International Law from Hart Publishing

The International Law of the Sea

Donald R Rothwell and
Tim Stephens

This book provides a fresh explanation of the foundational principles of the law of the sea, a critical overview of the 1982 United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, and an analysis of subsequent developments including the many bilateral, regional and global agreements that supplement the Convention. The book takes as its focus the rules and institutions established by the Convention on the Law of the Sea and places the achievements of the Convention in both historical and contemporary context. All of the main areas of the law of the sea are addressed.

Donald R Rothwell is Professor of International Law at the Australian National University, Canberra. Tim Stephens is Senior Lecturer in Law at the University of Sydney.

The Law Against War

The Prohibition on the Use of Force in Contemporary International Law

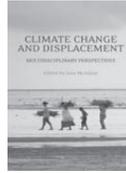

Olivier Corten
Foreword by Bruno Simma

'Corten's book is weighty not just by its size, but above all through the depth and comprehensiveness with which it analyzes the entirety of what the author calls the law against war, the jus contra bellum' Bruno Simma

The Law against War is a translated and updated version of a book published in 2008 in French (Le droit contre la guerre, Pedone). The aim of this book is to study the prohibition of the use of armed force in contemporary positive international law.

Olivier Corten is Professor of Law at the Université Libre de Bruxelles, Belgium.

Climate Change and Displacement

Multidisciplinary Perspectives

Edited by Jane McAdam

This book brings together a variety of disciplinary perspectives on the phenomenon of climate-induced displacement.

It collects in one place a rigorous, holistic analysis of the phenomenon, which can better inform academic understanding and policy development alike. Governments have not been prepared to take a leading role in developing responses to the issue, in large part due to the absence of strong theoretical frameworks from which sound policy can be constructed.

The specialist expertise of the authors in this book means that each chapter identifies key issues that need to be considered in shaping domestic, regional and international responses.

Jane McAdam is Associate Professor in the Law Faculty, University of New South Wales and Research Associate, Refugee Studies Centre, University of Oxford.

New 4th Ed

International Commercial Disputes

Commercial Conflict of Laws in English Courts,

Jonathan Hill and
Adeline Chong

This is the fourth edition of this highly regarded work on the law of international commercial litigation as practised in the English courts. As such it is primarily concerned with how commercial disputes which have connections with more than one country are dealt with by the English courts.

Jonathan Hill is a Professor of Law at the University of Bristol. Adeline Chong is an Assistant Professor in Law at the Singapore Management University.
