

Middle East Crisis

U.S. Decision-Making in 1958, 1970, and 1973

by ALAN DOWTY

Dowty examines the behavior of U.S. decision-makers in three case studies of Middle East crises: the Lebanese crisis of 1958, the Syrian-Jordanian confrontation of 1970, and the Yom Kippur War of 1973. His findings question past studies of foreign policy decision-making. International Crisis Behavior, Volume 3. $42.50

The Pakistan Army

by STEPHEN P. COHEN

In this first comprehensive study of the Pakistan army, Cohen examines and analyzes the social origins of the officer corps, the army's role in domestic politics, Pakistan's nuclear intentions, the Islamization of the military, Pakistan's sensitive geopolitical position, and its relations with the United States. $27.50

The Armenian Quarter of Jerusalem

Urban Life Behind Monastery Walls

by VICTOR AZARYA

Much of the Armenian quarter of the old city of Jerusalem lies within the walls of St. James Monastery, home to twenty-to-thirty monks and a lay population of about fifteen hundred people. Azarya's fascinating study shows how a coexistence begun in necessity has transformed the monastery. $22.50

A Concordance of the Qur'an

by HANNA E. KASSIS

Foreword by FAZLUR RAHMAN

For centuries the Qur'an has been a closed book both to non-Muslims and, to some extent, to Muslims who do not know Arabic. Kassis opens the Qur'an to serious, English-speaking students of all faiths in a way that preserves the connotations that any given verse has in the original Arabic. "The first concordance of the Koran in English... [an] important volume."—Library Journal $95.00

A Mediterranean Society

The Jewish Communities of the Arab World as Portrayed in the Documents of the Cairo Geniza—
Volume IV: Daily Life

by S. D. GOITEIN

In Volume IV of his magisterial study of the documents of the Cairo Geniza, Goitein examines the relationship between the Jewish community in the Islamic world of the tenth through the thirteenth century and its material civilization. $38.50

OCCUPATION: Israel over Palestine
by Naseer H. Aruri

The political, social, cultural, economic and legal dimensions of occupation are examined in this comprehensive volume, in seventeen essays contributed by Palestinian, Israeli, American and European authors.

1983 470 pages $13.50 paper

— ALSO AVAILABLE FROM AAUG PRESS —

SABRA AND SHATILA: Inquiry into a Massacre
by Amnon Kapeliouk

"[Sabra and Shatila] gives the whole truth and nothing but the truth on the killings—including the names of the criminals who masterminded it, executed it, and covered it up. All this is done in a clear-cut, incisive manner, apparently with no passion or compassion, but without leaving the smallest publicized detail untold or unanalyzed." Israel & Palestine

1984 89 pages $5.95 paper

REAGAN AND THE MIDDLE EAST
by Naseer Aruri, Fouad Moughrabi and Joe Stork

Three essays provide a comprehensive analysis of President Reagan's Middle East peace plan, its context, objectives and consequences, within the framework of the administration's conception of American interests. In particular, they examine the key part played by Israel in the United States' Middle East strategy, and the secondary role to which America's Arab allies have been relegated.

Documents on the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict, 1967–1983

YEHUDA LUKACS

This is a compendium of documents relating to a conflict that has generated a vast quantity of written material expressing widely divergent interpretations of events and suggestions for achieving resolution. The volume brings together the material necessary for any serious analysis of the conflict, including key documents and position statements of the Israelis, the Palestinians, the Arab countries, the United States, and the United Nations. It begins with United Nations Security Council Resolution 242 and ends with the joint Jordanian-PLO statement rejecting Jordanian participation in the negotiations proposed in the Reagan Peace Plan of September 1982. $29.95

Muslim Cities in the Later Middle Ages

Revised and Abridged Edition

IRA M. LAPIDUS

This is one of the most influential works on Islamic history to have appeared in recent years. Primarily a study of the main cities of the Mamluk state in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries A.D., Professor Lapidus' book provides a framework for understanding the long evolution of Muslim political and social institutions and urban societies. The author delineates the relationships among the military rulers, the bourgeoisie, and the common people in a study of wide relevance to social history.

For this edition, the author has written a new introduction and has added an up-to-date section on further reading. The notes and detailed references of the first edition have been omitted. Cloth $39.50 Paper $14.95

Towns and Townsmen of Ottoman Anatolia

Trade, Crafts and Food Production in an Urban Setting, 1520–1650

SURAIYA FAROQHI

This account of the development of Anatolian towns during a period of rapid population growth is based mainly on Ottoman documentation, which at present is little known to scholars in Europe and America. Dr. Faroqhi details the varied occupations of the townsmen, along with reactions of the Ottoman state, to the urban changes that threatened to interfere with accustomed patterns of agriculture and taxation.

The author examines in detail various aspects of trade, crafts, and the relationship of the town to its agricultural hinterland, paying particular attention to the themes of urban-rural migration, urban landholders in the countryside, and the food supplies made available to townsmen. $59.50

Arabic Literature to the End of the Umayyad Period

Editors: A.F.L. BEESTON, THE LATE T.M. JOHNSTONE, R.B. SERJEANT, G.R. SMITH

This first volume in The Cambridge History of Arabic Literature ranges from the sixth century A.D. to the fall of the Umayyad dynasty two centuries later, the period which saw the founding of the Islamic religion and the great Arab Islamic conquests of territory outside the Arabian peninsula.

Contributors to this volume discuss the nature of the Arabic language and the Arabic book; pre-Islamic literature; the Qur'an itself; the body of Hadith literature which records the traditions of the Prophet. The many classes of literature that accompanied the Umayyad period are reviewed in detail, as are the influences of Greeks, Persians, and Syrians on early Arabic literature. $75.00

JOURNAL OF SOUTH ASIAN AND MIDDLE EASTERN STUDIES

The major objective of this journal is to provide a forum for scholars engaged in study of the modern Islamic societies in South Asia, the Middle East, and North Africa. It hopes to create a dialogue among specialists and leaders in public affairs in a wide range of areas and disciplines, including military strategy and foreign policy. The physical sciences, the social sciences, business administration, public administration and the arts and humanities will also be included. Special issues might concentrate on such topics as regional cooperation, religious and intellectual development, public works, engineering advances, and the impact of transnational cooperation on national communities. Articles are invited from all parts of the world.

The journal is published under the auspices of the Pakistan American Foundation, 138 Tolentine Hall, Villanova University, Villanova, Pa. 19085. All correspondence should be addressed to the Editor. (215) 645-4738/4791. Annual subscription: $10.00. Foreign subscriptions: $15.00.

The Jews of Islam

Bernard Lewis

Against a vivid background of Jewish and Islamic history, Lewis portrays the Judaeo-Islamic tradition — a cultural relationship parallel to the Judaeo-Christian heritage.

The Jews of Islam

BERNARD LEWIS

Tracing its origins in the early Middle Ages, its flowering, and its ending, Professor Lewis probes the Muslims' attitude toward Judaism, demolishing two competing stereotypes: the fanatical warrior, sword in one hand and Qur'ān in the other, and the Muslim designer of an inter-faith utopia. $17.50
