

The Effect of Watching Movie in Being Get Communication Skills

I. Keser¹, G. Acar¹

¹Psychiatric Nurse, Nursing Faculty, Antalya, Turkey

Introduction

Communication skills is a process which can be improved with various ways at any moment of life, which we get chance to find ourselves and others by sharing our feelings and our thoughts. It is emphasized in our country and in the world that watching movie leaves positive impressions on individuals.

Aim

The aim of this study is to examine the effect of watching movie in being get nursing students' communication skills.

Material/Method

The sample of the research is constituted from 20 students registered to Akdeniz University Antalya School of Health. The data has been obtained from 7-question data collection form the socio-demographic features of the participants and Communication Skills Rating Scale. The Wilcoxon Matched-Pairs Signed-Ranks Test and Mann Whitney U test have been applied to evaluate the data.

Findings

It has been determined that 70% of participants are male, that 45% of them are twenty years old, that 70% of them are the second grade students, that 60% of them live away from their family, but with their friends, and that 85% of them find their own communication skills enough. At the end of the intervention period of five weeks, a statistically significant difference ($p < 0.05$) has been found between pre-test and post-test scores of communication skills of the participants.

Results and Suggests

As a result of the research it has been confirmed that the students' communication skills have changed in a positive way. Watching movie and discussion on the movie are a significantly facilitator factor in teaching and in developing of communication skills.