REVOLUTION IN A CITY PARISH

Abbé G. Michonneau

Revolution in a City Parish is a detailed account of the experiences, mistakes and achievements of the clergy in one suburban district of Paris and, as its authors recommend, it should be treated not as a summary of conclusions but as a stimulus to further thought and investigation. The English edition has a foreword by the Most Reverend Richard J. Cushing, Archbishop of Boston. English Catholics, clergy and laity also have a part to play in this revolutionary approach to our problems for which we should all be grateful to France. 15s.

RELIGIOUS SISTERS

A translation of Directoire des Superieures and Les Adaptations de la Vie Religieuse, divided into five parts: The Theology of the Religious Life; The Office of the Superior; The Knowledge required by a Superior; The Vocation and Training of Religious; Adaptations in Modern Life. 18s.

WHAT IS THE MASS?

H. Chéry, O.P.

Father Chéry does in this booklet of 104 pages what many have failed to do in a series of tomes. He does tell us what the Mass is. The reader having finished the book does know 'what is going on at the altar'. The book is admirably suited for the laity, but not less suited for the priest who desires a text-book for his study-circle. This is a book not merely to read but to study. 5s.

READING FOR PENTECOST

THE HOLY SPIRIT IN CHRISTIAN LIFE

A. Gardeil, O.P.

"Books on the Holy Spirit are so rare that one by so noted a master of the spiritual life as Père Gardeil needs no recommendation. The value of the book lies in the masterly introduction and the author's experience in drawing practical applications from the abstractions of theology. We recommend especially what he has to say on the 'practice of meekness', as applied to communities. The book correlates the gifts of the Holy Spirit with the beatitudes and the beatitude of poverty has, for example, a rather different application in the case of vowed religious and married people of the world."—Catholic Herald. 9s. 6d.

SPODE

HOUSE

A CONFERENCE AND RETREAT CENTRE OF THE
ENGLISH DOMINICAN FATHERS

Programme

JULY — DECEMBER 1957

The house provides men and women with a community centre, where they will find and themselves help to form a well-developed Catholic life. It is spacious and cheerful, with modern amenities including central heating. It stands in the grounds and parkland of Hawkesyard Priory and, as a central meeting-place, is easily reached from all parts of England and Wales.

Throughout the year courses are arranged to cover a wide variety of interests. Catholic societies and organisations also book it for their meetings. In the priory church visitors are able to follow the daily ceremonies of the liturgy. The priory has a community of some forty priests, students and laybrothers.

Spode House lies between Stafford and Lichfield, just off the London-Manchester road (A.51) and close to the Euston-Glasgow and Euston-Manchester main line, as well as to roads and railways out of Birmingham.

A MAJOR EVENT IN RELIGIOUS PUBLISHING

CONGAR

LAY PEOPLE IN THE CHURCH

Trans. by Donald Attwater

'I recommend with all the energy at my command the reading of Lay People in the Church. . . . In my view, anyone who wishes thoroughly to inform himself, theologically and historically, on this most contemporary of subjects, should not delay in having Père Congar on his shelves. It is a mine of information and suggestion, and by far the best book available.'

Jotter in The Catholic Herald.

'From the point of view of the lay apostolate the most important publishing event of the year has taken place. . . . For all who are really concerned with the work of the laity in the Church this book, which is a study for a theology of the laity, is essential. . . . The problems that beset us in trying to understand our duty, trying to respond to our vocation, are many. Père Congar's book is a great help. I know that many of us will find it heavy and deep but it will well repay thoughtful reading and would be a marvellous basis for serious discussion of the duties and vocation of the layman in this world.'

R. P. Walsh in The Catholic Worker.

CHRISTIANS AWAKE

GORDON ALBION

Gordon Albion, well known as a radio personality, lecturer, and historian, has collected a number of his broadcast talks in this omnium gatherum. Although this is a book which can be read section by section there is a unity underlying the whole range of his topics which can be summed up as 'Awareness' . . . Awareness of God, of Christ, of His Church, and of the call for action implicit in Christianity since it can and should affect our workaday lives.

' . . . well worth preserving in this form.' Liverpool Daily Post

HENRY MORSE

PHILIP CARAMAN

Unlike Philip Caraman's classic translations, John Gerard and William Weston, this is an original and unusual biography. After he had been twice imprisoned and twice exiled, Henry Morse returned to England in 1633 and worked unsparingly among the plague-stricken poor of London. Again exiled and again returning, he was eventually arrested in Cumberland, shipped from Newcastle to London, and executed at Tyburn in 1645.

'Careful portrait of a noble and too little known figure.'

C. V. WEDGWOOD, Time and Tide

'The book is exciting as well as informative; . . . it illuminates in great detail a little-known tract of history.'

INSIGHT

A Study of Human Understanding

BERNARD J. F. LONERGAN

The time is now ripe for a philosopher who accepts the findings of modern schools of thought and is prepared to attempt the task of presenting a view of human life and knowledge as a whole. Father Lonergan presents a fresh and vigorous re-statement in modern terms of a large area of scholastic metaphysics, ethics and psychology.
