

SPECIAL
PUBLICATION:

Canadian Linguistic Association

BINDING IN ROMANCE

Essays in Honour of

Judith McA'Nulty

Edited by

Anne-Marie Di Sciullo and Anne Rochette

CONTENTS/SOMMAIRE

Judith McA'Nulty A'-Binding	Judith McA'Nulty Moving Features of [e]
Anne-Marie Di Sciullo Sur la définition des variables	Anne-Marie Di Sciullo On the Properties of Clitics
Jean-Claude Milner Some Remarks on Principle C	Mireille Tremblay Emphatic Anaphoric Expressions in French and Binding Theory
Judith McA'Nulty Multi-Level Binding	Rosemarie Whitney Stylistic Inversion as Constructional Focus
Denis Bouchard Absorption à la S-structure	Edwin S. Williams The Italian Null Object
Anne Rochette On the Restructuring Classes of Verbs in Romance	Anne-Marie Di Sciullo A Note on Binding and Control in Morphological Objects
Pierre Pica Liage et contiguïté
Philippe Barbaud Le subjonctif et le principe des catégories vides

Please tear here

305 pages; price $25 Canadian for Canadian addresses, $25 US for all other addresses.
Please do not send American cheques or money orders made out in the equivalent of Canadian funds; all American cheques and money orders must be for $25 US.

Canadian Journal of Linguistics
Dept. of Linguistics, Carleton University
Ottawa, Ontario K1S 5B6, Canada

Send _____ copy/copies of BINDING IN ROMANCE to:

Name: _____

Address: _____

A cheque or money order for $25 Canadian (for Canadian addresses) or $25 US (for all other addresses) made out to the Canadian Journal of Linguistics should accompany the order.

Language International

The magazine for the language professions

Edited by Geoffrey Kingscott, Nottingham, UK

Since it was launched in January 1989 Language International has been recognized worldwide as the leading news journal in its field. Language International keeps you informed of what is happening wherever people are working with languages.

The Calendar of Events which appears in each issue of Language International, a cumulative schedule of forthcoming language conferences and activities, is known as the most comprehensive and up-to-date listing available.

Language International also reports on new developments in relevant computer hard- and software, language processing, multilingual document production, machine translation, commercial translation, literary translation, interpreting, lexicography, terminology, and language training for business. New books, journals and software which are of interest to professional linguists are reviewed promptly. Articles in Language International are chosen for their relevance and interest, and some of them have become much-quoted reference sources, such as the ABC directory of machine translation, the list of abbreviations and acronyms used in language work, the current status of individual languages, rules on the translation of names and titles, profiles and interviews with important personalities in the language industries, etc.

Language International is an indispensable specialist journal for the professional linguist of today, and for students, the professional linguists of tomorrow.

Subscriptions for 1991 (6 issues), postage included (airmail)

	Hfl.	UK£	US$
Private*	100,--	30.00	57.00
Companies/Libraries	160,--	47.00	90.00

* Private subscriptions are for personal use only and should be prepaid.
£ prices only valid for UK residents; $ prices only valid for USA residents.
Other currencies accepted according to current exchange rates.

Please send your order to:

John Benjamins Publishing Co. · P.O. Box 75577 · 1070 AN Amsterdam · Netherlands

TWO NEW JOURNALS of special interest to readers of this journal . . .

INTERACTIVE

MULTIMEDIA

ISSN: 0960-0221

Joint European Editors: Gabriel Jacobs, University of Swansea; Graham Chesters, University of Hull, UK.

North American Editor: James Hoekema, Hoekema
Interactive, USA

Quarterly;

Institutional rate: £80 ($160) for four issues

APPLIED COMPUTER

TRANSLATION

ISSN: 0960-0825

European Editor: Tony McEnery, University of Lancaster, UK

North American Editor: Dr Ezra Black, IBM, Yorktown
Heights, New York

Quarterly, starting January 1991.

Institutional rate: £60 ($120) for four issues.

Full details, including low-cost offers for personal subscriptions from:

SIGMA PRESS, JOURNALS DIVISION,
1 SOUTH OAK LANE,

WILMSLOW, CHESHIRE SK9 6AR, UK

Phone: (0625) 531035

Fax: (0625) 536800