EIGHTEENTH CENTURY POETRY AND PROSE

Edited by Louis I. Bredvold, University of Michigan; Alan D. McKillop, The Rice Institute; and Lois Whitney, Russell Sage College

Second Edition. Designed for undergraduate courses, this new anthology offers a representative selection of 18th century literature. It presents the poetry and prose of authors at their best, plus an over-all picture of a fruitful literary period. Selections are complete and unabridged; those from longer works can be read as independent wholes. Texts, notes, biographical introductions, and bibliographies incorporate the findings of recent scholarship. "In quantity as in quality . . . the best period anthology in its field."—Werner W. Beyer, Butler University. 1274 pp.

VICTORIAN PROSE

Edited by Frederick William Roe, University of Wisconsin

A well-rounded survey of the most representative non-fiction writers of the period. Included are selections from the works of Carlyle, Macaulay, Newman, Mill, Darwin, Froude, Ruskin, Arnold, Huxley, Morris, Pater, and Stevenson. Illuminating notes, biographical sketches, and an extensive introduction to the Victorian era add greatly to the understanding and appreciation of the text. "A most excellent contribution to its field . . . am additionally impressed with the fine critical introduction and informative material."—Merl F. Renz, Purdue University. 738 pp.

VICTORIAN POETRY

Edited by E. K. Brown, University of Chicago

This distinguished anthology emphasizes the major poets of the Victorian age—Tennyson, Browning, Arnold, Swinburne, and Dante Gabriel Rossetti. Included are an unusual number of longer works by these authors, as well as significant works by nine other poets. Illuminating introductions and interpretive notes round out the volume. "An excellent book . . ."—Henry Battenhouse, Albion College. 912 pp.

An Introduction to PHILOSOPHY THROUGH LITERATURE

Robert C. Baldwin and James A. S. McPeck
—both University of Connecticut

Melville, Dostoevsky, Rilke, Mann, Eliot and many others. Selections chosen for vividness, clarity, and effectiveness of expression. "A valuable undertaking . . ."—Louise Antz, New York University. 595 pp.
