Bulletin of Entomological Research

journals.cambridge.org/ber

Aims and Scope

The aims of Bulletin of Entomological Research are to further our global knowledge of entomology through the generalisation of research findings rather than providing more entomological exceptions. Bulletin publishes high-quality and original research papers, 'critiques' and review articles concerning insects, mites, ticks or other arthropods of economic importance in agriculture, forestry, stored products, biological control, medicine, animal health and natural resource management. The scope of papers addresses the biology, ecology, behaviour, physiology and systematics of individuals and populations. This includes the interactions between species (plants, hosts for parasites, natural enemies and whole communities), novel methodological developments, including molecular biology, in an applied context. Bulletin does not publish the results of spray trials.

Bulletin of Entomological Research is published bimonthly by Cambridge University Press

Cover image: Adult of potato tuber moth (Tecia solanivora) (Lepidoptera: Gelechiidae), an invasive pest that invaded the Northern Andes from Guatemala at the end of the 1980s. This pest shows wing morphology variation along altitudinal gradients which can represent an adapted response contributing to its invasion success in mountainous landscapes.
