

HARVARD THEOLOGICAL REVIEW

117:2

April 2024

ARTICLES

A Joban Theology of Consolation Sameer Yadav	181
Xλωρός in the Septuagint: Color or State? Lourdes García Ureña	204
Covenant and Community in Early Rabbinic Literature Tzvi Novick	228
A Representation of the Inauguration Ceremony of the Restored Temple? A (Tentative) Reinterpretation of the Bar Kokhba Tetradrachm Jonathan (Yonatan) Bourgel	250
The Clinical Gaze of Lurianic Kabbalah Assaf Tamari	268
Faith and the Absurd: Kierkegaard, Camus and Job's Religious Protest N. Verbin	293
No Orthopathy without Orthoaesthesia: On the Necessity of Negative Effort Ryan Duns	317
Images Above All: Richard Kroner and the Religious Imagination Caleb Hendrickson	342
Judeopessimism: Antisemitism, History, and Critical Race Theory Shaul Magid	368
Fleshing Out the Strength of Weakness: Intercorporeality in the Theological Discourse on Disability Alexander Massmann	391