MASTER OF LAWS (LL.M.)

CASE WESTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW - CLEVELAND, OHIO

The Master of Laws (LL.M.) degrees are a one-year, full-time program, designed to give graduates of foreign law schools an opportunity to study the United States legal system and international law and trade, and to become truly capable lawyers in the 21st century's global economy. Our LL.M. students have access to 170 Juris Doctor (J.D.) courses, as well as courses specifically designed for the needs of LL.M. students. Our students, who have come from 60 countries, form a close-knit community and become involved in law school activities with J.D. classmates. LL.M. students benefit from individual attention and guidance in a family atmosphere. We offer four LL.M. degrees and a summer law institute.

LL.M. in United States and Global Legal Studies — Focus on United States legal research, writing, and analytical methods with a flexible curriculum to meet each individual student's career goals. Students may earn certificates in several areas of law.

LL.M. in Intellectual Property Law — Focus on the doctrine and policy of United States intellectual property law, including patents, trademarks, copyrights and trade secrets.

LL.M. in International Business Law — Focus on academic analysis and practical applications of United States business law as applied to international transactions. This degree is also offered online.

LL.M. in International Criminal Law — Focus on national security law, international humanitarian law, and international criminal law as applied to international tribunals or national courts.

Summer Language and Law Institute — Open to any foreign legal professional or international student, this intensive four-week training experience in Legal English aims to introduce students to the U.S. legal system.

SAY GOODBYE TO international law as you know it.

To outdated ideas about environmental regulation, global financial transactions, and the traditional hierarchies of domestic and international courts.

SAY HELLO TO international law as we know it, from a global perspective.

One which recognizes that there are fewer degrees of separation between issues once treated in isolation. Like foreign investment and human rights. Or a health crisis in one country and a patent holder on the other side of the globe.

AT THE FOREFRONT OF THIS PRACTICE IS COLUMBIA LAW SCHOOL through

unique collaborations with governments, the U.N., regulatory agencies, and NGOs. On campus, you'll experience unparalleled programs in the future of warfare, global financial regulation and corporate law, and legal studies across Asia. Elsewhere, you'll find partnerships with a worldwide network of leading academic institutions and Columbia Global Centers.

And everywhere we are, you'll see pioneering legal scholarship building global paths toward freedom, peace, prosperity, and better governance.

Arctic Law and Governance

The Role of China and Finland

Edited by Timo Koivurova (University of Lapland), Tianbao Qin (Wuhan University), Sébastien Duyck (University of Bern) and Tapio Nykänen (University of Lapland)

The objective of this book is to identify similarities and differences between the positions of Finland (as an EU Member State) and China, on Arctic law and governance. The book compares Finnish and Chinese legal and policy stances in specific policy areas of relevance for the Arctic, including maritime sovereignty, scientific research, marine protected areas, the Svalbard Treaty and Arctic Council co-operation. Building on these findings, the book offers general conclusions on Finnish and Chinese approaches to Arctic governance and international law, as well as new theoretical insights on Arctic governance.

The United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea

A Commentary

Edited by Alexander Proelß (University of Trier)

The United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) entered into force in 1994 and has since been ratified by about 160 states. The Treaty, the most comprehensive ever concluded, is often referred to as 'the constitution for the seas'. This Commentary focuses particularly on the interaction between UNCLOS and the European legal order, for example in the field of the prevention or the reduction of environmental pollution and the fair distribution of natural resources.

The International Legal Protection of Persons in Humanitarian Crises

Exploring the Acquis Humanitaire

Dug Cubie (University College Cork)

This book argues that an acquis humanitaire is identifiable through the interconnected web of existing and emerging international, regional and national laws, policies and practices for the protection of persons caught up in humanitarian crises. The author argues that by clarifying the conceptual framework and normative content of the acquis humanitaire, gaps and lacunae can be identified and the overall protection of persons strengthened.

