

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Administrative Science Quarterly, a new journal published by the Graduate School of Business and Public Administration, Cornell University, and devoted to advancing basic understanding of administrative processes in all types of organizations, will appear in June, 1956. Editor of the Quarterly is James D. Thompson. The editorial board includes Sune Carlson, Melvin de Chazau, Alexander Leighton, Edward H. Litchfield, and Ewing W. Reiley. Paul Wasserman is book review editor.

The Sixth Inter-American Congress of Municipalities will be held in Panama City, Panama, August 14-19, 1956.

A new department of political science is in the process of being born at the State College of Washington. The present department of history and political science, established in 1928, will be divided into separate departments on September 16, 1956. During twenty-three years of the combined department's existence, Professor Claudius O. Johnson served as its chairman. Since 1951, the chairman has been Herbert J. Wood. The initial staff of the new department of political science will be professors Claudius Johnson and Paul Beckett, associate professor H. Paul Castleberry and assistant professors Daniel M. Ogden, Jr. and Thor Swanson. Professor Beckett has been elected the new department's first chairman, to serve until 1959.

The Institute of World Polity, sponsored by Georgetown University and "designed to serve as an organization for systematic research and discussion of questions affecting international relations and the foreign policy of the United States" has recently been re-organized. Among the full members of the Institute are: Samuel F. Bemis, Yale University; Willard B. Cowles, State Department; Edwin D. Dickinson, University of Pennsylvania; Rev. James B. Horigan, S.J., Georgetown University; Sheldon Z. Kaplan, House Foreign Affairs Committee; Rev. Brian A. McGrath, S.J., Georgetown University; Pitman B. Potter, American University; William H. Roberts, Catholic University; Pitirim A. Sorokin, Harvard University and Quincy Wright, University of Chicago. William V. O'Brien, Georgetown University, serves as acting chairman. At a business meeting held on April 29, 1956, an extensive research and publication program was discussed and adopted.

Tulane University, in cooperation with the American Assembly of Columbia University, sponsored a Southern Assembly on April 19-22 at Buena Vista Hotel, Biloxi, Mississippi. The conference topic was "Southern State Governments: Functions and Problems," and the background report was prepared under the direction of L. Vaughan Howard, chairman of the department of political science at Tulane. The composition, organization, and procedure of the Southern Assembly follow the pattern already established by the American Assembly.

In September, 1955 the division of social science at San Jose State College was subdivided into three departments: history, economics, and geography; sociology and social service; political science and public administration.

The Institute of Government, University of Utah, is conducting a series of studies for the Local Government Survey Commission of the State of Utah.

Kenyon College will hold a conference on April 4-7, 1957 on the theme "The Essentials of Freedom: the Idea and Practice of Ordered Liberty in the Twentieth Century." The project is supported by a grant from the Fund for the Republic. It will constitute the fifth in a series of conferences held at the College since 1947.

A grant from the Ford Foundation permits the department of political science at the State University of Iowa to sponsor an eight-week Seminar on the Teaching of International Politics again in the summer of 1956. Professors Richard Snyder of Northwestern, Harold Sprout of Princeton, and Schuyler Wallace of Columbia are serving as project advisers. Kenneth Boulding, William T. R. Fox, Clyde Kluckhohn, and others will meet with the seminar as visiting consultants.

The Northern California Citizenship Clearing House has been established at Stanford University. Director of the new clearing house is assistant professor Robert A. Horn, with the assistance and advice of Thomas S. Barclay, Arnaud B. Leavelle, and Robert A. Walker.

An American Committee for the Study of War Documents has been organized, having as its executive board a standing committee of the American Historical Association. Its purpose is to direct an organized effort for the fullest scholarly utilization of documents which came into the possession of the Allies as a result of World War II; to secure the aid of the appropriate governmental agencies in making these documents available for study by American scholars; to enlist the support and cooperation of universities and colleges, faculties and graduate students, and of other scholarly organizations, in the systematic exploration of this material; to collaborate with scholars and institutions abroad in regard to such studies. Inquiries should be addressed to the executive secretary, Sidney Wallach, 381 Fourth Avenue, New York.

The Samuel S. Fels Fund has given $200,000 to the University of Pennsylvania's Institute of Local and State Government to erect an addition to the Fels Center. With the added space the Institute will expand and improve all three phases of its work—its full time curricula for college graduates aspiring to public service, its part-time courses for public officials, and its consulting and research services.

A grant of $1,500,000 to the Institute of International Education was recently announced by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The sum, which is one of the largest single grants every made by this philanthropic foundation, will be used by the Institute for support and development of its programs of international student exchange over ten years.

A chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha was recently installed at Howard University. It became the seventy-eighth chapter of this national political science honor society.

