

News and Notes

Activities

Alan Abramowitz, College of William and Mary, has been awarded a National Science Foundation Post-Doctorate Fellowship for 1980-81.

Weston H. Agor, professor of politics and public affairs, University of Miami-Coral Gables, has been named a Danforth Foundation Associate for Instructional Excellence, 1980-86.

Lewis Brownstein, State University College at New Paltz, New York, participated in a summer seminar on Communist Parties of Southern Europe funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities and directed by Joseph LaPalombara in Rome.

Fran Burke, Suffolk University, has been elected President of the American Society for Public Administration, Massachusetts Chapter, for 1980-81.

Carl Q. Christol, professor of international law and political science, University of Southern California, was a resident scholar at the Rockefeller Foundation Study and Conference Center, Bellagio, Italy, during August-September. He is writing a book on international space law.

Inis L. Claude, Jr., University of Virginia, will be visiting professor at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem for the first six months of 1981.

Leon D. Epstein, professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, received an honorary doctor of letters degree (D. Litt.) from the University of Warwick in Coventry, England.

Charles R. Foster, Committee on Atlantic Studies, attended a Bonn workshop analyzing the German election October 3-7, then participated in a seminar on East-West relations at the Haus Rissen Institute for International Affairs in Hamburg, October 7-11, and talked to a number of European Parliament deputies representing ethnic minority groups in Strasbourg prior to participating in the 12th annual Committee on Atlantic Studies meeting at the Villa Serbelloni Conference Center at Bellagio, October 19-23. On his return from Europe he chaired a panel on the Rise and Fall of Minorities at the Second Conference of Europeanists in Washington, October 26.

Jerry Goldman, assistant professor, Department of Political Science, Northwestern University, has been awarded a fellowship in law and economics at the University of Chicago Law School for 1980-81.

Robert T. Golembiewski of the University of Georgia has won the Chester I. Barnard Award for the outstanding article in volume three of the Southern Review of Public Administration. Golembiewski's article is titled, "The Near-Future of Graduate Public Administration Programs in the U.S.: Some Program Minima, Their Common Violation, and Some Priority Palliatives.

Ahmad Haffar, State University College at New Paltz, New York, will spend the 1980-81 academic year in teaching and research with the Department of Political Science at the University of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

Margaret Hamilton, College of William and Mary, is on leave for the 1980-81 academic year to continue her research on the politics of the French Left at Columbia University and in France.

Douglas I. Hodgkin, chairman, Bates College, was chairman of the Maine Republican Party Platform Committee this year. He also was a delegate to the Republican National Convention in Detroit and served on the Platform Committee there. He was also nominated as a Maine Republican presidential elector.

Charles A. Johnson, Texas A&M University, received a $60,693 grant from the Law and Social Sciences Program of the National Science Foundation to study "Analytic Techniques for Judicial Research."

Prabhakar G. Joshi, associate professor in the Division of Social Sciences and Business, Morris College, Sumter, South Carolina, worked during the summer of 1980 as a Summer Research Fellow at the Kansas State University, under the U.S. Department of Transportation's Minority Faculty Summer Research Program.

Sugwon Kang, Hartwick College, currently on sabbatical, has received a research grant from the American Philosophical Society.

Denis Lacorne, University of California at Irvine, has been appointed National Fellow at the Hoover Institution for the year 1980-81. He is working on a book which deals with Franco-American relations in the post-Gaullist era. He has also completed an organizational study of French leftwing political parties, recently published in France by the Presses de la Fondation Nationale des Sciences Politiques (Paris, June 1980) and entitled, Les Notables rouges. La construction municipale de l'union de la gauche.

Mark Lichbach, Brown University, Culpepper

post-doctoral fellow, is on leave from the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle.

Naomi B. Lynn, Kansas State University, has been elected to the National Council of the American Society for Public Administration.

Theodore McNelly, professor of government and politics at the University of Maryland, was affiliated with the Faculty of Law, University of Tokyo, as a Fulbright research scholar in 1979-1980. In addition to researching Japan's defense policy, he presented a number of addresses and scholarly papers at various places including the Institute for International Studies and Training, the Defense Law Society, the National Defense College, the Defense Academy, the International Conference of Orientalists in Japan, and the Nanzan and Komazawa Universities.

