PUFA Barcelona '96

International Conference on Highly Unsaturated Fatty Acids in Nutrition and Disease Prevention

Venue: The Barcelona Hilton, Barcelona, Spain

Date: 4 - 6 November 1996

Supported by: F. Hoffmann-La Roche Ltd.

This conference will represent the most recent and pertinent research on the role of highly unsaturated fatty acids in human nutrition and disease prevention. Consideration will also be given to biochemical mechanisms and modes of action.

Emphasis will be placed on human observational and intervention studies which evaluate the effects of highly unsaturated fatty acids on infant development, cardiovascular disease, inflammatory diseases, cancer, and diabetes. The possible impact of these findings on public health will also be addressed.
