LATIN AMERICAN URBAN RESEARCH

Sponsored by the Center for Latin American Studies at the University of Florida

Series Editors: Francine F. Rabinovitz (UCLA)
Felicity M. Trueblood (University of Florida)

The vast recent increase in urban-oriented research related to the underlying social, economic, and institutional forces shaping the urban environment of Latin America, the consequences of accelerated urbanization, and the strategies for directing it, have convinced the publishers of Urban Affairs Annual Reviews of the need for publication of a new series—expressly devoted to Latin American Urban Research.

A yearly round-up of research and development relating to the urbanization of South and Central America, an exhaustive bibliography on urban and urban-related topics concerned with Latin America (updated yearly) and a constant forum for Latin American urban scholars—are the aims of the editors, Francine F. Rabinovitz and Felicity Trueblood.

Volume I (1971) in the series concentrates on four major themes around which much of the significant work on Latin American cities clusters: Urban Migration and Marginality / Urban Cultures / Government Institutions and Decision-Making / Policy Problems in Latin American Urban Areas.

Among contributors to Volume I of Latin American Urban Research:

Francine F. Rabinovitz, Felicity M. Trueblood, Charles J. Savio, Harley L. Browning, Waltraut Feindt, Bruce Herrick, William L. Flinn, Wayne A. Cornelius, Jr., Richard M. Morse, Roland H. Ebel, John Friedmann, Luis Unikel.

Volume II (1972) in the series is devoted to Regional and Urban Development Policies: A Latin American Perspective—Guillermo Geisse and Jorge E. Hardoy serve as volume editors.

Among contributors to Volume II of Latin American Urban Research:

Jorge E. Hardoy, Guillermo Geisse, José Luis Coraggio, Rubén D. Utría, Enrique Rubén Melchior, Ivo Babarovic, Manuel Achurra Larráin, Cuauhtémoc Cárdenas, Eduardo Neira Alva, Maruja Acosta, Carlos Calvimontes Rojas, Pedro Pablo Morcillo, Raúl Oscar Basaldúa and Oscar Moreno, Roberto Pineda, Antonio Labedía Caufriez, Guillermo Sanjinés Rojas, Eugenio Pérez Montás, Carlos Tobar, Diego Robles Rivas, and Walter B. Stöhr.

POLICY: The Journal of Interamerican Studies and World Affairs reflects the interests of the scholarly community and interested public concerned with the social, economic, political, and cultural aspects of life in Latin America (including the Caribbean); particularly in those instances where the subject is of concern to more than one of the traditional disciplines. As these concerns change, so will the content of the journal. ¶ Articles which have special relevance for inter-relationships between American nations and of those nations with the rest of the world will be given special consideration. An effort will be made to include occasional articles that state an unusual or even discordant position on a subject of broad interest to be supplemented by critical comments of authorities representing differing positions on the topic. The editors continue to welcome articles by scholars from all parts of the world.
