

graduate programs in political science; a pamphlet on political science as a career (in multiple copies); a copy of the Biographical Directory and an annual supplement to it; personnel service newsletter (though the fee does not include the $5 a head for new Ph.D.s that graduate departments are currently being asked to pay); information on federal programs and on grants; and periodic summaries of fellowships and internship programs for students.

In order to provide the financial resources necessary to provide such services on a continuing basis, the following schedule of fees was recommended by the Committee and approved by the Council: Departments of political science offering graduate work and having over 20 faculty members (full-time equivalents), $150; Departments of political science offering graduate work and having 11-20 faculty members, $100; departments of political science offering graduate work and having 10 or fewer faculty members, $75; departments of political science offering only undergraduate work and having over 5 faculty members, $50; and departments of political science offering only undergraduate work and having 5 or fewer faculty members, and departments in which political science is combined with other disciplines, $25.

The fee will be on a fiscal year basis becoming effective July 1972 and extending to June 30, 1973. Invitations to departments to participate in the Departmental Services Program have been sent to over 1300 departments in which political science is taught.

The Committee of Department Chairmen's first publication, A Guide to Graduate Study in Political Science, 1972, has just been published by the Association and distributed to departments. Copies of the Guide are also available from the Association at $2.50 each prepaid.

Members of the Committee of Department Chairmen are Malcolm E. Jewell, University of Kentucky (Chairman); Donald M. Freeman, University of West Florida; Jean Grossholtz, Mt. Holyoke College; Robert H. Horwitz, Kenyon College; Sol Lebovitz, Bryant College; Carroll R. McKibbin, University of Nebraska; Don C. Piper, University of Maryland; Charles Press, Michigan State University; Michael D. Reagan, University of California, Riverside; Peter P. Remeck, Fordham University; and William P. Robinson, Sr., Norfolk State College.

Regional and State Political Science Associations

At the 1971 Annual Meeting, an open meeting was held of officers of the regional and state political science associations to discuss matters of common interest and to determine ways in which the national association could be of assistance to the regional and state groups. APSA officials Robert E. Lane, Heinz Eulau, and Evron M. Kirkpatrick attended the session. An Ad Hoc Committee on Regional and State Political Science Associations was established and Currin Shields, University of Arizona, and President of the Western Political Science Association, was selected to head the group.

PS is publishing an updated list of regional and state political science associations. Further information as well as additions or corrections to the list will be appreciated.
