My Catholic Faith*

A Catechism in Pictures. By Most Rev. L. L. MORROW, D.D. With many illustrations. 422 pages. Size 11 x 7½ ins. 30/-

'In the preparation of the book we had especially in mind those earnest souls who seek to understand the Catholic Church, but not understanding it, cannot yet be completely convinced. And this is also why the book has been found invaluable by catechists in their work of teaching both adults and children. At the same time, the form in which topics are presented complete in facing pages, as well as the numerous illustrations and non-technical language, make of "My Catholic Faith" a practical textbook for that important subject, Religion. In fact it has already been adopted in the secondary schools and junior colleges of several dioceses in our country.'—From the Preface by Bishop Morrow.

My Father's Will*

By Rev. F. J. MCGARRIGLE, S.J., PH.D. 22/6

'My Father's Will' is a sure guide to sanctity, the only true success man can achieve in this life. With the words of St Paul, 'this is the Will of God, your sanctification', Fr McGarrigle shows that this call has gone out to all, regardless of their vocation, or their station in life. Forcefully the author shows how conformity to God's Will brings with it security, freedom from fear and anxiety, and a peace that is not of this world.

Opportunities in Catholic Religious Vocations*

By Rev. G. POAGE, C.P. Wrappered. 7/6

Deeply interested in all that helps young men and women, Fr Poage here tackles the problem of their choice of a state of life and shows the advantages and opportunities in the field of Catholic religious vocations.

Good Morning, Good People*

Reflections on the Spiritual Life. By Rev. H. BLOCKER, O.F.M. 22/6

Whatever their particular or varied objectives, religious of all communities will find these chapters refreshingly stimulating and practical, sometimes witty, often provocative and always crisply interesting. Even in failing the faults and foibles of God's elect, the author does so pleasantly.

Are Catholic Schools Progressive?

By Rev. L. J. O'CONNELL, A.M. 7/6

Have the traditional methods of teaching made learning an onerous task and did they too stringently restrain spontaneity and initiative? Are the progressive methods too wasteful of time and do they invite undue self-assurance and lack of respect for authority? Is the new trend an ephemeral experiment or is it truly progressive with promise of permanence? This book explains and evaluates 'progressive education'.
