On behalf of the CAEP Research Committee, I offer sincere thanks to our abstract reviewers for your time and expertise during the 2015 research abstract competition. There were two categories of abstracts to review - research and education innovation.

This year we received over 250 submissions. Research awards are awarded annually by the CAEP Research Committee as part of the CAEP Abstract Competition. This year's winners will be announced at CAEP 2015 in Edmonton from May 30-June 3.

Please visit the Research Section of the CAEP website for additional information on CAEP research.

Regards,
Dr. Rob Green
Chair, CAEP Research Committee

Research is key to Emergency Medicine. So on behalf of the CAEP Research Committee, I offer sincere thanks to our Grant Reviewers for your time and expertise during the 2014-15 competition.

The CAEP Grant Competition identifies promising research grant proposals from medical students, residents, and junior faculty and awards five grants annually of up to $5000 each. Many of the previous CAEP Grant Winners continue with successful research careers.

Please visit the Research Section of the CAEP website for additional information on CAEP research.