Thomas H. Eliot of Washington University, St. Louis, and Paul G. Steinbicker of St. Louis University are co-directors of the Metropolitan St. Louis Survey. Carl A. McCandless of Washington University and Henry J. Schmandt of St. Louis University will be on leave for one year serving as associate research directors of the Survey.

The Central Regional Conference of Pi Gamma Mu met at Indiana State Teachers College on April 13-14, 1956 to discuss "The Future of the Social Scientist." Among those who addressed the conference were Charles S. Hyneman, Rollin B. Posey, Rexford Guy Tugwell, and W. Leon Godshall.

Indiana University's Second Little United Nations Assembly was held on March 2-4, 1956. Students from 38 colleges and universities attended as delegates. Reverdy T. Gliddon, of the department of government, served as President of the General Assembly and Mr. Andrew Cordier, Under Secretary General of the United Nations, addressed the Assembly.

Henry Reining, Jr., John M. Piffner, and Frank P. Sherwood, all of the School of Public Administration, University of Southern California, will conduct a five-day Institute on public administration in Honolulu during the period June 18-22. The Institute is sponsored by the Hawaiian chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

The Commemoration Authority YAD VASHEM of Jerusalem and the YIVO Institute for Jewish Research of New York are currently engaged in an extensive joint research project on the documentation of the European Jewish Catastrophe. These institutions, having some of the richest collections of material related to the era of Nazism in general and the persecution and annihilation of European Jewry in particular, concluded an agreement on January 5, 1954, providing, inter alia, for (1) the coordination of the efforts to be expended for the collection of "documentary material related to the destruction of European Jewry and its struggle against the Nazi enemy, as well as material related to the history of the destroyed communities; (2) the preparation and publication of a descriptive catalogue of the archival material held by the two parties and in the possession of other institutions and individuals; (3) the preparation and publication of a bibliography of literature of the Destruction and of the participation of the Jews in the Second World War, and of the anti-Semitic Nazi literature in general." In accordance with the stipulation of this agreement, the documentation projects were divided into three independent, yet mutually interrelated, divisions: Bibliographic Division; Archives Division; Pinkas Hakehilot (Annals of the Destroyed Jewish Communities). The first two are located in New York and the third in Jerusalem. The cooperation of the three divisions is assured through the synchronization of the work by a committee of experts, called the Joint Commission of YAD VASHEM and YIVO.

Robert E. Agger, assistant professor at the University of North Carolina, is the recipient of a three-year Faculty Fellowship from the Social Science Research Council.

Vernon V. Aspaturian, assistant professor of political science at The Pennsylvania State University, will be on leave of absence from July, 1956 to September, 1957, to do research and writing under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Stephen K. Bailey, director of the graduate program of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton, attended the Air War College Forum at Maxwell Field, Alabama, from April 16-20, 1956.

Hollis W. Barber will be on leave from his post as professor of political science at the Chicago Undergraduate Division of the University of Illinois for the academic year 1956-1957 to work with the Council on Foreign Relations, New York City.

Thomas S. Barclay of Stanford served on the Jury of Award for the Bancroft Prizes of Columbia University during the current academic year.

Vaclav L. Benes, associate professor of government, Indiana University, addressed a conference on the Midwest Heritage at Coe College on April 7.

Denis W. Brogan, of Cambridge University, England, served as George A. Miller visiting professor of political science at the University of Illinois during the spring. He also inaugurated the series of lectures at the University of Illinois commemorating Woodrow Wilson.

Bernard E. Brown, assistant professor at Michigan State University, has received a post-doctoral Fulbright grant. He will be affiliated with the Institute of Political Science in Paris during 1956-1957.

Edward H. Buehrig, professor of government, Indiana University, has been appointed chairman of the Indiana University Summer Conference on American Foreign Policy, to be held at Bloomington, Indiana, June 29 and 30, 1956. Professor Buehrig participated in the Lectures and Seminar at the University of Chicago in connection with the celebration of the Woodrow Wilson Centennial, January 30 to February 3, 1956.

J. Alton Burdine, University of Texas, spent the spring semester 1955-1956 on a research assignment in Austin.

Byrum E. Carter, of the department of government at Indiana University, has received a summer faculty research grant from the Graduate School.

Al Castagno, a member of the government department in the School of General Studies at Columbia, has received a Ford Foundation grant for study in Africa.

William N. Chambers, associate professor of political science at Washington University, has been appointed Visiting Fellow in General Education at Harvard University for 1956-57.

Eugene P. Chase has been invited to lecture under a Fulbright grant on American Institutions at the University of Aix in Nice this summer.

Robert L. Clark has been appointed executive secretary of the National Committee for the Development of Scientists and Engineers.

Cornelius P. Cotter, Stanford University, has been elected a member of the governing board of the Bay Area Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

Cecil V. Crabb, Jr., assistant professor of political science at Vassar College, has been made director of the Vassar-Wellesley summer interne program in Washington, D.C.

