

The East African Journal of Peace and Human Rights

The East African Journal of Peace and Human Rights (EAJPHR) is an international, peer-reviewed, bi-annual scholarly publication of the Human Rights and Peace Centre (HURIPEC) of the School of Law, Makerere University. The journal publishes original contributions in the form of articles, comments, case notes, book reviews and reporting on important developments on a wide range of issues relating to law, human rights, peace and conflict. Themes include, but are not limited to, conflict, constitutional and administrative law, freedom of information, gender, law and development, good governance and public international law. The EAJPHR is published in June and December.

Contributions to the EAJPHR should be word processed in Microsoft Word or Corel WordPerfect. They should be typed at the default margin level, with a 1.5 line spacing, and Times New Roman font size 11. Articles should be an average length of 10,000 words (i.e. 20 pages). Comments and case notes should normally be shorter, between 4,000 and 6,000 words (i.e. 8-12 pages). Book reviews should be even shorter, at no more than 3,000 words (i.e. 6 pages). Footnotes should be placed at the bottom of each page and citations should follow A Uniform System of Citation (15th ed), commonly known as the Harvard Blue Book. More detailed information on the Guidelines can be found on our website at www.huripec.mak.ac.ug

The subscription price to the EAJPHR (ISSN: 1021-8858), which includes delivery, is US $35 and US $45 for individuals and institutions respectively, in Africa. Subscription prices for individuals and institutions from the rest of the world are US $50 and US $70 respectively. Any enquiries on the process of subscription should be sent to the HURIPEC Administrator on the following email address: gnakasi@law.mak.ac.ug

NOTES ON STYLE FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The editors ask authors to observe the following notes on style in preparing their submissions. A full style guide is available on request from jal@soas.ac.uk.

General

Articles should be no longer than 12,000 words (including footnotes). Please also provide an abstract of no more than 150 words at the beginning of the article. Use footnotes, rather than endnotes.

Spelling

Use British English, but with the “ize”, not “ise”, suffix.

Capitalization

Please use lower case for professional titles and generic terms such as government, director, minister, common law. The titles of treaties, acts, agreements, declarations, resolutions, conventions, etc should be capitalized and not italicized.

Foreign words and phrases

Truly foreign words and phrases (except proper nouns) should be italicized and followed by a translation in square brackets. Please do not italicize words, phrases and abbreviations generally accepted in the English language.

Abbreviations

Do not use full stops for abbreviations or for initials within names. Article, chapter, section, ordinance, proclamation, paragraph, etc should be in full and in lower case in the text, but abbreviated in footnotes to art, chap, sec, ord, proc, para etc. Abbreviated forms used in the text must be in full in the first instance, followed by the abbreviated form/acronym in brackets. Per cent to be written in full in the text; use % in footnotes.

Punctuation

Punctuation should be “outside” quotation marks (unless the punctuation is clearly part of the quotation) and footnote cues should come after punctuation. Use “smart” double quotation marks, followed by single quotation marks within a quotation. Quotations more than five lines long in the text should be indented.

Numerals and dates

Numbers and ordinals from one to ten inclusive should be spelled out; after that use digits. However, always use digits for footnotes, percentages and references to sections or pages of a document.

Citations

Give all journal and book titles in full and in italics.

Books

Author's initial and surname Title in Italics (volume or edition, year of publication, publisher) at page number.

Chapters in edited volumes

Author's initial and surname “Chapter/article title in lower case” in Editor's initial and surname (ed) Book Title in Italics (year, publisher) page number of beginning of chapter at page number of quote.

Journal articles

Author's initial and surname “Title in lower case” (year) volume/issue Title of Journal in Italics page number of beginning of article at page number of quote.

Newspapers

Author's initial and surname “Title in lower case” (date of publication) Title of Newspaper (location if deemed necessary) at page number.

Unpublished papers (eg conference papers)

Author's initial and surname “Title in lower case” (paper presented at name of conference, place, date) at page number of quote.

Electronic sources

Cite using the phrase “available at: <<http://...>>”, followed by the date last accessed in brackets. Please remove all hyperlinks.

Cases

Cite cases in accordance with the normal practice in the relevant jurisdiction. Case names should be italicized.

Abbreviating and cross-referencing citations

Author's surname Abbreviated Title in Appropriate Format for Book / Article etc, above/below at note XX. Do not use op cit, loc cit, supra, infra to refer to other footnotes. Use “ibid” to refer to an immediately preceding work with the same page number. Use “id” to refer to an immediately preceding author, or immediately preceding work with a different page number.
