

and moral values to individual and institutional life.

The Fellowship provides an annual stipend, based on need, full tuition and fees, normally renewable for a period of four years, to persons seeking the Ph.D. (or other appropriate advanced terminal degree) in subject matter specializations likely to be taught in the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum.

Interested persons may obtain additional information by writing to: Warren Bryan Martin, Vice President and Director, Danforth Graduate Fellowship Program, The Danforth Foundation, 222 South Central Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri 63105.

1978-79 Awards for Study in Scandinavia

The American-Scandinavian Foundation has announced an awards program for study in Scandinavia in 1978-79. For information write the Foundation, 127 East 73rd Street, New York, New York 10021.

American Association of University Women Educational Foundation Awards

The American Association of University Women Educational Foundation has announced its dissertation and postdoctoral fellowships to women of the United States who have achieved distinction or promise of distinction in their fields of scholarly work. For complete information on the awards, write to the AAUW Educational Foundations Programs, 2401 Virginia Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.

1978-79 Japan Foundation Program Available in the United States

The Japan Foundation has published a brochure describing its programs including fellowship and institutional projects support activities that are available in the United States in 1978-79. Copies may be secured by writing to the Japan Foundation, Suite 430, Watergate Office Building, 600 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.

1978-79 White House Fellows Program

The President's Commission on White House Fellowships has announced its 1978-79 Program for White House Fellows. Application materials and additional information may be obtained by writing to the President's Commission on White House Fellowships, Washington, D.C. 20415, or by calling (202) 653-6263.

Announcement of Awards

1977-78 Fulbright-Hays Awards

The Board of Foreign Scholarships has announced 482 awards to American scholars for work in 81 countries in a variety of disciplines for the program year 1977-78, and affiliation arrangements on U.S. campuses have been made for a comparable number of scholars from abroad.

Awards in political science number 36 in 19 countries as follows:

Carlos A. Astiz: SUNY, Albany, New York. Research on Peruvian political elites since 1968; lecture on international politics, Lima, Peru.

Donald Axelrod: SUNY, Albany, New York. Analytical and decision-making techniques in governmental budget processes, University of Amsterdam, Netherlands.

Frank Paul Belloni: Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond. Comparative politics, University of Catania, Italy.

William Buchanan: Washington & Lee University, Lexington, Virginia. American government, Canberra College of Advanced Education, Australia.

Charles E. Butterworth: University of Maryland, Maryland. Political philosophy of Averroes, Ecole Pratique des Hautes Etudes, Paris, France.

Carl Christ: Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland, Kyoto Seminar on American studies, Doshisha University, Japan.

Walter C. Clemens, Jr.: Boston University, Massachusetts. Foreign policies of U.S., USSR and China, University West Indies, St. Augustine, Trinidad-Tobago.

Kenneth M. Coleman: University of Kentucky, Lexington. International relations, Colegio de Mexico, Mexico City.

Daniel Neil Crecelius: California State University, Los Angeles. Political Science, Monash University, University of Sydney, Australia.

Nikiforos Diamandouros: Orange County Community College, Middletown, New York. Comparative politics, Greece.

John H. Douglas: Science News Magazine, Washington, D.C. Science policy and technological development; contemporary Japan, Tokyo, Japan.

Eric S. Einhorn: University of Massachusetts, Amherst. Impact of multilateral cooperation on domestic policy institutions. Aarhus, Copenhagen and Odense Universities, Denmark.

John P. Entelis: Fordham University, New York. Political development, University of Algiers, Algeria.

Frank Brook Feigert: SUNY, Brockport, New York. American politics, National Taiwan University, National Chengchi University, Academia Sinica, China.

Larry B. Garner: De Paul University, Chicago, Illinois. Political history, University of Rome, Italy.

Roy M. Hofheinz, Jr.: Harvard University, Massachusetts. Urban development in China, Australian National University, Australia.

Sidney George: Cornell University, Ithaca, New York. Political science, University of Paris XII, France.

Bernard K. Gordon: University of New Hampshire, Durham. Asia-U.S. relations, Kyoto University, Japan.

Louis D. Hayes: University of Montana, Missoula. Political science, Kabul University, Afghanistan.

Robert T. Holt: University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. Political science, University of Oslo, Norway.

Hans H. Indorf: East Carolina University, Greenville, North Carolina. Southeast Asian studies, University of Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Maurice Glen Johnson: Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, New York. Political science, University of Poona, India.

Chae Jin Lee: University of Kansas, Lawrence. International Politics, Korea University, Seoul, Korea.

Daniel Levine: University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. International relations, political sociology and curriculum development, University of San Carlos and Rafael Landivar University, Guatemala.

Terry E. McDougall: University of Virginia, Charlottesville. Political biography of Asukata Ichio, Yokohama, Japan.

James A. Nathan: University of Delaware, Newark. U.S. diplomatic history and international affairs, Institution to be determined, Argentina.

Felix E. Oppenheim: University of Massachusetts, Amherst. Political theory, University of Florence, Italy.

R. Richard Rubottom: Southern Methodist University, Texas. U.S.-Latin American relations, University of Los Andes, Bogota, Colombia.

