OXFORD PAPERBACKS

Documentary Expression and Thirties America

William Stott, University of Texas. □ "William Stott has got hold of a real subject and has studied it in breadth and some depth....He is generally perceptive and fresh in his treatments....The book is going to be an essential one for students, and it doesn't hurt that it is well written."—Malcolm Cowley

1973 448 pp.; 64 pp. halftones A Galaxy Book (1976) $4.95

Frontier Violence

Another Look

W. Eugene Hollon, University of Toledo. □ "Lucidly written, provocative, and well-balanced. Hollon seeks neither to condemn nor to glorify our past. Instead, he has produced a carefully reasoned synthesis that may well be the best introduction to the topic."—Southwestern Historical Quarterly

1974 288 pp.; 22 halftones A Galaxy Book (1976) $3.50

The Mathers

Three Generations of Puritan Intellectuals, 1596-1728

Robert Middlekauff, University of California. □ "Middlekauff's superb intellectual history of three generations of Mathers reverses the judgment of two and a half centuries and explores Cotton Mather's intellectual achievements as never before....This work is, more than most histories, a work of original, personal, creative scholarship."—William and Mary Quarterly

1971 464 pp. A Galaxy Book (1976) $4.50

American Popular Song

The Great Innovators, 1900-1950

Alec Wilder; edited and with an introduction by James T. Maher. □ "An invaluable and pioneering book...[Wilder] examines with wit and grace some eight hundred of the three hundred thousand American songs published in the first half of the century...A fair, positive, erudite celebration of American songwriting."—The New Yorker

1972 576 pp.; 750 musical examples A Galaxy Book (1975) $6.95

The Segmented Society

An Introduction to the Meaning of America

Robert H. Wiebe, Northwestern University. □ By explaining how America's strength and tensions both emerged from segmentation within American society, Professor Wiebe provides the reader with a new perspective for viewing twentieth-century American life.

Abroad in America: Visitors to the New Nation 1776-1914

Produced by the National Portrait Gallery in association with the Smithsonian Institution, this lavish book is being published in celebration of the Bicentenary. Marc Pachter, the editor, has brought together a collection of 29 essays by leading scholars and writers from around the world, including nine from this country, to present a vivid picture of America during its formative period as a nation.

Each essay illustrates the views of a distinguished visitor to the new nation—among them such well-known figures as Charles Dickens, H G Wells, Puccini, Dvorak and Sholom Aleichem—and there are photographs and quotations galore.

NEW BOOKS

THE IRISH DIASPORA IN AMERICA

Lawrence J. McCaffrey

The Irish were the first unwanted aliens in the United States, and the first targets of hatred and violence. As pioneers of the American ghetto they were more than just passive victims of nativism: in their effort to overcome discrimination and to achieve success in the new land, the Irish cultivated ethnic pride, fostered self-sufficiency, and exploited political talents to achieve power. The author of this thoughtful book believes that the Irish of the American diaspora remains part of the totality of Irish history. In addition to telling the story of the Irish in the new land, he traces the history of Ireland from early times, through the great exodus in the mid-nineteenth century, and into the twentieth.

AMERICAN INDIAN POLICY IN THE JACKSONIAN ERA

Ronald N. Satz

This is a "comprehensive one-volume study that brings American Indian policy during the critical years of 1829-49 'into better focus.' Using an impressive variety of sources and employing a straightforward approach which concentrates on the political-administrative aspects of policy formulation and implementation by the federal government, (Satz) has established an authoritative outline which will be of interest to both lay and professional historians."—History Reviews of New Books.

AMERICAN FOLKLIFE

Don Yoder, Editor

This book is the product of a relatively recent development in scholarship; folklife studies examine the entire context of everyday life in past and present. It includes every aspect of traditional life, from regional architecture through the full range of material culture into spiritual culture, folk religion, witchcraft, and other forms of folk belief. This collection is especially useful in its application to American society, where countless influences from European, American Indian, and African cultural backgrounds merge. This book relates folklife research to history, anthropology, cultural geography, architectural history, ethnographic film, folk technology, folk belief, and ethnic tensions in American society.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION FOR AMERICAN STUDIES

This Association was founded in 1955 to promote the study of the United States within the United Kingdom. It welcomes applications for membership from people interested in the history, society, government and politics, economics, geography, literature and thought of the United States. It publishes a Newsletter twice yearly, holds an Annual Conference, and provides other services for its members from time to time. Enquiries concerning current subscription rates and applications for membership should be addressed to the Secretary, Mr Alan Graham, Department of Modern History, The Queen's University of Belfast, Belfast, Northern Ireland, BT7 1NN.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to: The Editor, Journal of American Studies, Department of American Studies, The University, Manchester M13 9PL, England.
2. Articles should generally contain about 5000 words. Longer or shorter articles, or articles in two or more parts, may be accepted by arrangement with the Editor.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. Diagrams and maps may be included by arrangement with the Editor.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. Notes intended for the Editor or printer should be on a separate sheet.
8. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
9. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorizes otherwise.
10. Contributors of articles and review articles receive 25 free separates. Extra copies may be ordered according to the scale of charges.
11. Contributors need not be members of the British Association for American Studies. Unsolicited typescripts can only be returned to overseas contributors who send International Reply Coupons (not postage stamps).
12. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the U.S.A.
