Die normative Konstruktion von Gesellschaft

Wo Menschen sich dauerhaft vergesellschaften, binden sie ihr Verhalten an soziale Normierung. Der Normierungszwang ist eine allgemeine sozialanthropologische Bedingung. Aber auch wie Menschen die Leistung sozialer Normierung vollbringen, ist nicht beliebig, sondern offenbar bestimmten Gesetzmäßigkeiten unterworfen, die sich darin kundtun, daß sich Normierungen unter den verschiedensten Bedingungen in den gleichen Formen verfestigen. Das »Gehäuse« menschlichen Zusammenlebens ist gleichsam aus immer gleichen Bausteinen zusammengesetzt.

Ausgehend von einer Analyse der Struktur sozialer Normen werden in diesem Buch Thesen über universale Kennzeichen der normativen Konstruktion von Gesellschaft formuliert, – Kennzeichen, die sich in allen Gesellschaften, die wir kennen, nachweisen lassen.

Sociology in the Netherlands between the two world wars was often criticised for keeping to itself and for generally showing little interest in intellectual discussion with other countries. During the last three decades there has been a dramatic shift, and sociology in the Netherlands has now taken a place in Western sociology equal to that of France, Scandinavia and America. Strongly oriented as it is to present-day problems, Dutch sociology has lately shown an unprecedented desire to take part in international discussion of these problems, and, whenever possible, to make a worthwhile contribution to that discussion. This journal aims to discuss colleagues and other interested people all over the world with a balanced view of developments occurring in the Netherlands and present the results of research which deserves wider international recognition.

Some Recent Articles:

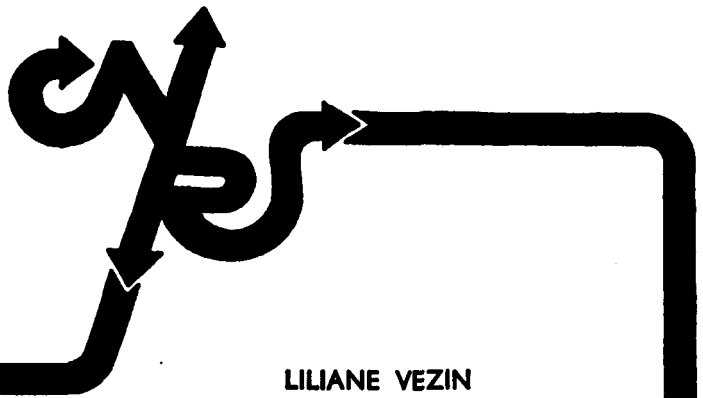

Political Science in the Golden Age – Criticism, History and Theory in Dutch Seventeenth Century Political Thought (H. W. Blom).

Minorities Policy-Making in the Netherlands: South-Moluccans and other Aliens in Comparative Perspective (J. E. Ellemers).