Eugene Meehan, professor, Missouri-St. Louis, has accepted a fellowship for 1980-81 at the Netherlands Institute for Advanced Study at The Hague.

Aruna Michie, Kansas State University, is on leave for the 1980-81 academic year to serve as a Senior Fellow with the American Institute of Indian Studies. She is conducting a study titled "Agricultural Tenancies, Legitimacy, and Rural Politics: A Comparative Approach." The first part of the study is being conducted in Rajasthan, India.

Arthur H. Miller, University of Michigan, conducted a four-week lecture tour of several European countries in May of this year, followed by a six-week research visit to Sweden. Miller spoke to graduate and undergraduate classes in Istanbul, Turkey; West Berlin, Germany; Leuvan, Belgium; Gothenberg, Sweden; and Aarhus, Denmark. He also met with ranking party officials in Bucharest, Romania, and lectured at the Georghin Stephane Academy. In Paris, France, Miller gave a major presentation at a day-long conference on American elections at Centre de Recontres Internationales. The lecture tour was arranged by the United States International Communication Agency and dealt with the 1980 U.S. presidential election. In Gothenberg, Sweden, Miller was engaged in collaborative research on a comparison of media effects on political attitudes in the United States and in Sweden.

G. Wayne Peak returned to Colorado State University after one year on academic exchange at the University of Warsaw.

Robert Presthus, University Professor of Political Science in York University (Toronto), has been awarded the first Annual Prize by the American Society of Association Executives for "outstanding contributions to the study of interest groups and organizational behavior." The award, based mainly upon Presthus' books, The Organizational Society and Elites in the Policy Process, was presented by James Low, President of the Society at its Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., August 10, 1980. Several aspects of Presthus' extensive field research on the political activities of American interest groups were made available to Society members in an interview published in the March, 1980 issue of the Society's journal Leadership.

Robert S. Robins, chairman at Tulane University, has been appointed by the Governor as a member and elected Vice Chairman of the Louisiana Elections Integrity Commission.

Timothy M. Shaw has resumed his post of associate professor of political science at Dalhousie University after a two-year secondment to serve as a visiting professor at Carleton University, Ottawa, and the University of Ife, Nigeria.

John W. Simon, assistant professor, Bates College, was secretary of the Maine Democratic Platform Committee this year. He was an alternate delegate to the Democratic National Convention in New York City.

Michael W. Suleiman, Kansas State University, spent the fall, 1979, semester on sabbatical leave at the Institute of Governmental Studies, University of California, Berkeley, where he was doing research on Arab-Americans. He spent the summer of 1980 on a Fulbright fellowship in Morocco and Sudan doing research on political socialization of school children.

Thomas Uhlman, assistant professor, Missouri-St. Louis, has been awarded a fellowship for 1980-81 by the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration. Under the terms of this award he is working for the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Evaluation and Program Management in the U.S. Department of Education.

James R. Woodworth, Miami University, has left the position of associate dean of the College of Arts and Science to return to the Department of Political Science.

New Appointments

Douglas Amy, instructor in government and public service studies, Oberlin College.

Koki T. Asakura, assistant professor, Ohio Wesleyan.

Gary H. Brooks, associate professor, University of Arkansas at Little Rock; formerly University of Mississippi.

Joseph Cayer, associate professor of public affairs, Arizona State University; formerly of Texas Tech University.

Sherman Cochran, Associate Director, Cornell University China-Japan Program.

Stephen F. Coleman, assistant professor, Northeastern University.

News and Notes

Gary Copeland, assistant professor, political science, and a research appointment on the Ohio University's Carl Albert Center's academic staff.

Cary R. Covington, visiting instructor, Texas A&M University.

Malcolm Cross, assistant professor, Northeastern University.

Robert L. Dudley, assistant professor, Colorado State University; formerly Loyola, Chicago.

Lee Dutter, assistant professor, Illinois at Chicago Circle; formerly visiting professor, University of Central Florida.

Stephen Esquith, James Madison College, Michigan State University; formerly Swarthmore College.

R. Kenneth Godwin, associate professor, political science, University of Arizona, January 1981; formerly of Oregon State University.

Joseph R. Goldman, visiting assistant professor, Miami University (Ohio); formerly of the University of Kansas.

William T. Gormley, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Daniel Hallin, acting assistant professor, University of California, San Diego.

