

---

People in Political Science

---

Activities

---

Douglas E. Ashford, Andrew W. Mellon Professor of Comparative Politics, University of Pittsburgh, will be a Fellow at the Zentrum für Interdisziplinäre Forschung, University of Bielefeld, West Germany, from January to June, 1989.

Earl M. Baker, the first editor of PS and former APSA Congressional Fellow, won election to the Pennsylvania State Senate in the November election. He got 70% of the vote in the 19th Senate District, which covers the eastern half of Chester County and a small portion of Montgomery County. Baker retains his post as state GOP chairman.

Wilhelm P. Burklin, professor of political science, Institute of Political Science, University of Kiel (Germany-W), has been awarded a Stiftung Volkswagenwerk Southeast Asia Fellowship for German Scholars to spend 6 months at the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies in Singapore. During his stay he will work on a book-length manuscript on "Implementing economic growth policies in hard states."

Beverly Hawk, assistant professor of political science at Colby College, has received a curriculum development grant for travel and study in Kenya from the Sloan Foundation for the 1988-89 academic year.

Harold K. Jacobson, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, at the 14th Congress of the International Political Science Association was elected to serve on the Executive Committee and as a Vice President of IPSA for the period 1989-1991.

Joseph S. Joseph is spending 1988-89 at the Center for Middle Eastern Studies, Harvard University, as a post-doctoral fellow; formerly Gustavus Adolphus College.

Margaret P. Karns, University of Dayton, will be an ACE Fellow at Tufts University for 1988-89.

Lawrence D. Longley, Lawrence University, was recently re-elected as head, for 1988-1991, of the Electoral Systems Study Group of the International Political Science Association. In early October, Longley participated in a State of Michigan Bicentennial Ceremony, debating in a televised session the adequacy of the contemporary electoral college.

Virginia L. Miller, University of San Diego, has been elected chair of the Western Political Science Association Women's Caucus and will also serve as chair of APSA's Committee on the Status of Women, effective as of March 1988.

EARL M. BAKER

Samuel Patterson, Ohio State University, was the sixth Roy Ray Distinguished Lecturer at Centre College, Danville, Kentucky, October 24-25, 1988. His featured address was "Are There Political Parties in Congress?"

Nelson W. Polsby, Austin Ranney, and Raymond Wolfinger of the University of California, Berkeley, moderated an election night television program produced by the university and available nationwide by satellite.

Steffen Schmidt, Iowa State University, lectured at three Columbian universities during a visit co-sponsored by the Academic Specialist program of the U.S. Information Agency. Plans were laid for cooperation in research and other areas of academic work between Iowa State and the Columbian universities.

Judith N. Shklar, Harvard University, will be the Charles Homer Haskins Lecturer at the 1989 meeting of the American Council of Learned Societies.

Joseph Szyliowicz has been elected President of the Faculty Senate of the University of Denver.

Michael L. Vasu, North Carolina State University, has been elected president of the Computer User's Group Section of the American Political Science Association. Vasu will organize panels for this section for the 1989 national meeting and serve as the newsletter editor. Vasu was the subject of an interview for the Voice of America on telecommunications in university research and instruction.

Claude E. Welch, Jr., SUNY at Buffalo, has been named one of 17 subject editors for the new International Military and Defense Encyclopedia, scheduled for publication in late 1990 or early 1991.

Administrative Appointments

Mark Blitz, associate director of U.S. Information Agency, has been appointed director of political and social studies, Washington Office of the Hudson Institute.

WILHELM P. BURKLIN

STEFFEN SCHMIDT

People in Political Science

HELEN M. INGRAM

VICTOR JAMES, JR.

James S. Fishkin, chair, department of government, University of Texas at Austin.

Helen M. Ingram, department of political science, University of Arizona, is acting director of the Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy at the University.

Victor James, Jr. was recently appointed as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Houston, TX Urban League.

John R. Johannes, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Marquette University.

Manindra Kumar Mohapatra, dean of the School of Public Affairs, 1988-89, Kentucky State University. (This was incorrectly listed as Kansas State University in the fall 1988 issue of PS.)

Robert Nakamura, chair, department of political science, University at Albany, SUNY.

James M. Rhodes, chair, department of political science, Marquette University.

Terrence Scanlon, chair of the Consumer Product Safety Committee, has been appointed Vice President and Treasurer of the Heritage Foundation.

Richard Siegel, chair, department of political science, University of Nevada, Reno.

W. Rand Smith, chair, department of politics, Lake Forest College.

Frank J. Thompson, dean, graduate school of public affairs, University of Albany, SUNY; Also appointed as professor of public administration, policy, and political science; formerly at the University of Georgia.

Dean L. Yarwood, chair, department of political science, University of Missouri-Columbia.

New Appointments

---

Peter Breiner, visiting assistant professor of political science, University at Albany, SUNY; formerly at the University of Southern California.

Walter Dean Burnham, Frank C. Erwin, Jr.

Centennial Chair in State Government, University of Texas at Austin; formerly of MIT.

Roy B. Flemming, after a year as visiting associate professor in the department of politics and contemporary history at the University of Salford, England, has taken a new position in the department of political science at Texas A&M University. He was formerly at Wayne State University.

Velma Garcia, assistant professor of government, University of Texas at Austin.

