Tradition and Change

Essays in Honour of Marjorie Chibnall

Edited by DIANA GREENWAY, CHRISTOPHER HOLDSWORTH
and JANE SAYERS

A collection of essays on the interaction of tradition and change in both ecclesiastical and secular spheres. The topics concern monasticism and the history of ideas, the institutions and structures of the Church, feudal society, the Crown and the baronage, and the development of documentary forms and legal principles.

Lay Theology in the Reformation

Popular Pamphleteers in Southwest Germany, 1521-1525

PAUL A. RUSSELL

An examination of the coming of the Protestant Reformation in Germany from the viewpoint of eight common people, who were sufficiently disturbed by the events of 1521-25 to write and publish treatises, letters, dialogues and sermons. These works are among the first documents of lay theology and piety, but they are also vigorous propaganda, demanding a new apostolate for lay people.

The Vatican, the Bishops and Irish Politics

Church and State in Ireland, 1919-1939

DERMOT R. KEOGH

A detailed study of the political relations between church and state in modern Ireland, this book is also an analysis of domestic politics within the context of Anglo-Vatican relations. It draws extensively on unpublished documents and, for the first time, explores with the aid of primary sources the exchanges between bishops, politicians and the Vatican over a twenty-year period.

The Vatican and Italian Fascism, 1929-32

A Study in Conflict

JOHN F. POLLARD

A study of relations between the Vatican and the Fascist regime in Italy in the most troubled and crucial phase of their relationship. It represents the first time that any historian, either in Italy or elsewhere, has carried out a detailed and comprehensive study of the conflicts between the Vatican and Italian Fascism in these years, and as such it challenges a number of previously accepted interpretations.

The Debate on the English Reformation

ROSEMARY O'DAY

In this study, Rosemary O'Day explores the way in which successive generations have found the story of the English Reformation relevant and have, in the process, rediscovered, redefined and rewritten that story. Those who have concerned themselves with this critical phase in English history have included not only professional and amateur historians but also religious leaders, politicians, social reformers and philosophers.
