, department of politics and Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University.

James Farr, professor, department of political science, University of Minnesota.

Deborah Gerner, associate professor, department of political science, University of Kansas.

Avery Goldstein, associate professor with tenure, political science, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Barbara Luck Graham, associate professor with tenure, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Mary E. Guy, professor, University of Alabama at Birmingham.

Katy J. Harriger, associate professor, Wake Forest University.

Gordon P. Henderson, associate professor, government and politics, with tenure, Widener University.

Jeffrey Henig, professor, department of political science, The George Washington University.

Christopher C. Joyner, professor, department of political science, The George Washington University.

Ellen Kennedy, associate professor with tenure, political science, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Carol W. Kohfeld, professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Atul Kohli, professor of politics and international affairs, department of politics and Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University.

People in Political Science

Robert Kvavik, professor, department of political science, University of Minnesota.

Michael McGinnis, associate professor, department of political science, Indiana University.

Michael D. Martinez, associate professor, department of political science, University of Florida.

Richard Matthews, professor of government, Lehigh University.

Kevin McGuire, assistant professor, department of political science, University of Minnesota.

Keith Mueller, professor, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Carlos Munoz, Jr., professor of politics and history, department of ethnic studies, University of California, Berkeley.

Charles Noble, professor, California State University, Long Beach.

Philip Schrodtt, professor, department of political science, University of Kansas.

Lana Stein, associate professor with tenure, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Robert Stoker, associate professor, department of political science, The George Washington University.

Franz von Sauer, professor of political science, Oklahoma State University.

Conrad P. Waligorski, professor, department of political science, University of Arkansas.

Mark Warren, associate professor, department of government, Georgetown University.

Clyde Wilcox, associate professor, department of government, Georgetown University.

Retirements

Edwin F. Fedder, professor emeritus, University of Missouri-St. Louis as of January 31, 1991.

Jerry P. Hannon, associate professor, department of political science, Texas Tech University; effective August 31, 1991.

Kenneth F. Johnson, professor emeritus, University of Missouri-St. Louis, as of August 31, 1990.

Carl C. Moses, professor, Wake Forest University.

Benjamin Nimer, professor of political science emeritus, The George Washington University.

Palmer C. Pilcher, professor emeritus, University of Arkansas.

Hans Ridder, professor of political science emeritus, California State University, Long Beach, effective June 1990.

Visiting and Temporary Appointments

Kenneth Bickers, Indiana University, will be a visiting fellow at the LaFollette Institute of the University of Wisconsin for 1991-92.

James B. Christoph, Indiana University, was a visiting fellow at Nuffield College, Oxford University, during the spring of 1991.

Adrian Clark, visiting assistant professor, department of political science, Texas Tech University; formerly Rice University.

Kenneth Cosgrove, visiting assistant professor, department of political science, Texas Tech University; formerly University of Oklahoma.

Donald Culverson, visiting assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison, effective August 1991.

Mark R. Daniels, visiting assistant professor, University of Arkansas.

Brian M. Downing, University of Chicago, visiting assistant professor at Northwestern University, 1991-92.

Charles T. Goodsell, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, will be visiting professor and urban scholar, Maxine Goodman Levin College of Urban Affairs, Cleveland State University.

Joshua Gold, assistant professor, 1991-92, Washington State University; Ph.D. candidate from the University of Oregon.

Paul R. Hagner, lecturer, University College, Dublin, Ireland, for 1991-92. He is on leave from Washington State University.

Mark C. Koenig, visiting assistant professor, Northwestern University, 1991-92.

Geoff Martin, lecturer in political science, 1991-92, Mount Allison University, Sackville, NB, Canada; formerly York University, Toronto.

Peter A. Meyers, visiting assistant professor, Union College.

Charles Mitchell, visiting assistant professor, department of political science, Texas Tech University; formerly University of Northern Iowa.

Syed Rashid Naim, visiting assistant professor, Union College.

Nader Nazemi, assistant professor, Washington State University 1991-92; Ph.D. candidate from the University of Washington.

Grant Reeher, visiting instructor, Union College.

