Politics and the Churches in Great Britain 1832–1868

---

G. I. T. Machin

---

Religious equality was a pressing question in the period covered by this book. The author examines the demands of the various religious groups, and the attempts to defend the Established Churches. He explores the attitudes of many politicians and clergy and devoted attention to parliamentary disputes, general elections, and the activities of pressure groups. £15

---

God as Spirit

---

The Bampton Lectures 1976

---

G. W. H. Lampe

---

This book sets out to present a Christian understanding of God in terms of the fundamental category of 'God as Spirit'. It shows that such an approach offers an alternative and preferable way of interpreting the biblical revelation as compared with the traditional account in terms of orthodox trinitarian and incarnational theology. £6.50

---

The Coherence of Theism

---

R. G. Swinburne

---

The author investigates what it means, and whether it is coherent, to say that there is a God. He concludes that many, though not all, of the claims about God which religious believers make are coherent and that some important claims are coherent only if the words by which they are expressed are being used in stretched or analogical senses. £9

The Jamaa and the Church

---

A Bantu Catholic Movement in Zaïre

---

Willy de Craemer

---

The Jamaa (Swahili for 'family') is a charismatic, mystically orientated religious movement which developed within the Catholic Church in Zaire in the 1950s and which persists to this day. It has much in common with other indigenous African religious movements, but differs strikingly in that it is an Ecclesia, and its founder-leader and his charismatic lieutenants are Belgian priests. This book is a sociological study of the movement. £8 Oxford Studies in African Affairs

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Contributions and books for review should be sent to the Editor, Professor H. D. Lewis, King's College, Strand, London, WC2R 2LS. Books published in America should be sent to Professor J. E. Smith, Department of Philosophy, Yale University, New Haven.
2. Articles submitted to the journal should in general be between 5,000 and 10,000 words long, though articles outside these limits will be acceptable if there is some good reason for their exceptional length or brevity. Articles in two or more parts may occasionally be accepted provided each part is independently intelligible. They should normally be in English.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. The typescript should be prepared to accord as closely as possible with the typographical conventions of the journal.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
8. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorises otherwise.
9. All contributors of articles receive 50 free offprints. Reviewers will receive five or more offprints of their reviews.
10. If rejected manuscripts are to be returned, stamps or international coupons should be sent to cover postage, but it would normally be simpler just to retain a copy.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
