THE EDINBURGH MATHEMATICAL SOCIETY

The Edinburgh Mathematical Society was instituted in 1883 for "the promotion and extension of Mathematical Science, Pure and Applied".

Nominations for Ordinary Membership are received at any one Ordinary Meeting and voted upon at the next. Members receive notices of all meetings and may subscribe to the Proceedings at a reduced rate. Further information about membership can be obtained from the Secretary.

The Society's Proceedings, containing papers embodying the results of research that is original in matter or manner, are published in parts. Three parts complete a volume. One volume is issued each year. Series I comprised forty-four volumes published from 1884 to 1926. Series II commenced in 1927.

Papers to be considered for publication should be sent to the Secretary. Manuscripts (2 copies) should be typewritten on A4 paper with double spacing and generous margins. The style and arrangement should conform to current practice in the Proceedings. References, including titles of papers, should be given in the form adopted by Mathematical Reviews, footnotes being avoided if possible. Figures should be separated from the text and lettered, ready for photographic reduction; their intended location should be clearly indicated. Manuscripts which are not suitable for submission to the printer will not be accepted. Authors are advised to retain a copy of any material submitted, as the Society cannot accept responsibility for any loss.

A proof is supplied once. Authors are particularly requested to correct and return the proof promptly. Excessive corrections may be charged to authors. Fifty free offprints, and additional copies at cost, will be supplied if ordered on a form returned with the proof.

The Proceedings are published at the price of £45.00 ($100) for a volume of three parts.

Enquiries regarding purchase of back numbers should be addressed to

TEXTS IN MATHEMATICS AT BARGAIN PRICES

The Spectral Theory of Periodic Differential Equations

By M.S.P. Eastham

The book deals mainly with second-order differential equations in one or more dimensions and covers the basic Floquet theory, the zeros and oscillatory properties of solutions, etc. the relationship of the theory to the general theory of differential operators in Hilbert space, and the methods available which enable a mathematical theory of the periodic Schrödinger equation to be built up.

First published 1973

Analytical Methods of Optimization

By D.F. Lawden

A presentation of the classical theory of the calculus of variations in a form which is most appropriate for application to modern problems of optimizing the behaviour of engineering systems. The emphasis is on methods and principles and these are illustrated by worked problems and sets of exercises.

First published 1975

~~£5.00~~

Price now £1.50

Theory and Application of the Boltzmann Equation

By Carlo Cercignani

The Boltzmann equation forms the basis for the kinetic theory of gases and has proved fruitful for a study of the classical gases Ludwig Boltzmann had in mind and also, properly generalised, of electron transport in nuclear physics, phonon transport in superfluids, and radiative transport in planetary and stellar atmosphere. The text of Carlo Cercignani's book presents a unified approach to the problems arising in these fields.

Introduction to Numerical Analysis

By F. Stummel and K. Hainer.

Edited by Professor W.N. Everitt

A clear, concentrated and well-arranged introduction to the methods and processes of numerical analysis. Many examples are given to illustrate the processes and to serve as problems for a practical mathematics course in computing.

First published 1980

~~£10.00~~

Price now £3.00

NB: The previous selling prices are as shown in the current catalogue and not necessarily those shown on the books themselves. There is no charge for postage.