Patrick W. Hamlett, assistant professor, University of Missouri-Rolla; formerly of Washington State University.

Susan B. Hansen, associate professor, University of Pittsburgh.

Elisabeth Hansot, associate professor, University of Nevada-Reno; formerly of Kenyon College.

Thomas M. Holm, assistant professor, University of Arizona; formerly of University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Mark Huddleston, assistant professor, University of Delaware; formerly assistant professor, SUNY-Buffalo.

John E. Jackson, professor with tenure, University of Michigan, and Program Director with tenure, Center for Political Studies, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Calvin C. Jillson, assistant professor, Louisiana State University; formerly of Elizabethtown College.

Cynthia Kaplan, assistant professor, Tulane University.

Rasma Karklins, visiting assistant professor, Illinois at Chicago Circle; formerly research associate, University of Chicago.

John Kincaid, assistant professor, North Texas State University.

Kenneth W. Kramer, visiting assistant professor, Texas A&M University.

Margaret Leahy, James Madison College, Michigan State University.

Timothy J. Lomperis, instructor, Louisiana State University; formerly of Duke University.

Joel Migdal, associate professor of international studies, School of International Studies, University of Washington.

Manindra Kumar Mohapatra, professor, School of Public Affairs, Kentucky State University; formerly of Old Dominion University.

Kevin V. Mulcahy, assistant professor, Louisiana State University; formerly of Claremont College.

Joyce Marie Mushaben, instructor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Alvin Mushkatel, associate professor, public affairs, Arizona State University; formerly of University of Denver.

Edward A. Olsen, associate professor, National Security Affairs Department, Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey; formerly Japan/Korea analyst, Bureau of Intelligence and Research, U.S. Department of State.

Michael A. Pagano, assistant professor, Miami University (Ohio); formerly of CONSAD Research Corporation.

Donald J. Reaves, instructor, Northeastern University.

Lt. William Roig, USN, J.D., University of Texas School of Law, has joined the faculty at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis.

Nancy Rosenblum, associate professor, Brown University; formerly of Harvard University.

Edward I. Sidlow, assistant professor, Miami University (Ohio); formerly on a visiting appointment at Miami University.

Glen Sparrow, associate professor, School of Public Administration and Urban Studies at San Diego State University; formerly Executive Director of the San Francisco Charter Commission.

J. Frederic Springer, assistant professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Suzanne Stenzel, assistant professor, Texas Christian University.

Tracy B. Strong, associate professor, University of California, San Diego; formerly Amherst College.

Lawrence R. Sullivan, assistant professor, Miami University (Ohio); formerly of Wellesley College.

Mary Thornberry, Davidson College; formerly of the University of Arizona.

Rick Tilman, assistant professor, University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Tom Wander, assistant director, Ohio University Carl Albert Center, and assistant professor of political science.

Shirley Washington, assistant professor, Wheaton College (Massachusetts).

Richard Webb, assistant professor, Texas Tech University; formerly of the University of Arkansas.

Louis Weschler, professor of public affairs, Arizona State University; formerly of University of Southern California.

Charles Williams, assistant professor, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle; formerly visiting assistant professor.

Visiting and Temporary Appointments

Satish Kumar Arora, professor for the fall term at the University of Michigan (Ann Arbor).

William B. Ballis, professor emeritus, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, was visiting professor again this past spring at Bowling Green (Ohio) State University.

Christopher Berry, Glasgow University, visiting assistant professor at the College of William and Mary, 1980-81.

William Brigman, visiting assistant professor, 1980-81, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Anthony Carrasco, fall term, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Jack Donnelly, visiting assistant professor, Tulane University.

Henry W. Ehrmann, professor, Dartmouth College, will be visiting professor at the University of California, San Diego, winter quarter 1981.

David Fleischer, University of Brasilia, is spending 18 months as a Senior Research Fellow at the Comparative Development Studies Center at SUNY-Albany, beginning September 1, where he will continue his research on the Brazilian Congress and party system under a grant from the Brazilian National Research Council (CNPq).

Robin Gillies, re-appointed, visiting assistant professor, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle.

Steven Goldman, fall term, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Robert T. Golembiewski will be Killam Visiting Scholar at the University of Calgary during fall, 1980. He is research professor of public administration and management, University of Georgia.

