INTERNATIONAL LAW AT M LAW

For nearly two centuries, Michigan Law has been an influential leader in international law. With an LLM program that began in 1890 and scholars, such as Edwin D. Dickinson, William W. Bishop, Eric Stein, and John H. Jackson, paving the way, Michigan was the first U.S. law school to require an international law course for the JD degree.

Today, our professors are fluent in more than a dozen foreign languages and are immersed in all of the major global legal markets. Michigan Law offers a one-semester summer Master of Advanced Corporation Law degree for U.S. and internationally trained lawyers who want to specialize in corporate and securities law and gain a comparative perspective on both. Michigan Law also offers its traditional two-semester Master of Laws degree.
