

Note from the New Editors

As we take over as editors of the Nordic Journal of Linguistics, we would like to thank Urpo Nikanne and Jan-Ola Östman for the excellent work they have done as editor and review editor of the journal from volume 20 in 1997 to the current issue.

As you will see from the inside front cover, it is not just the editors that have changed, there have also been a number of changes to the editorial board. We wish to thank those members of the editorial board who are stepping down for their efforts over the period and we would like to welcome the new members to what we hope will be a very fruitful collaboration.
