ARTHUR OLDHAM

BORN IN 1926, ARTHUR OLDHAM has now entered upon the years of achievement. During the present Festival period three important new works have received their first performances, and three earlier works have recently been published.

DIVERTIMENTO for String Orchestra

Full Score .. .. . 30/- Parts (each) .. .. . 2/-

"a strong and effective piece"
(Monthly Musical Record)

"All five movements of the work
have a rich melodic character built on a sound foundation."
(Derbyshire Advertiser)

FIVE CHINESE LYRICS for High Voice and Piano

First performed by Peter Pears and Benjamin Britten
at the 1949 Aldeburgh Festival.

"proved immediately attractive by their graceful melodic writing, sensitive harmonic scheme, and constant maintenance of a musical idiom apt
to the shy translucency of the verses."
(The Times)

MY TRUEST TREASURE 10d.

"A really outstanding partsong, a setting for S.A.T.B. of a poem by the fourteenth century poet, Richard Rolle. It has everything in it that one could demand . . . including drama, tenderness, despair, triumph, brilliant use of choral effect, in which dissonance plays an important part, etc.
Conductors must see this."
