In the Aftermath of Catastrophe

During the academic years 2014/15 and 2015/16, the Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies will take as its theme "In the aftermath of catastrophe." What happens in the wake of cataclysmic experiences: war, civil war, genocide, imperial collapse, natural disaster? The aim in part is to understand processes of reconstruction but not only that. How was the experience of catastrophe remembered and memorialized; how was trauma conceived and dealt with; how was the post-catastrophic present understood in relation to the pre-disaster past? As always, we hope to address these questions from a wide variety of periods and places, from prehistory to the present and from all parts of the world.

The Center will offer a limited number of research fellowships for one or two semesters, running from September to January and from February to June. Early career scholars must have their doctoral degrees in hand at the time of the application. Fellows are expected to live in Princeton in order to take an active part in the intellectual interchange with other members of the Seminar. Funds are limited, and candidates are, therefore, strongly urged to apply to other grant-giving institutions as well as the Center if they wish to come for a full year.

To apply please link to: <http://jobs.princeton.edu>, requisition #1300300. The deadline for receipt of applications and letters of recommendation for fellowships for 2014/2015 is December 1, 2013. Please note that we will not accept faxed applications. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, cover letter, research proposal, abstract of proposal, and contact information for three references. For further information about the Davis Center, please go to <http://www.princeton.edu/dav>. Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and complies with applicable EEO and affirmative action regulations.

The Church from Age to Age

A History from Galilee to Global Christianity

12-4370LWC

$36.99

"A marvelous survey text. . . Its global frame of reference will be especially helpful to many. I strongly recommend this text for use in Christian colleges, seminaries, churches, and Protestant homes around the world. I will certainly be using it in my own teaching ministry."

Douglas A. Sweeney, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School

"Both timely and timeless. It . . . takes cognizance not only of the history of the Western and Eastern churches, but also of the history of the churches in the global south where the majority of Christianity currently resides."

Joel C. Elowsky, Concordia University Wisconsin and Eastern University

The Imposing Preacher

Samuel DeWitt Proctor and Black Public Faith

ADAM L. BOND

Samuel DeWitt Proctor's voice is essential to understanding the black social gospel. He brought a black middle class understanding of America to his preaching and had a notion of faith that presented an alternative reality to the pervasive racism in the United States.

The Courage of Faith

Martin Luther and the Theonomous Self

MARY GAEBLER

Luther's thinking evolved over his lifetime. His anthropology became increasingly open, with a growing affirmation of the created order and the recognition of faith's role in the transformation of the world, leading to his exhortation to take courage in God's transforming presence.

Christian Economic Ethics

History and Implications

DANIEL K. FINN

What does the history of Christian views of economic life mean in the twenty-first century? Here Daniel Finn reviews the insights from the Bible and the early church, to the Middle Ages and the Protestant Reformation, to treatments of the subject in the last century. He invites the reader to engage the sources and to develop an answer to the volume's basic question.

NEW IN THE HISTORY OF EVANGELICALISM SERIES

THE GLOBAL DIFFUSION OF EVANGELICALISM

The Age of Billy Graham and John Stott

Brian Stanley

The newest volume in the History of Evangelicalism series surveys how evangelicalism underwent extraordinary expansion in the second half of the twentieth century. Stanley's fascinating narrative covers the globalization of missions and evangelism, paying attention to the charismatic and neo-Pentecostal movements. Trends in evangelical biblical scholarship and preaching are addressed, in addition to leaders such as Billy Graham and Martin Lloyd-Jones. Finally, the book considers whether evangelical expansion has been at the price of theological stability.
