

The above still from Crossfire shows a figure about to be shot down in the street. It is a recurrent image of the American gangster movie and film noir expressing the concern of these forms with the role of the City in the American imagination.

Crossfire, and an extract from it, can be hired from the BFI Distribution Library, 42/43 Lower Marsh, London SE1; as can a whole range of film material relevant to American Studies – books on the American cinema can be borrowed from the BFI Book Library, 81 Dean Street, London W1V 6AA; and advice on courses in American Cinema, and on the integration of film into courses in American Studies, can be had from the BFI Educational Advisory Service, 62 Dean Street, London W1.

AMERICAN STUDIES BIBLIOGRAPHY

THE INSTITUTE OF UNITED STATES STUDIES at London University publishes on microfiche a regular, comprehensive bibliography of American Studies books. We select from the British National Bibliography and Library of Congress Machine Readable Cataloguing service all books published anywhere in the world which are relevant to the study of the United States. The only categories excluded are Juvenile Literature and Periodicals.

THE BOOKS ARE LISTED FOUR DIFFERENT WAYS:

- * Alphabetically by author
- * Alphabetically by title
- * Alphabetically by subject (using Library of Congress subject headings)
- * Classified according to the Dewey Decimal system

Each section is complete in itself and contains full cataloguing information.

THE BIBLIOGRAPHY IS PUBLISHED ON MICROFICHE and we are therefore able to offer this service at a remarkably low price. The fiche is computer-produced and is therefore of a higher quality and much more easily readable than conventional photo-reductions. The fiche uses the universally accepted reduction ratio of 24 and the standard size of 4 × 6 inches (105 × 148 mm).

FREQUENCY: Non-cumulating lists are produced monthly and posted airmail to overseas subscribers. At the end of the year, the MONTHLY ISSUES are superseded by an ANNUAL CUMULATION.

CHOOSE between the following services:

- * You can order the MONTHLY ISSUES + ANNUAL CUMULATION or the ANNUAL CUMULATION by itself.
- * You can order all four sections (Author, Title, DC classified, Alphabetical subject) or only those sections which suit your needs.

PRICE (excluding packing, postage and V.A.T.):

DANA GARDNER MUNRO
THE UNITED STATES AND THE CARIBBEAN REPUBLICS, 1921—1933

Between 1921 and 1933, the United States moved from a policy of active intervention to a policy of noninterference in the internal political affairs of the Caribbean states. How the shift from the diplomacy of the Taft and Wilson Administrations to the Good Neighbour policy of Franklin Roosevelt occurred is the subject of Dana Gardner Munro's book. The author draws on official records and on his personal experience as a member of the Latin American Division of the United States Department of State to piece together the history of the transition in diplomatic policy.

LIBERAL AMERICA AND THE THIRD WORLD

Political Development Ideas in Foreign Aid and Social Science

"A penetrating and critical analysis of the underlying assumptions of United States aid programmes after World War II."—Perspective

"Professor Packenham, the leading student of U.S. political development policies in the Third World, has written a brilliant analysis of these policies that will both intrigue and disturb those who have been involved in their conception and implementation."—Foreign Service Journal

LYNN ETHERIDGE DAVIS
THE COLD WAR BEGINS

Soviet-American Conflict Over Eastern Europe

A critical issue in the origins of the Cold War – the development of Soviet-American conflict over Eastern Europe from 1941–1945, is the subject of Lynn Etheridge Davis's book. Disagreeing with those writers who argue that conflict arose from the determination of the United States to obtain economic markets in Europe or from imprecise assessments of Soviet security interests, the author describes how the United States made an initial commitment to the Atlantic Charter principles in 1941, then continued to promote the creation of representative governments in Eastern Europe without clearly identifying American interests or foreseeing the consequences of these actions.

ROBERT V. WELLS
THE POPULATION OF THE BRITISH
COLONIES IN AMERICA BEFORE 1776

A Survey of Census Data

"This book is a welcome addition to our limited knowledge of American colonial demography. Particularly important is the author's use of many unpublished and previously unused censuses that greatly add to our understanding of demographic processes in America."

BRITISH ASSOCIATION FOR AMERICAN STUDIES

This Association was founded in 1955 to promote the study of the United States within the United Kingdom. It welcomes applications for membership from people interested in the history, society, government and politics, economics, geography, literature and thought of the United States. It publishes a Newsletter twice yearly, holds an Annual Conference, and provides other services for its members from time to time. Enquiries concerning current subscription rates and applications for membership should be addressed to the Secretary, Mr Alan Graham, Department of Modern History, The Queen's University of Belfast, Belfast, Northern Ireland, BT7 1NN.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to: The Editor, Journal of American Studies, Department of American Studies, The University, Manchester M13 9PL, England.
2. Articles should generally contain about 5000 words. Longer or shorter articles, or articles in two or more parts, may be accepted by arrangement with the Editor.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. Diagrams and maps may be included by arrangement with the Editor.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. Notes intended for the Editor or printer should be on a separate sheet.
8. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
9. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorizes otherwise.
10. Contributors of articles and review articles receive 25 free separates. Extra copies may be ordered according to the scale of charges.
11. Contributors need not be members of the British Association for American Studies. Unsolicited typescripts can only be returned to overseas contributors who send International Reply Coupons (not postage stamps).
12. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the U.S.A.
