

TABLE AND TRADITION

Towards an Ecumenical Understanding of the Eucharist

ALASDAIR I. C. HERON

Among all the traditional controversies between Roman Catholics and Protestants, the question of the Eucharist takes a special place. This book provides an overview of the historical development of eucharistic theology, with special concentration on Roman Catholic and Reformed points of disagreement. The text deals in its first part with the most important New Testament material, and in its second with the development of eucharistic interpretation from the early church, through the middle ages and the Reformation, to contemporary ecumenical dialogue.

THE LIGHT HAS COME

An Exposition of the Fourth Gospel

LESSLIE NEWBIGIN

This is Lesslie Newbigin's personal response to St John's Gospel and its unique presentation of Christ. Bishop Newbigin writes from his deep knowledge of the Christian faith and of Indian religions.

'This book can do for our generation what was done by William Temple's Readings in St. John's Gospel fifty years ago.'
Barnabas Lindars, University of Manchester.

ANGELS, APES, AND MEN

STANLEY L. JAKI

Professor Jaki's message in this book is the very basis of Christian anthropology—that man is a unity of body and soul, an entity that remains alive even after physical death. From Cartesian and Kantian rationalism, through the naturalism of Rousseau and Darwin, to modern scientific cosmology, Professor Jaki traces the consequences when either man's body or man's soul is ignored in philosophical and scientific discourse.

INTERNATIONAL THEOLOGICAL COMMENTARY

In this important new paperback series, co-published with Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., U.S.A., the whole of the Old Testament is to be covered by a team of theologians from more than seventeen countries and from various ideological backgrounds.

The text uses straightforward, non-technical language, transliterating essential Hebrew terms, and is designed for use by theological students, priests and ministers in the Third World as well as the First. Each volume offers a section by section exegesis of the text, seeking to show the relevance of the whole book to the life of the church today.

The series moves beyond a descriptive-historical approach to Old Testament Commentary. The authors handle the text seriously verse by verse, looking at what it has to say theologically, as the Word of God needing to be expounded from the pulpit, and in the light of the whole biblical revelation.

The first titles to appear will be as follows.

JOSHUA by E. John Hamlin, former Principal of the Theological College, Thailand.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions (three copies) and all editorial correspondence should be addressed to the co-ordinating Associate Editor, Rev. Dr. Alan Lewis, New College, The Mound, Edinburgh EH1 2LX.

Contributions will not be returned unless the return postage is also enclosed.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published in English, or is not being considered by another journal for publication in English. In the interests of authors, copyright is normally assigned to the Scottish Academic Press. The average length of articles is 5000 words. Although longer articles are accepted, those in excess of 10,000 words cannot be considered.

Contributions (articles and reviews) should be clearly typed in double spacing, and on one side of the paper only. The rule about double spacing applies also to footnotes, which should be used sparingly. Cross-references within the article offered should not be included.

Notes for the editors and instructions for the printer should be attached on separate sheets. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for use in correcting proofs.

Contributors from the United States may use U.S. spellings. Greek and Hebrew words need not be transliterated. Capitalisation should be kept to a minimum; and in particular should not be used in pronouns referring to the Deity.

First proofs of articles and reviews may be read and corrected by contributors, and should normally be returned to the organising editor within ten days of receipt. Correction should be confined to errors of the printer. More extensive correction can be made only with the concurrence of an editor. No proofs of reviews will be sent.

Contributors of articles and article reviews (but not of reviews) receive 10 free offprints. Extra copies may be bought according to an agreed scale of charges, provided that these are ordered at the time of returning corrected proofs.
