Contributors

ROGER CHARLTON teaches in the Department of Social Sciences at Glasgow Caledonian University. After publishing on the African military and the politics of exile, he is now working on the role of the state in the political economy of contemporary Botswana. His next book is a study with Dr Charles Hornsby of the December 1992 general election in Kenya.

YVES FAURÉ works with the Centre d'Etude d'Afrique Noire, Bordeaux, and with ORSTOM, Paris. He has published widely on Africa, most recently La Bataille des entreprises publiques en Côte d'Ivoire (1990).

CHRISTOPHER HART is an Associate of the Centre of African Studies, University of London. From 1966 until he retired in 1992 he worked in the Research Department of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office.

DAVID THROUP teaches in the Department of Politics at Keele University. In 1987 he published The Economic and Social Origins of Mau Mau, 1945–53.

DAVID WILLIAMS took an M.Sc. in politics at the School of Oriental and African Studies, London, and is currently an undergraduate tutor in the Department of Political Studies there.

TOM YOUNG teaches in the Department of Political Studies at the School of Oriental and African Studies, London; he is completing a book on Mozambique.

ADDENDUM TO Vol. 63, No. 1

In Reginald Cline-Cole's article 'Wartime forest energy policy and practice in British West Africa' we inadvertently omitted the following sources of the three figures. Fig. 1, Sierra Leone Forest Authority, 1946; Nigerian Forest Authority, 1947. Fig. 2, Sierra Leone Forest Authority, 1946; Peterson, 1969. Fig. 3, Buckley, 1986, 1989; Nigerian Forest Authority, 1947.
