ARTHUR R. HOWELL's

Important Book on Aesthetic Philosophy

The Meaning and Purpose of Art

OR

The Making of Life

(Original Edition published in 1945 with three reprints)

- From* 'THE TIMES LITERARY SUPPLEMENT.' '... Mr. Howell has had the best sort of experience for writing on art. . . . What he has to say is valuable and penetrating.'
- From* 'THE TIMES EDUCATIONAL SUPPLEMENT.' '... No one appreciates the difficulties of the layman better than Mr. Howell.'
- From* Leon Underwood 'THE STUDIO.' '... I regard the book as a very important one . . .'
- From* Margaret Willy 'JOHN O'LONDON'S WEEKLY.' '... Clear-sighted analysis . . . unprejudiced . . . refreshingly little nonsense . . . exciting and perceptive . . . a flawless definition of the aesthetic outlook . . .'
- From* Sir John Squire 'ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.' '... And I find that most of the solemn modern critics of painting . . . do not know creation from the inside . . . I must say that Mr. Howell is an exception . . . he can produce explanations for even the most recent developments. . . . But he remains a human being with an eye for our mysterious destiny, and an eye for every lovely thing, from the lighted window of the distant inn to a primrose in the shade. . . . He is a humanist in the sense of the Latin poet who wrote "Homo Sum" . . .'
- From* 'PEEBLESHIRE NEWS.' '... Mr. Howell treats the subject philosophically, but his philosophy rests upon a sound basis of theory and practice as Beethoven and Wagner's work did upon Bach . . .'

THE NATURE OF METAPHYSICS

Edited by

D. F. Pears

The essays contained in this book were first broadcast as talks in the Third Programme of the B.B.C. in 1955. Not all the essays try to reach general conclusions about the nature of metaphysics, some examine the ways in which certain metaphysical systems develop out of reflection on a particular subject like science, history or ethics. 12s. 6d.
