THE NEW NATURALIST

This year we celebrate the tenth birthday of a library that has, in that time, become famous. Almost fifty volumes on all aspects of Britain's fauna and flora have been published; a selection of which we have chosen for ORYX readers.

British Mammals

L. Harrison Matthews

“The editors' belief that this is probably the most important book on British Mammals ever published is almost certainly justified. It would be hard to overstate how well he has succeeded. The same impeccable standard of illustration is maintained here.”—LISTENER. 156 illustrations, 16 in colour. 25s.

The British Amphibians and Reptiles

Malcolm Smith

“Scholarly, without ever being dull; it gives complete life histories of every British species, with careful accounts of their structure and relationships.”—OBSERVER 144 illustrations, 18 in colour. 21s.

Birds and Men

E. M. Nicholson

“The theme of this interesting and eminently readable book is the impact of civilization, whether rural or urban, upon British birds.”—THE TIMES WEEKLY EDN. 83 illustrations, 42 in colour. 21s.

Sea Birds

James Fisher and R. M. Lockley

“Particularly useful and informative. This is the first time a comprehensive biological work on the birds of the North Atlantic has been made available to ornithologists in this country.”—BRITISH BIRDS 132 illustrations. 25s.

Man and the Land

L. Dudley Stamp

“A book of endlessly fascinating detail illustrating both in text and in the excellent photographs the interaction of Man and the land.”—FINANCIAL TIMES 148 illustrations, 19 maps, etc. 35s.

A Natural History of Man in Britain

H. J. Fleure

“An impressive exposition of human geography, by a great master . . . a study of the changing relations between man and environment.”—BLACKFRIARS 122 illustrations, 38 in colour. 21s.

ANIMAL PARADISE

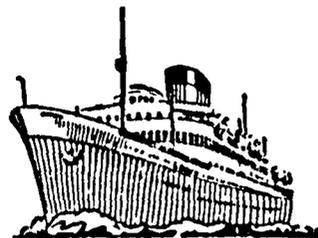

To animal lovers, the Kruger National Park must be the most enthralling place in the world: for it is the world's greatest game sanctuary . . . 8,000 square miles of wild bush country, where the untamed creatures of the African jungle may be seen at close quarters in absolute safety (provided you stay in your car). In addition, there is the Hluhluwe Game Reserve in Natal where the rare white rhino roams and a number of other large game reserves: from all of which you can 'bring 'em back alive', in your camera.

Yet all this is only part of the thrill of a holiday in the glorious sunshine and scenery of South Africa.

Every Thursday afternoon at 4.0