David Gordon, academic year at University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Obika Gray, fall term, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Jerrold D. Green, academic year at University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Arthur B. Gunlicks, University of Richmond, was a guest professor at the University of Goettingen, West Germany, for the 1980 summer semester.

Nancy W. Heer, visiting professor, Wheaton College (Massachusetts).

Milton Heumann, associate professor, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, will spend the 1980-81 academic year as a Guggenheim Fellow and visiting lecturer at Yale Law School.

Harold K. Jacobson, professor, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, will serve as acting chairman of the Department of Political Science at the University of Michigan during the winter term 1981.

Lawrence LeDuc, University of Windsor, is Visiting Fellow at the SSRC Survey Archive, University of Essex, during the 1980-81 academic year.

David C. LEEGE, director of the Center for the Study of Man in Contemporary Society and professor of government and international studies at the University of Notre Dame, served as a visiting professor of social sciences at the University of Leuven, Belgium, during the spring semester 1980.

Wafaa Marei, visiting assistant professor of government, College of William and Mary, spring semester, 1980-81.

Morris McCain, College of William and Mary, visiting lecturer, department of politics, Glasgow University, 1980-81.

Robert Nakamura, assistant professor, Dartmouth College, will be visiting assistant professor at the University of California, San Diego, spring quarter 1981.

John Peterson, visiting assistant professor of government, College of William and Mary, fall semester, 1980-81.

Alexander Provda, associate professor, 1980-81, at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Michael Ranis, visiting instructor in government, Hamilton College.

Robert Rickards, visiting assistant professor of government, College of William and Mary, 1980-81.

Catherine Shaw, fall term, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Dan Siminoski, visiting assistant professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis, 1980-81.

Jean Edward Smith, professor, University of Toronto, will be visiting professor at the University of California, San Diego, spring quarter 1981.

James P. Sweeney, temporary assistant professor, Kansas State University; formerly of New School for Social Research.

William I. Tilles, visiting instructor, University of Notre Dame, 1980-81.

Jeffrey Tulis, visiting instructor, University of Notre Dame, 1980-82.

Richard W. Van Wagenen, who recently retired from the World Bank, will serve as visiting professor at the University of Virginia in the fall term, 1980, offering a seminar on international organization.

William L. Waugh, Jr., temporary assistant professor, Kansas State University; formerly of University of Mississippi.

Administrative Appointments

Regina S. Axelrod, chairperson, Political Studies Department, Adelphi University.

Sandra Powell Barber, academic systems analyst, Indiana State University, Evansville.

Cora P. Beebe, director of the Division of Planning and Budgeting in the Office of Education, has been appointed Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary for elementary and secondary education for the Department of Education.

Darlene Boroviak, dean, Wheaton College (Massachusetts).

Terry L. Busson, profesor and chairman, Political Science Department, Eastern Kentucky University; formerly with the University of Texas at Tyler.

Harris N. Miller, deputy director of Office of Personnel Management's Office of Congressional Relations.

James J. Conniff, chair, Political Science Department, San Diego State University.

Nelson Dometrius, director, Master of Public Administration program, Texas Tech University.

Richard C. Elling, undergraduate adviser, Department of Political Science, Wayne State University.

Michael J. Francis, chairperson, Department of Government and International Studies, University of Notre Dame.

Stanley H. Friedelbaum, chairperson, Department of Political Science, Rutgers College, Rutgers University.

Ronald D. Hedlund, acting associate dean, Graduate School for Research and Sponsored Programs, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Joseph P. Heim, director, Public Administration Program, University of Wisconsin-La Crosse.

Douglas I. Hodgkin, chairman, Department of Political Science, Bates College.

S. M. Kennedy, interim director, Center for Public Service, Texas Tech University.

Bernard W. Klein, Vice President for Labor and Urban Affairs and professor of political science, Wayne State University; formerly acting Chancellor, University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Warren L. Mason, director, European Center in Luxembourg, Miami University (Ohio).

Roy L. Meek, associate dean, College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, Colorado State University.

Betty A. Nesvold, San Diego State University, outgoing chair, Political Science Department; appointed associate dean, College of Arts and Letters.

Morris S. Ogul, chairman, University of Pittsburgh.

Richard Pattenau, assistant vice president for academic planning, State University of New York at Binghamton.

T. J. Pempel, director of the Cornell University China-Japan Program.

Albert Somit, President, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Ron Steinberg, chairman, Department of Political Science, State University College at New Paltz, New York.

