

Appreciation

Painting, Poetry
and Prose

LEO STEIN

INTRODUCTION BY
BRENDA WINEAPPLE

"The writing is full of wisdom and subdued humor, and the book should be a stimulus and a guide to an appreciation of the arts."—New Yorker.

This book, originally published in 1947, the year Leo Stein died, includes his reminiscences and estimates of Picasso, Matisse, Cézanne, and Renoir, among others, as well as his considered views on the place of art and literature in everyday life. $10 paper

Genêt

A Biography of Janet
Flanner

BRENDA WINEAPPLE

"Wineapple has written a wonderfully perceptive and moving biography of Janet Flanner. I hated to finish it."—May Sarton.

$14.95 paper

Gertrude Stein Remembered

EDITED BY LINDA SIMON

"[A] highly enjoyable new collection. . . . Stein emerges not just as an innovator and perhaps a genius but as a brave, funny, and hugely likable woman."—New York Times Book Review

A collection of memoirs by twenty people who knew Stein well. The composite portrait that emerges is of a complex, sometimes contradictory, always fascinating woman.

$20 cloth

The Biography of Alice B. Toklas

LINDA SIMON

"It's fitting that Alice B. Toklas . . . should be the subject of a biography. With her acid tongue, shrewd judgment, vitality, and intense loyalty she was a fairly remarkable person in herself."—Publishers Weekly.

$12.95 paper

N

University of Nebraska Press
Lincoln NE
800-755-1105

“A Landmark Publication”

POEMS, POETS, POETRY
An Introduction and Anthology

Helen Vendler, *Harvard University

February 1996/paper/592 pages
$19 net/Instructor's Manual

- new introduction to poetry, including 416 poems, by an internationally renowned critic and teacher
- 9 introductory chapters present an innovative approach to understanding poetry that grows out of a famous course Vendler teaches at Harvard University
- an ample and diverse supplementary anthology of 256 poems by 120 poets
- unusually extensive representation of poets in depth
- 5 unique appendices on prosody, grammar, speech acts, rhetorical devices, and lyric subgenres
- Instructor's Manual prepared by the author

“Helen Vendler's Poems, Poets, Poetry is a landmark publication. Her best chapters remind me of all the pleasure I had when I first learned to read poetry closely. She combines a sense of intellectual excitement and emotional engagement that no general poetry anthology or guide to reading poetry published in the last twenty years can even approximate. This book is the first strong source of hope in many years for those of us who believe that the close reading of poetry is crucial to the cultivation of intricate and supple imaginations. And Vendler's prose is entirely lucid for a general audience while satisfying the critical demands of the most skeptical academic.”

— Charles Altieri, University of California — Berkeley

“This is a brilliant piece of work. There is not, in a word, anywhere a set of chapters talking about poetry and how to read it, how to think about it, how one might feel when reading it, remotely as intelligent, deft, unpretentious, comprehensive, and original as these. Vendler writes about poetry pretty much the way poets write about poetry. More than that, she has been teaching a great range of students, not just poets and would-be poets, for so long that she is able to address the willing learner in a wonderfully jargon-free way that eludes all but the very best poet-critics.”

— David Sofield, Amherst College

“Poems, Poets, Poetry not only matches but surpasses my expectations. It matches them by drawing magisterially on Vendler's extensive knowledge of poetry and her confident ability to expound upon it; it surpasses them in its originality and conceptual daring. Vendler's common-sense organizing categories in each of the nine main chapters are fresh and illuminating, even startling at times, a welcome change from the more traditional approaches. I imagine that every teacher of poetry in the country will want a copy of Poems, Poets, Poetry. I know that I, for one, was inspired as well as often dazzled by this book, and I am grateful to Vendler for turning her talents to the teaching of beginners.”

— Susan Schweik, University of California — Berkeley

Bedford Books of St. Martin's Press
For exam copies, call 1-800-446-8923