Environmental Law and Governance for the Anthropocene

Edited by Louis Kotzé (North-West University)

This book sets out to address the currently under-theorised legal and consequent governance challenges presented by the emergence of the Anthropocene as a possible new geological epoch. The book does not aspire to offer a univocal response to Anthropocene exigencies and phenomena. What it does is to invite an unrivalled group of leading law and governance scholars to reflect upon the Anthropocene and the implications of its discursive formation in an attempt to trace some initial, often radical, future-facing and imaginative implications for environmental law and governance.

JENNY S. MARTINEZ: expert on international courts and tribunals, terrorism, and international human rights who has written the critically-acclaimed The Slave Trade and the Origins of International Human Rights Law

JAMES L. CAVALLARO: founding director of Stanford's International Human Rights and Conflict Resolution Clinic and a renowned international human rights scholar and practitioner who serves as one of the seven members of the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights

ALAN O. SYKES: co-author of a leading casebook on international trade law; expert on international trade (including the World Trade Organization), international economic relations and dispute resolution institutions, and the economics of state responsibility under international law

ALLEN S. WEINER: co-author of a leading international law casebook and an expert on international security law, the law of war, terrorism, international dispute resolution, international criminal law, and the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction

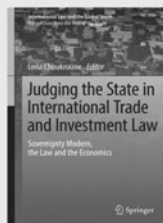

THESE ARE JUST FOUR OF THE STANFORD LAW SCHOLARS WHOSE WORK SHAPES INTERNATIONAL LEGAL FRONTIERS AND POLICIES—AND WHOSE TEACHING INSPIRES TOMORROW'S LAWYERS. UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO BOULDER

Geneva: study in the heart of Europe in a truly international environment

"The University of Geneva offers various international law courses at the postgraduate level in French and in English. In English it offers in addition several summer schools, a Certificate in Transnational Law (CTL) as well as four Masters in advanced studies (MAS) and one Executive Master. Students and professionals from around the world come to study in Geneva, the home of numerous international organizations, UN agencies, the ICRC and law firms active in international arbitration.

The CTL provides students with a chance to specialize, early in their career, in international legal affairs within one or two semesters. Students can tailor their studies according to their particular interests, be it public or private international law.

A new Geneva Master in European and International Governance (MEIG) offers a unique interdisciplinary learning experience combining European and international affairs, including possibilities for internship in the UN system.

The Geneva Academy of international Humanitarian Law and Human Rights, a joint venture of the Law School and the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, offers a new MAS on Transitional Justice, Human Rights and the Rule of Law. International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights are taught in a MAS and an Executive Master offered by the Academy, covering in depth all areas of international law relating to armed conflicts.

The Geneva Master in International Dispute Settlement, which is equally offered jointly with the Graduate Institute gives students the opportunity to study all aspects of dispute settlement in the international arena, across the divide of public and private."

International Law at Iowa

For the past 40 years, Iowa Law has had an International and Comparative Law Program. We offer the LLM, two-year JD, SJD, as well as the traditional three-year JD. In any given year, over ten percent of our students are foreign and we host numerous international scholars for the semester or the year. Our library, one of the largest in an American law school, has over one million titles and continues to grow. Nearly one-third of our faculty are involved in the field of International and Comparative Law.

EXPERIENCE

INTERNATIONAL LAW

For nearly two centuries, Michigan Law has been committed to researching and teaching international law. Beginning with scholars such as Edwin D. Dickinson, William W. Bishop, Eric Stein and John H. Jackson, Michigan faculty have published more than 150 articles in the American Journal of International Law. Current Michigan Law faculty whose work has been published in the Journal include Christine Chinkin, Steven Croley, Kristina Daugirdas, Monica Hakimi, Daniel Halberstam, James Hathaway, Catharine MacKinnon, Christopher McCrudden, Julian Davis Mortenson, Steven Ratner, Mathias Reimann, Bruno Simma, and Joseph Vining. This deep and long-term engagement in international law places Michigan among the world's most influential institutions in the field—past, present and future.
