REVIEWS, RETROSPECT, &c., &c.

LONDON: BAILLIÈRE, TINDALL & COX, King William Street, Strand.

WORKS BY DR. L. S. FORBES WINSLOW.

Price 12s. 6d.

A MANUAL OF LUNACY. "A comprehensive digest of every subject connected with the legal care of the insane."—Med. Times and Gaz.

"The book is a most useful compendium of knowledge on a subject on which most medical men are called upon occasionally to act promptly, where the want of such a book of reference may lead, as it often has led, to serious trouble."—Brit. Med. Journal.

"It is certainly the best book on the subject that has been published for the purpose of general information on this painful but deeply interesting subject."—Law Magazine.

Varnished, Mounted on Canvas and Rollers, 4s. 6d., unmounted, 1s. 6d.

A LUNACY CHART; being a Synopsis of the Lunacy Acts, and having special reference to the Management and Care of Persons of Unsound Mind.

"Dr. Winslow has published a 'Lunacy Chart,' containing a Synopsis of the Lunacy Acts, having special reference to the management and care of persons of unsound mind. The Chart is framed and intended to hang up in a room. It will be found extremely useful for immediate and hasty reference."—Lancet.

"It will be found a most ready means of reference for a medical man called to act promptly in a case of emergency."—Medical Times and Gazette.

Price 1s.

HANDBOOK FOR ATTENDANTS ON THE INSANE.

"A very useful and practical little book, carefully put together, and of small handiness. It would, we should think, be found to be very available for the information and more complete training of attendants on the insane, whether in asylums or in private life."—Brit. Med. Journal.

"The work is highly to be recommended."—Public Opinion.

"We should be glad to see this useful little handbook in the possession of all asylum attendants."—The Doctor.

Price 1s.

SPIRITUALISTIC MADNESS. "A vigorous and instructive denunciation of Spiritualism."—Broad Arrow.

"A very interesting pamphlet."—The World.

"A clever exposure of the humbug of Spiritualism."—John Bull.

THE W. AND S. TUKE PRIZE ESSAY.

EXTENSION OF TIME.

Some of the descendants of WILLIAM and SAMUEL TUKE (the former of whom proposed the establishment of the York Retreat in 1792, and the latter wrote the "Description" of the humane system of treatment commenced there) having placed at the disposal of the Medico-Psychological Association the sum of One Hundred Guineas, the Association offers a prize of this amount for

"The best series of original Cases and Commentary, illustrative of the Somatic Ætiology of various Forms of Insanity, accompanied, when possible, in fatal cases, by reports of post-mortem examinations and microscopical preparations—their bearing on the symptoms being pointed out."

Cases not seen by the writer may be cited, but must be distinguished from those actually witnessed by himself.

The W. and S. TUKE PRIZE is open to all without restriction as to country, profession, &c., but the right is reserved to withhold it, should there be no essay of sufficient merit. Essays, to be written in English, and not in the author's handwriting, to be sent in a sealed envelope, bearing the motto of the essay, containing the name of the writer, to the undersigned, not later than June 30th, 1877. The microscopical preparations, but not the essay, to belong to the Association.

W. RHYS WILLIAMS, M.D.,

Bethlem Royal Hospital, London,
Dec., 1874.

Hon. Sec.

It will be observed that the time at which Essays are to be sent in has been extended from June 30th, 1876, to June 30th, 1877.

THE GLASGOW MEDICAL JOURNAL, PUBLISHED QUARTERLY.

GLASGOW: DUNN AND WRIGHT, WEST NILE STREET.

"In adopting our title of the Journal of Mental Science, published by authority of the Medico-Psychological Association, we profess that we cultivate in our pages mental science of a particular kind, namely, such mental science as appertains to medical men who are engaged in the treatment of the insane. But it has been objected that the term mental science is inapplicable, and that the terms, mental physiology, or mental pathology, or psychology, or psychiatry (a term much affected by our German brethren), would have been more correct and appropriate; and that, moreover, we do not deal in mental science, which is properly the sphere of the aspiring metaphysical intellect. If mental science is strictly synonymous with metaphysics, these objections are certainly valid, for although we do not eschew metaphysical discussion, the aim of this Journal is certainly bent upon more attainable objects than the pursuit of those recondite inquiries which have occupied the most ambitious intellects from the time of Plato to the present, with so much labour and so little result. But while we admit that metaphysics may be called one department of mental science, we maintain that mental physiology and mental pathology are also mental science under a different aspect. While metaphysics may be called speculative mental science, mental physiology and pathology, with their vast range of inquiry into insanity, education, crime, and all things which tend to preserve mental health, or to produce mental disease, are not less questions of mental science in its practical, that is, in its sociological point of view. If it were not unjust to high mathematics to compare it in any way with abstruse metaphysics, it would illustrate our meaning to say that our practical mental science would fairly bear the same relation to the mental science of the metaphysicians as applied mathematics bears to the pure science. In both instances the aim of the pure science is the attainment of abstract truth; its utility, however, frequently going no further than to serve as a gymnasium for the intellect. In both instances the mixed science aims at, and, to a certain extent, attains immediate practical results of the greatest utility to the welfare of mankind; we therefore maintain that our Journal is not inaptly called the Journal of Mental Science, although the science may only attempt to deal with sociological and medical inquiries, relating either to the preservation of the health of the mind or to the amelioration or cure of its diseases; and although not soaring to the height of abstruse metaphysics, we only aim at such metaphysical knowledge as may be available to our purposes, as the mechanic uses the formularies of mathematics. This is our view of the kind of mental science which physicians engaged in the grave responsibility of caring for the mental health of their fellow men, may, in all modesty, pretend to cultivate; and while we cannot doubt that all additions to our certain knowledge in the speculative department of the science will be great gain, the necessities of duty and of danger must ever compel us to pursue that knowledge which is to be obtained in the practical departments of science, with the earnestness of real workmen. The captain of a ship would be none the worse for being well acquainted with the higher branches of astronomical science, but it is the practical part of that science as it is applicable to navigation which he is compelled to study."—J. C. Bucknill, M.D., F.R.S.