Eric Selbin, assistant professor, department of political science, University of Minnesota, 1991-92.

Mark Somma, visiting assistant professor, department of political science, Texas Tech University; formerly University of Iowa.

Jeanie R. Stanley, director of policy management, Office of the Attorney General, State of Texas; on leave from University of Texas at Tyler until September 1992.

Mary E. Guy

Binnaz Toprak, visiting professor from Bogaczi University, Istanbul, Turkey, department of political science, University of Minnesota, 1991-92.

James Willson-Quayle, visiting assistant professor, department of politics, Wake Forest University; formerly London School of Economics.

Award Recipients

American Bar Association Mini-Grants

Micheal Giles, department of political science, Emory University, will be the project director of "Computer Courseware on the History and Structure of American Courts." The university has received $1,000 from the Commission on College and University Nonprofessional Legal Studies of the American Bar Association to develop a software package on the history of the federal courts and the structure of federal and state courts.

American Council of Learned Societies

The political scientists listed below have received fellowships and grants from the American Council of Learned Societies. A federation of 51 scholarly organizations, the Council is located at 228 East 45th Street, New York, NY 10017-3398. Phone: (212) 697-1505.

Fellowships for Recent Ph.D. Recipients for Research

Aili M. Tripp, assistant professor of political science and women's studies, University of Wisconsin, Madison. The urban informal economy and the state in Tanzania.

Grants-in-Aid for Postdoctoral Research

H. Richard Friman, assistant professor of political science, Marquette University. Between cooperation and conflict: developed countries and the international drug trade.

Michael Goldfield, assistant professor of government, Cornell University. The failure of Operation Dixie and the nature of American politics.

Amal Kavar, associate professor of political science, Utah State University. Palestinian women leaders in the Palestinian movement for self-determination and statehood.

Ralph A. Thaxton, associate professor of politics, Brandeis University. From rebellion to revolution: state making, collective protest and the origins of communist power on the north China plain, 1915-1949.

Chiang Ching-kuo Dissertation Research Fellows (sponsored jointly with Social Science Research Council)

Susan H. Whiting, graduate student, University of Michigan. Power and wealth in the Chinese township: the political economy of local entrepreneurship.

Jian Yuan, graduate student, Yale University. Private property and socialist economy—development of private enterprise in China.

East European Studies (sponsored jointly with Social Science Research Council)

Post-doctoral Research

Jan Kubik, assistant professor of political science, Rutgers University, New Brunswick. Polish local politics in transition: an ethnography of democratization.

A. James McAdams, assistant professor of political science, Princeton University. Inter-German relations of a new type—towards a new Germany.

Research and Writing of Dissertations

Paul Franklin Lytle, Yale University. Symbolic construction of power: revolutionary mobilization in Yugoslavia.

Wales R. Mack, University of California, Berkeley. Rolling back the state and bringing the market back in: prices and property rights in Polish agriculture.

Jason McDonald, University of California, Berkeley. Changing identities: elite economists as politicians in postwar Hungary.

Andrzej W. Tymowski, Yale University. East European social movements in the transition period: a historical/sociological analysis of representative movements.

Advanced Graduate Study and Training for Dissertations

Claire A. Rosenson, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Language training, training in methodological skills, and special coursework preparatory to research in comparative political culture.

Grants for Eastern European Language Training

Lorene Marie Allio, Emory University, for the study of Polish.

Milene K. Novy, Yale University, for the study of Czech.

John Paul Richardson, University of California, San Diego, for the study of Czech.

Karl W. Ryavec, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, for the study of Slovene.

Bunting Institute

Former Vermont governor Madeleine Kunin and political scientists Nancy Hirschmann and Margaret Pearson are among the 45 women from the United States and six foreign countries who have been appointed fellows for 1991-92 at the Mary Ingraham Bunting Institute of Radcliffe College.

Madeleine M. Kunin is the first Radcliffe Distinguished Visitor in Public Policy. She is writing a political memoir.

Nancy J. Hirschmann, assistant professor of political science at Cornell University, is analyzing the place and treatment of women in the work of John Locke.

Margaret Pearson, assistant professor of political science at Dartmouth