John A. Straayer, special assistant to the president, Colorado State University.

Donald G. Tacheron, director of research, Congressional Information Service, Inc. (CIS).

Jan P. ("John") Vermeer, head, Department of Political Science, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln, Nebraska.

David Vogler, chair, Government Department, Wheaton College (Massachusetts).

Harold M. Waller, Department of Political Science, McGill University.

Thomas J. Williams, chairman, Department of Political Science, University of Alabama at Huntsville; formerly director of the MPA program at Southwest Texas State University.

James L. Wiser, chairman, Department of Political Science, Loyola University of Chicago.

Promotions

Philip Abbott, professor, Wayne State University.

Robert Axelrod, professor with tenure, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

George I. Balch, associate professor, has been granted a leave of absence for the academic year 1980-81 from University of Illinois at Chicago Circle.

John Campbell, associate professor with tenure, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Richard W. Cottam, university professor, University of Pittsburgh.

J. Patrick Dobel, associate professor, University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Edie N. Goldenberg, associate professor with tenure, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Richard P. Goodrick, professor, Eastern Illinois University.

Bryan Jones, professor, Wayne State University.

Woodrow Jones, Jr., associate professor, San Diego State University.

Albert Karnig, professor of public affairs and director, Center for Public Affairs, Arizona State University.

Herbert M. Kritzer, associate professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Paul H. Lewis, professor, Tulane University.

David M. Littig, associate professor of urban studies/political science, University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

D. Richard Little, professor, San Diego State University.

William C. Louthan, full professor, Ohio Wesleyan.

Naomi B. Lynn, professor, Kansas State University.

James J. Magee, associate professor, University of Delaware.

Larry Mankin, associate professor of public affairs, Arizona State University.

Jeanne Nienaber, associate professor, University of Arizona.

Susan J. Pharr, associate professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Carl F. Pinkele, associate professor, Ohio Wesleyan.

Linda Richter, temporary assistant professor, Kansas State University.

J. Martin Rochester, associate professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Michael Rubner, associate professor, James Madison College, Michigan State University.

Alberta Sbragia, associate professor, University of Pittsburgh.

Michael Schechter, associate professor, James Madison College, Michigan State University.

David E. Schmitt, Edward W. Brooke Professor, Northeastern University.

Joseph M. Scolnick, Jr., associate professor with tenure, Clinch Valley College.

Jerry L. Simich, associate professor, University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Michael P. Smith, professor, Tulane University.

Roger W. Smith, professor, College of William and Mary.

Ron Steinberg, associate professor, State University College at New Paltz, New York.

Louis M. Terrell, professor, San Diego State University.

David Vogler, professor, Wheaton College.

Robert S. Walters, professor, University of Pittsburgh.

John J. Weltman, Senior Research Fellow in International Relations, Institute of Advanced Studies, The Australian National University.

T. Alden Williams, professor, Kansas State University.

M. Richard Zinman, associate professor, James Madison College, Michigan State University.

Retirements

Raymond Cour, C.S.C., professor, University of Notre Dame.

John J. Kennedy, professor, University of Notre Dame.

Corrections

Christopher Pyle, Mount Holyoke College, should have been included in the Summer PS list of winners of National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Fellowships. He is also a recipient of an Andrew Mellon Foundation grant for his study of the Study of American Political Thought and Theory of Rights. PS regrets the error.

Two political scientists were not included in the list of political scientists granted 1980-81 John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Fellowships that was published in the Summer PS. The two further political science winners and their projects are:

Donald J. Horwitz, Senior Fellow at the Research Institute on Immigration and Ethnic Studies, Smithsonian Institution, "Ethnic Violence in Asia and Africa."

Robert W. Jackman, Michigan State University, "Political Instability in Third-World Countries."

Donald F. Kettl, the 1979 winner of the William Anderson Award, was incorrectly listed as David Kettel in the Fall 1979 and Summer 1980 issues of PS. PS regrets the error.

Petra T. Shattuck and Jill Norgren, associate professors of government at John Jay College of Criminal Justice of the City University of New York were not included in the list of 1980-81 winners of Rockefeller Fund Humanities Fellowships in the Summer PS. The title of their project is "Self-Determination for American Indian Nations." PS regrets the error.