Religious Studies

Editors: Peter Byrne, King's College, London
& Keith Ward, Christ Church, Oxford

Religious Studies is a leading international journal for the philosophy of religion. It publishes the best of current work in the subject as well as material in other branches of religious studies (such as methodology of the study of religion, history of religion and sociology of religion).

The journal has no commitment to any specific school of philosophy, or denominational or confessional background. Religious Studies encourages interchange and juxtaposition of views by publishing groups of articles on the same theme. Publication is rapid, facilitating philosophical responses and debate. The journal also carries book reviews of a high standard, many of which are critical essays in their own right.

The Coming of the King James Gospels

Ward S. Allen and Edward C. Jacobs

The Coming of the King James Gospels is a primary publication exploring the handwritten annotations made by the Oxford New Testament Company as members completed Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. A resource for all students of the Bible and the English language, this collation allows a reader to study three texts simultaneously: the original Bishops' Bible, the revisions suggested for the 1602 text, and the final King James version of the Gospels.

How is one to collate a large critical apparatus for an edition of the New Testament: what is the purpose of studying textual history, modern exegesis, New Testament quotations found in patristic authors, what kind of text can be achieved with text critical methods?

Septuagint Quotations in the Context of the Petrine and Pauline Speeches of the Acta Apostolorum

CONTRIBUTIONS TO BIBLICAL EXEGESIS AND THEOLOGY, 12

Interesting observations are made during the analysis of the quotations to be found in these speeches regarding the literature from which Luke quoted, his own editorial and theological changes and his reinterpretation of that literature, the pre-Lukan existence of some quotations, as well as the frequency and distribution of the quotations in Acts. In particular, the function of the quotations in the contexts of the speeches reveal an interesting perception and use of "Scripture" in Acts.
