Submissions from Eastern Europe should, for the time being, be sent to the Deputy Editors.

Submissions from non european countries can be sent to any of the preceding editors.

Papers that do not conform to the general criteria for publication in European Psychiatry will be returned immediately to authors to avoid unnecessary delay in submission elsewhere.

Organisation of the manuscript. Manuscripts should be typewritten/printed double-spaced with wide margins throughout. Title page, abstracts, tables, legends to figures and reference list should each be provided on separate sheets of paper. The title page should include: the title, the name(s) and affiliation(s) of the author(s), an address for correspondence, and telephone/fax numbers for editorial queries. All original and review articles should include an abstract (a single paragraph of no more than 150 words) and 3-6 key words for abstracting and indexing purposes. For original and review articles, the text should be ordered under the following headings: Introduction, Experimental Procedures, Results, Discussion (may be combined with Results). Acknowledgments (when appropriate), References.

• Short communications should not exceed 1500 words or equivalent space including figures and tables, with abstracts of no more than 50 words.

• Letters to the Editor (maximum of 500 words) will be processed rapidly and therefore should be sent to the deputy editors. To ensure speedy publication, please adhere strictly to the general instructions on style and arrangement; provide only figures and tables suitable for direct reproduction.

• Illustrations. Photographs should be presented as glossy prints with high contrast. Figures should be completely and consistently lettered, the size of the lettering being appropriate to that of the illustration, taking into account the necessary reduction in size.

Illustrations should be designed to fit either a single column or the full text width. Each illustration should be clearly marked on the reverse side with the name of the author(s), the number of the illustration and its orientation (top).

Colour figures will be included subject to the author's agreement to defray part of the cost.

• Tables. All tables must be cited in the text, have titles and be numbered consecutively with roman numerals. Only horizontal lines should be included, and kept to a minimum.

• References (Harvard System) Authors are responsible for the accuracy of the references. Only published articles and those in press (the journal should be stated) may be included; unpublished results and personal communications should be cited as such in the text. In the text, a reference should be cited by author and date; when there are more than two authors, state the first author's name followed by "et al". References should be arranged alphabetically at the end of the paper and include, in the following order: all authors (surnames followed by initials), year in parentheses, journal title (abbreviated according to the Serial Sources for the Biosis Data Base), volume number, and inclusive page numbers. For a book, the editors' names, book title, publisher and publisher's location should appear before volume and page numbers.

• Nomenclature. Metric units must be used throughout, laboratory units must be followed by SI units. The generic name of a drug should be used unless the specific trade name of the drug is directly relevant to the discussion.

• Proofs and reprints. One set of proofs will be supplied to the author to check for typesetting accuracy: no changes to the original manuscript will be allowed at this stage. To speed up publication time, authors should respond as quickly as possible, preferably by fax.

25 free reprints are supplied per contribution. Additional reprints may be ordered at the prices quoted on the order form sent to the corresponding author.

• Copyright. As soon as the article is published, the author is considered to have transferred his rights to the publisher. Requests for reproduction should be sent to the latter.

BRAIN RESEARCH REVIEWS

A section of Brain Research devoted to the publication of review articles

Editor-in-Chief: D.P. PURPURA

*Brain Research, Office of the Dean, Albert Einstein College of Medicine,

Brain Research Reviews has, since its launch in 1979, been the dominant medium for the prompt publication of leading review articles in neuroscience. Timely reviews of rapid developments and numerous discoveries bring neuroscientists closer to an adequate understanding of brain mechanisms in health and disease, and serve to stimulate and direct further research efforts.

Brain Research Reviews, a special section of Brain Research, provides a reflection of present practice and progress and probes new dimensions of brain research, and as such has become essential reading for neuroscientists and those in related disciplines who are interested in remaining informed of significant advances in this exacting and exciting field.

All sections are available separately.
A full list of the Editorial Board and Notes to Authors can be found in each issue.

Aims and Scope:

Brain Research Reviews provides medium for prompt publication of review articles and, occasionally, long research papers with extensive review components which give analytical surveys that define heuristic hypotheses and provide new insights into brain mechanisms.
