AFRICA

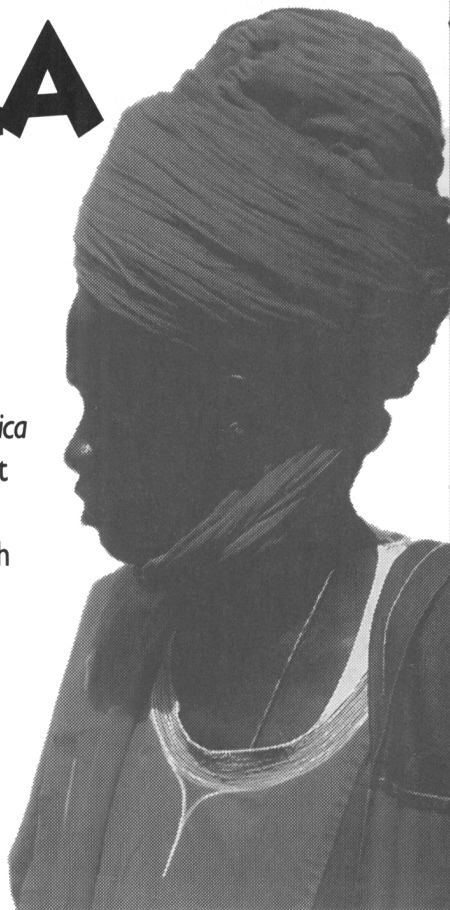

Third Edition

Edited by Phyllis M. Martin and Patrick O'Meara

Since the publication of the first edition of this book in 1977, Africa has established itself as the most popular introductory text for African studies courses in North America. This third edition has been completely revised and brought up to date since the 1986 edition, reflecting changes in African society and politics, and in the scholarship available on this vast and complex continent.

480 pages, 100 b&w photos, 26 maps
paper $17.95 (also available in cloth $39.95)

The King of the World in the Land of the Pygmies

By Joan Mark

“An intelligent biography of a quixotic American who spent his life among the villagers and pygmies of the Ituri Forest in the Belgian Congo. . . . Patrick Tracy Lowell Putnam (1904–1953) first became attracted to Africa during his undergraduate days at Harvard; the spell lasted through 25 years, one world war, three American wives, and a handful of African ones. . . . Mark illuminates the bizarre life of a man whose career stretched from the days of gentleman ethnographers to the eve of independence in colonial Africa.”

Research in African Literatures provides a stimulating forum for the discussion of the oral and written literatures of Africa. In addition, the journal serves the broader needs of the academic community by including reports on recent research, library archival resources, dissertations, and conferences in the field. Each issue includes a lively book review section, and there are frequent illustrations by African artists.

Independence and Crisis

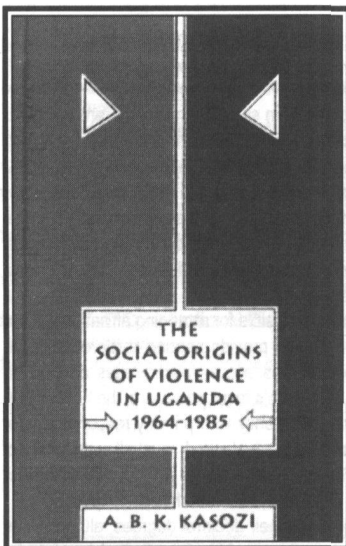

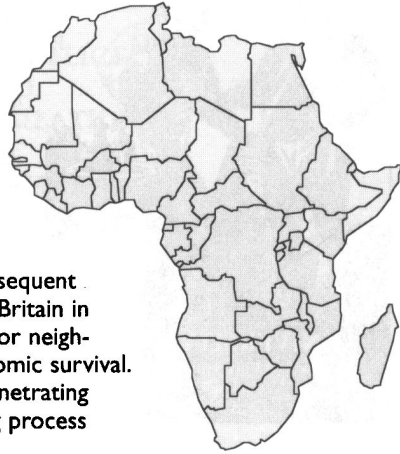

ZAMBIAN CRISIS BEHAVIOUR

Confronting Rhodesia's Unilateral
Declaration of Independence,
1965-1966

DOUGLAS G. ANGLIN

Rhodesia's racially inspired rebellion and subsequent unilateral declaration of independence from Britain in November 1965 had profound implications for neighbouring Zambia's national security and economic survival. Focusing on Rhodesia, this case study is a penetrating analysis of the foreign policy decision-making process under conditions of crisis-induced stress.

THE SOCIAL ORIGINS OF VIOLENCE IN UGANDA, 1964-1985

A. B. K. KASOZI

An examination of the origins of the appallingly high levels of violence in Uganda since independence. This is the first scholarly compilation and comparison of patterns and forms of violence under successive Ugandan regimes, and the first to offer a systematic analysis of violence under the second Obote regime.

DIGGING THROUGH DARKNESS

Chronicles of an Archaeologist

CARMEL SCHRIRE

"Archaeology is cunningly woven with history and anthropology in Carmel Schrire's narrative of discovery. An enthralling read—would that all archaeologists could write as well as this."
—J. M. Coetzee

"Digging Through Darkness is bold, provocative, unique, compelling. . . .

There is nothing quite like this in archaeology."

THE ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION

AFRICAN DISSERTATION INTERNSHIP AWARDS

Doctoral students from sub-Saharan Africa are invited to apply to the Rockefeller Foundation for dissertation research support. The program enables Ph.D. students enrolled in U.S. and Canadian universities to return to Africa for extensive research involving field observation or the use of primary sources available only in Africa. Priority is given to research topics in the fields of agriculture, environment, health, life sciences, population, and schooling.

Applicants are responsible for arranging affiliation with an African institution able to provide needed research support, such as laboratory facilities, access to study sites, and technical advice. The candidate's faculty advisors, the host institution in Africa, and the agency with primary responsibility for financing the student's graduate work must all send letters of endorsement. The maximum award is $20,000. Deadlines for applications are October 1, 1995 and March 1, 1996.

Upon completion of their doctoral degrees, alumni of the ADIA program who return to Africa are invited to apply for Rockefeller Foundation African Science-Based Development Career Awards. Information on these awards is mailed with application materials for the ADIA Program.

For a full description of the competition and the application requirements, please write to: African Dissertation Internship Awards, The Rockefeller Foundation, 420 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY USA 10018-2702.
