Acknowledgements

This work was part of the Social Policy in a Cold Climate Project at the Centre for the Analysis of Social Exclusion (CASE) at the London School of Economics. This was funded by the Nuffield Foundation, the Joseph Rowntree Foundation and the Trust for London. The views expressed in this article are those of the authors and not necessarily those of the funders. We would like to thank colleagues at CASE, particularly Howard Glennerster, Ruth Lupton and John Hills, for comments on earlier versions of this work. We are also grateful for the suggestions from two reviewers, which have helped to improve this paper further.