Lawrence A. Scaff: University of Arizona, Tucson. Social and Political Theory of Max Weber, University of Dusseldorf, Germany.

Glendon Schubert: University of Hawaii. Animal social behavior, University of Groninger, Netherlands.

Ezra N. Suleiman: University of California, Los Angeles. Political science, Bibliotheque Nationale, France.

Peter Van Ness: University of Denver, Colorado. Comparative foreign policy, Hitotsubashi, Keio, and Tokyo University, Japan.

Arpad Von Lazar: Tufts University, Massachusetts. Energy resources policy and technology transfer, University de Los Andes, Bogota, Colombia.

Steven J. Warnecke: CUNY Graduate School and University Center, New York. European-American relations, College of Europe, Brugge, Belgium.

Edward J. Williams: University of Arizona, Tucson. Mexican-U.S.-Latin American relations, Colegio de Mexico, Mexico City.

William A. Williams: Oregon State University, Corvallis. American foreign relations, University of Melbourne, Australia.

NSF Pomona College Grant

A grant of $83,900 has been made by the National Science Foundation to Pomona College for support of a project entitled "Analysis of State Land Use Policy."

The project is under the direction of Daniel A. Mazmanian, assistant professor of government at Pomona College. He will collaborate with Paul Sabatier, assistant professor in the division of environmental studies, University of California, Davis.

According to Mazmanian, the objectives of the research are to develop and test a general theoretical framework for analysis of the implementation of land use and related policies. The testing will be based largely on information gathered on the implementation of the California Coastal Zone Conservation Act of 1972.

Ford Foundation Award Graduate Fellowship Program for Mexican Americans, Puerto Ricans and Native Americans

The Ford Foundation has awarded Educational Testing Service a $4.7 million grant to continue administering the Foundation's Graduate Fellowship Program for Mexican American, Puerto Rican, and Native American graduate students. ETS has administered the program since 1974.

Established in 1970, the program is designed to increase the number of Mexican Americans, Puerto Ricans, and Native Americans preparing for academic careers in colleges and universities in the United States and Puerto Rico.

To be considered for the award an applicant must be a U.S. citizen, enrolled in an accredited graduate school in the U.S. or Puerto Rico that offers the doctorate in his or her chosen field, planning full-time study toward a degree, and planning a career in higher education. As of the 1977-78 Competition, applicants must be at the preliminary exam stage of the doctoral program

Research & Training Support

The award includes tuition and fees, a books and supplies allowance of $300, and a living allowance of $300 per month.

Since the program was established seven years ago it has awarded more than $10 million to men and women seeking their doctorates and who intend to pursue a career in higher education.

The new grant will enable ETS to administer the program for another four years.

Additional information about the program may be obtained by writing to Graduate Fellowships for Mexican Americans, Native Americans, and Puerto Ricans, Educational Testing Service, Box 200, Berkeley, California 94704.

NSF Minority Science Education Program Grant

Jackson State University's Division of Social Science has received a grant of $139,600 from the National Science Foundation for strengthening its science education program. The grant was one of 18 given to predominately minority institutions in support of activities designed to strengthen their science education programs and to increase the flow of minority students into science and engineering careers. The Project Director is Leslie McLemore.

1977-78 White House Fellows

Three political scientists are among the 1977-78 White House Fellows. They are: Beverly J. Hawkins, Consultant to Los Angeles City Councilman Robert C. Farrell; Jack A. LeCuyer, U.S. Army; and Joseph B. Anderson, Jr., U.S. Army.

NSF University of New Mexico Award

The National Science Foundation Research Applied to National Needs Program, has awarded a $281,000 14-month phase one grant to the University of New Mexico to investigate the use of teleconferencing in administrative hearings. The project, which was initiated in July, will investigate the cost-effectiveness and effects on due process, fair hearings and their participants if telecommunications are used as an alternative to physical presence in welfare and employment security administrative hearings. The multi-disciplinary research team consists of the following, all from the University of New Mexico:

Jerome R. Corsi, Principal Investigator. Research Associate Professor, Director of Public Administration.

Harry P. Stumpf, Senior Project Consultant. Professor, Political Science Department.

T. Lane Hurley, Research Director. Assistant Professor, Political Science Department.

Joseph Goldberg, Legal Director. Professor, UNM Law School.

Lawrence Rosenfeld. Associate Professor, Department of Speech Communications.

Al Parker. Professor, Department of Economics.

Gary Libecap. Assistant Professor, Department of Economics.

Requests for additional information should be sent to the project offices: Fair Hearing Project, University of New Mexico Law School, 1117 Stanford, NE, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87131, phone (505) 277-5031.

Announcing

ORDER FORM

Enclosed please find my check for $ _____ for _____ copies.

Please bill my office $ _____ for _____ copies.

Bulk Orders	APSA Departmental Service Member	Non-Member
10 copies	$ 3.00	$ 4.00
50 copies	12.50	17.50
100 copies	20.00	30.00

(Single copies are available for fifty cents each, prepaid.)

SEND TO: _____

_____ Zip _____

Return this form with check to: Departmental Services Program
American Political Science Association
1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036