Robert A. Dahl, professor of political science, Yale University, has returned after a year at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences.

P. Allan Dionisopoulos, lecturer in government at Indiana University, has received a faculty research grant from the Graduate School.

John Dorsey, assistant professor of political science at Michigan State University, has been appointed deputy adviser in charge of the Presidency Project of the Michigan State University technical assistance program in Vietnam.

Alex N. Dragnich, professor of political science, Vanderbilt University, was granted a faculty fellowship by the Fund for the Advancement of Education and is on leave during 1955-56 spending the year at Harvard University.

Lewis J. Edinger, assistant professor of political science at the Air University, has received an International Relations Training Fellowship from the Ford Foundation for 1956-57 and will pursue his studies at Stanford University.

Russell H. Fitzgibbon, of the University of California at Los Angeles, will teach at the University of Illinois in the summer school in 1956.

Michael J. Flack, assistant professor of political science at Vassar College, served recently as independent consultant to the Ford Foundation's international relations program.

Henry C. Galant, chairman, department of government, Skidmore College, has received a summer grant from the Social Science Research Council for research in France.

Federico G. Gil has been granted a year's leave of absence from the University of North Carolina for research in Latin America.

Edward B. Glick, interim instructor in the department of political science of the University of Florida, has been appointed a consultant to the Latin American Department of the Jewish Agency for Palestine.

Albert Gorvine, Brooklyn College, will remain for a second year as director of research at the Institute of Public Administration of the University of Ankara, under arrangements with New York University, supported by the International Cooperation Administration.

Priscilla Greeley, assistant professor of government, Skidmore College, will study at the University of London this summer.

Charles M. Hardin, University of Chicago, is rapporteur general of a roundtable (on the political role of the farm community) to be held at the International Political Science Association meeting at Geneva, Switzerland, in September.

Friedrich A. Hayek, Aaron Director, and Herbert Heaton are this year's lecturers at the Institute on Freedom and Competitive

Enterprise at Claremont Men's College, June 10-24, 1956.

Paul M. Herzog, associate dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration, has been appointed a member of the International Labor Office's Committee on Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations. Mr. Herzog has also recently been elected Vice-President of the American Society for Public Administration.

Roger Hilsman, formerly of Princeton University, has been appointed Chief of the Foreign Affairs Division of the Legislative Reference Service, Library of Congress.

Bernard L. Hyink, dean of students, and William B. Storm, of the School of Public Administration faculty, University of Southern California, will serve with the School's Institute of Administrative Affairs, University of Tehran, Iran, during the 1956-57 school year. Richard C. Gable will continue as a member of the Institute faculty during the same period.

Frederick C. Irion, associate professor and director of government research at the University of New Mexico, has been appointed editor-of-reports for the New Mexico legislature's Welfare Investigating Committee. He has also been invited to attend the Second Conference on Democratic Theory to be held at Buck Hill Falls in June.

G. Edward Janosik, assistant professor at the University of Pennsylvania, has been given a special Summer Research Grant by the University of Pennsylvania.

Rex Johnson, formerly research director and secretary of the Recreational Planning Division of the Council of Social Agencies of Rochester, is now executive director of the Mental Health Association of Dayton.

Herbert Kaufman has been granted leave from Yale University for 1956-57 and will collaborate with Wallace S. Sayre of Columbia University under a research grant from the Russell Sage Foundation.

Joseph A. Kitchin has resigned from the department of political science at Queen's College to accept appointment as director of the United States Information Service in Calcutta, India.

Louis E. Lambert will direct the 8th Annual Workshop in Problems of State and Local Government this summer, to be held under the sponsorship of the department of government and the School of Education at Indiana University.

Harold D. Lasswell, professor of law and political science at Yale University and president of the American Political Science Association delivered the second lecture in public affairs at the University of Maryland, sponsored by the department of government and politics and the Bureau of Governmental Research.

Walter H. C. Laves, chairman of the department of government at Indiana University, attended the annual meeting of the Governing Board of the UNESCO Institute for Social Science in Cologne, Germany on March 16 and 17, 1956. Mr. Laves gave the principal address at a two-day conference on Technical Assistance and the Role of Universities at the University of Liege, Belgium.

Arnaud B. Leavelle, of Stanford University, is president-elect of the Northern California Political Science Association.

Charles O. Lerche, of the department of political science at Emory University, has been appointed associate director of the faculty Seminar for the Improvement of Teaching in International Relations being held at the University of Iowa during the summer session.

Werner Levi, of the University of Minnesota, will spend the summer in Europe where he will attend an International Sociological Conference and participate in an international seminar on some problems of international relations.

Georgia Bell Levy, associate professor of political science at Prairie View A & M College, has received grants from the Ford Foundation and the Danforth Foundation to engage in research on India and SEATO.