Douglas A. Hibbs, Jr., to the Trade Union Institute for Economic Research, Stockholm, from Goteborg University, where he held chairs in political science and then economics.

Andre Liebich, professor of the history of international relations at the Graduate Institute of International Studies, Geneva Switzerland, as of September 1989; formerly professor of political science at the Universite du Quebec a Montreal.

Robert Lineberry, professor of political science and senior vice-chancellor at the University of Houston; formerly at the University of Kansas.

Robert Luskin, assistant professor of government, University of Texas at Austin; formerly of University of Alabama.

John Marini, associate professor of political science, University of Nevada, Reno. Marini was special assistant to the chairman of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunities Commission.

Michael Mitchell, assistant professor of political science, University at Albany, SUNY; formerly at Princeton University and Saint Peter's College.

Alan Ryan has joined the Princeton department of politics from New College, Oxford, where he was reader in politics. He is acting chair of the program in political philosophy while Amy Gutmann is on leave and will help to run Princeton's forthcoming Ford Foundation-sponsored initiatives in social science teaching.

Carolyn Thompson, visiting assistant professor of public administration, University at Albany, SUNY.

Jeffrey K. Tulis, associate professor of government, University of Texas at Austin; formerly of Princeton University.

Leah Wilds, assistant professor of political science, University of Nevada, Reno; formerly a graduate student, Colorado State University, and policy analyst for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Promotions

---

Stanley Bach, senior specialist in the legislative process, Congressional Research Service, the Library of Congress.

J. Budziszewski, associate professor of government, University of Texas at Austin.

John S. Dryzek, associate professor with tenure, University of Oregon.

Thomas Ferguson, professor of government, University of Texas at Austin.

James S. Fishkin, Darrell K. Royal Regents Chair in Ethics and American Society, University of Texas at Austin.

Gary Orren, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University, professor of public policy with tenure.

Priscilla L. Southwell, associate professor with tenure, University of Oregon.

Leonard Williams, Manchester College, to associate professor with tenure effective September 1989, and head of the social science division.

John T. Woolley, associate professor, department of political science, University of California, Santa Barbara.

Visiting and Temporary Appointments

---

Steven R. Brown, Kent State University, is spending the 1988-89 academic year as visiting scholar, School of Education, University of Leicester, England.

Chun-Tu Hsueh, professor, University of Maryland at College Park, will be teaching

Award Recipients

at Columbia University, summer 1989.

George Romoser, Kobe University, Japan, during 1988-89.

Award Recipients

1988-89 American Fulbright Scholars

Each year about 1,000 Americans are awarded Fulbright grants to lecture or conduct research abroad. About 60% of the awards are for university lecturing, and many include opportunities for research.

The following scholars were chosen in the fields of political science and public administration. Each entry includes name of the grantee, academic rank, home institution, grant activity, host institution and country, and grant duration. There is also a listing of political scientists in special programs.

Political Science

George E. Agree, director, department of international development, U.S. Association of Former Members of Congress. Lecturing in Political Science (Seminar on Modern Parliament and Democracy): Fulbright Commission, Buenos Aires, Argentina. Week, April 1988.

Gabriel A. Almond, professor, department of political science, Stanford University. Lecturing on Status and Tendencies of Political Science in the United States: Kiev State University, Kiev, U.S.S.R. Four months, February 1989-June 1989.

Peter Bachrach, professor, department of political science, Temple University. Lecturing on Theories of Democracy: From Democratic Elitism to Participatory: University of Bombay and Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, India. Nine months, August 1988-May 1989.

Davis Bernard Bobrow, professor, department of government and politics, University of Maryland, College Park. Research on the Japanese Pursuit of National Security: Saitama University, Tokyo, Japan. Nine months, July 1988-March 1989.

Gloria Jennien Braxton, associate professor, department of political science, Southern University. Lecturing on Rural Women and Economic Development: Cuttington University College, Suacoco, Liberia. Twelve months, July 1988-July 1989.

John Creighton Campbell, associate professor, department of political science, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Research on the Cost-Containment Issue and Japanese Health Care Policy: Affiliation to be determined; Tokyo, Japan. Nine months, September 1988-May 1989.

Michael R. Curtis, professor, department of political science, Rutgers University, New Brunswick. Lecturing on Comparative Politics Bologna Chair in Political Science: University of Bologna, Bologna, Italy. Three months, January 1989-March 1989.

Neal Evan Cutler, professor, department of political science and gerontology, University of Southern California, Los Angeles. Research on Public Opinion and Knowledge of Alzheimer's Disease in the United Kingdom and the United States: University of Glasgow, Glasgow, United Kingdom. Four months, September 1988-December 1988.

Jorge Ignacio Dominguez, professor, department of government, Harvard University. Lecturing in Political Science: El Colegio de Mexico, Mexico City, Mexico. Three months, June 1988-September 1988.

Rosemary E. Galli, professor, department of social sciences, Wartburg College. Lecturing on International Relations: University of the Azores, Institute for the Social Sciences, Ponta Delgada, and University of Lisbon, Lisbon, Portugal. Six months, October 1988-April 1989.

Joyce Gelb, professor, department of political science, CUNY, City College. Lecturing on U.S. Political Issues: El Colegio de Mexico, Mexico City, Mexico. One month, June 1988-July 1988.