Folger Publications

Essays Politic and Moral and Essays Moral and Theological

By DANIEL TUVILL. Edited by JOHN L. LIEVSAY, Duke University. xix, 231 pp., app., notes. (Folger Document) $12.00

These two sets of essays which express the literary tastes and fashions of seventeenth-century England are reprinted here for the first time since their publication in the early 1600's. Tuvill, who was educated at Cambridge and became a clergyman and author, wrote in support of secular and religious causes. His topics are of enduring interest, reflecting his quiet, commonsense attitudes on various subjects such as poverty, the force of reason and cautions in friendship.

The Elizabethan Image of Africa

By ELDRED D. JONES, Fourah Bay College of the University of Sierra Leone. 52 pp.,
illus., foldout color map. (Folger Booklet) Paper, $1.50

This illustrated booklet examines both scholarly and popular publications of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in order to determine what notions the Elizabethans had about Africa. Fairly accurate studies along with maps and accounts of sea voyages and land travel helped to dispel many fanciful legends about Africa. The evidence gathered from the plays, publications, and Elizabethan drawings discussed in this booklet indicate that Elizabethans had a far greater interest in and knowledge of Africa than has been supposed by most literary critics.

Wenceslaus Hollar

Delineator of His Time

By KATHERINE S. VAN EERDE, Muhlenberg College
xiv, 122 pp., frontis., illus., bibliog. essay, index. $15.00

This study of the vast work of Wenceslaus Hollar, the famous seventeenth-century artist, presents a fresh interpretation of the man himself and of the social, physical, and political aspects of England, his adopted country. Hollar traveled extensively on the Continent and after being exiled from Bohemia, he came to England. There, new surroundings sharpened his vision. His engravings and drawings of the land and of its people provide an irreplaceable view of seventeenth-century life. Facts about Hollar have been scarce, but this study skillfully uses the artist's work to fill out the framework of what is known. The result is a refreshing and authoritative account.

THE JOURNAL OF BRITISH STUDIES
TRINITY COLLEGE
HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

The Journal of British Studies, founded in 1961, is published at Trinity College under the auspices of the Conference on British Studies. It was the result of the imaginative generosity of a Trinity alumnus, Frederick E. Hasler (Hon. LL.D. 1957) who contributed funds to the College for the specific purpose of establishing a learned periodical in the field of British history. Several Trinity alumni subsequently contributed to the fund and Trinity College now supports the publication of the Journal.

The Conference on British Studies is the official organization in the United States and Canada of scholars working in the field of British history and culture; its status as such is recognized by the American Historical Association of which it is an affiliate. Its nearly eight hundred members are drawn from forty-eight states and five provinces. It convenes twice each year, usually at New York University.

The Conference awards a prize triennially for the best first book by an American or Canadian scholar.

The Conference sponsors a considerable publications program. It publishes the Journal of British Studies at Trinity College; the British Studies Intelligencer, a newsletter, at Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas; and Archives in British History and Culture, a series devoted to the publication of documents, at West Virginia University, Morgantown; and Current Research in British Studies, a quadrennial survey of research in progress in the United States and Canada, published at Southern Methodist University. The Conference has begun a new series, to be published by the Cambridge University Press, of biographical and historical studies of men and women who were makers and shapers of the English experience.

In addition to the Conference on British Studies, there are several affiliates: the Pacific Coast Conference on British Studies, Pacific Northwest Conference on British Studies (who publish Albion twice a year) the Midwest Conference on British Studies, the Southern Conference on British Studies, and the New England Conference on British Studies. Each of these vital autonomous groups has its own officers, programs, and other activities. There are also local groups centered in Los Angeles, Detroit, and Pittsburgh.

The Journal of British Studies appears twice in the academic year, in the autumn and in the spring. The annual subscription is $6.00. Checks for subscriptions and enquiries concerning advertising rates should be directed to the Business Manager, British Studies, Box 1315, Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, 06106.

Volume XI, No. 2 will be published in May, 1972.