Guenter Lewy, an instructor in Columbia College has received an SSRC grant for 1956-57 to enable him to complete his dissertation.

Oliver J. Lissitzyn will be on leave from Columbia for the academic year 1956-57.

Clarence Ludwig, member of the political science faculty and director of the Municipal Reference Bureau at the University of Minnesota, has returned from a period of service as a consultant in local government on the staff of the Institute of Public Administration at the University of the Philippines.

Arthur W. Macmahon, Columbia University, gave the annual Edmund J. James Lecture on Government at the University of Illinois on February 29, 1956.

Robert J. M. Matteson was appointed the first executive director of the American Society for Public Administration. The creation of this full-time post, which provides a chief administrative officer for the Society, was made possible by the recent $245,000 grant of the Ford Foundation to the Society for a five-year development program.

Edwin B. McPheron, Indiana University, will conduct the second summer Property Tax School for municipal and county assessors under the sponsorship of the department of government at Indiana University, July 31 and August 1, 1956.

John H. Millett, University of Rochester, will teach at the University of Illinois during the summer session of 1956.

Lennox A. Mills, University of Minnesota, will attend a conference on South and Southeast Asia which will be held July 2-6 at the School of Oriental and African Studies of the University of London.

Hans J. Morgenthau, University of Chicago, will be a member of the Columbia University Summer Session staff.

Ray Olpin, president of the University of Utah, Roy V. Peel, head of the department of political science, and Franz B. Schick, professor of political science, attended the Institute of World Affairs at Riverside, California, December 11-16, 1955.

Norman D. Palmer, professor of political science, University of Pennsylvania, has been appointed a member of the Committee on Institutional Projects Abroad of the American Council on Education. On February 10, Professor Palmer delivered the opening lecture in the Gabrielson Lecture Series at Colby College and on February 3 he lectured at the Army War College.

Otto Charles Press, of the North Dakota Agricultural College department of social science, has been appointed visiting assistant professor of government at Indiana University for the summer term 1956.

Allan R. Richards, associate professor of government at the University of New Mexico, has been appointed an administrative researcher to the New Mexico Legislature's Welfare Investigating Committee.

Benjamin Rivlin, Brooklyn College, will be Lecturer on North African Affairs at the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies during the summer of 1956.

James R. Roach, associate professor of government at the University of Texas, has been awarded a Foreign Area Training Fellowship by the Ford Foundation for fourteen months beginning in June, 1956.

David W. Smith, former graduate student in the department of political science, University of Utah, is now attached to Amerika House in Heidelberg, Germany, as a member of the Foreign Service of the United States.

Ralph Smuckler has been appointed acting chief adviser of the 30-man technical assistance team of Michigan State University, in Saigon, Vietnam.

Clyde F. Snider, University of Illinois, was on leave during the spring semester, 1956, to continue his study of rural local government.

Richard F. Staar, professor of political science at Harding College, presented a paper at the Ninth University of Kentucky Foreign Language Conference on April 28, 1956.

John E. Stoner, professor of government, Indiana University, has received a grant from the National Association of County Officials to conduct a study of county road administration in the State of Washington.

Henry A. Turner, Santa Barbara College, University of California, will offer courses in the summer session at the University of Nebraska.

Amry Vandenbosch, University of Kentucky, was a member of a 10-man mission to confer with scientists, university administrators, and government officials of the Colombo Plan countries on the establishment of an Asian Nuclear Center, which will be located in the Philippines.

Robert A. Walker, Stanford University, has been named chairman of the Committee on General Studies at Stanford, charged with carrying forward the extensive curricular revisions recently adopted by the faculty.

James T. Watkins, IV, Stanford University, has been appointed to the California Committee for the Study of Education by the Association of Western Colleges.

Wilfred D. Webb, associate professor of government at the University of Texas, has been appointed to the City Planning Commission of the city of Austin.

Edward W. Weidner, head of the department of political science at Michigan State University, has returned to the campus to re-assume his duties after serving as chief adviser of the Michigan State University technical assistance program in Saigon, Vietnam, for nine months.

J. D. Williams, assistant professor of political science, University of Utah, is active in the Home Rule Committee of Salt Lake City which is seeking a change from the Commission form to the city manager form of city government.

Francis G. Wilson, University of Illinois, will teach at the University of Washington summer session of 1956.

Leon Wolcott, visiting professor of government at the University of New Mexico, has been appointed executive director of the New Mexico Legislature's Welfare Investigating Committee.

Arnold Wolfers has been granted sabbatical leave from Yale University for 1956-57 and has received a research grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. Recently, the Swiss government appointed him to the six-man Governing Board of the Graduate Institute of Advanced International Studies at Geneva, Switzerland.

Chitoshi Yanaga, associate professor of political science, Yale University, has returned after a year in Japan.