Greek place-names: In order to standardize the spelling of site-names in Archaeological Reports, they will usually be transliterated using British Library conventions as follows:

α/a β/b γ/g (γγ/ng κ/k λ/l ξ/x) δ/d ε/e ζ/z η/e θ/th ι/i κ/k λ/l

μ/m (μβ/b π/p ρ/r σ,ς/s τ/t υ/u (or y) φ/ph χ/ch ψ/ps ω/o

A few exceptions to this rule are made where anglicized place-names are very well established (e.g. Athens, Corinth, Rhodes, Vergina).

Acknowledgements: Very warm gratitude is due to both contributors to the present issue, for the articles here are the last from each of them: David Blackman finishes his term as Director of the British School at Athens this year, and David Ridgway retires after writing for AR at regular intervals since 1967, a record of heroic proportions.

Many thanks also those who assisted David Blackman in the production of ‘Archaeology in Greece’: Koula Asiatides, Anne Blackman, Despina Christodoulou, Anthi Dipla, Helen Fields, Eleni Hatzaki, Katerina Panagopoulou, Sandra Pepelasis, Rosie Roumelioti, Elina Stamatatou, Iphigenia Tournavitou, David Turner, Vicki Tzavara, Alexandra Villing, and Penny Wilson Zarganis.

Archaeological Reports is published by the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies and the British School at Athens, for their subscribers. It is now also available to subscribers to the American Journal of Archaeology (see back cover) and to members of the Society for the Promotion of Byzantine Studies under similar terms. Members of the public can purchase copies from the Secretary, The Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies, Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU, UK.

‘Archaeology in Greece’, compiled annually by the Director of the British School, is the only account of recent archaeological work in Greece published in English. It is usually supplemented each year by reports from other parts of the ancient Greek and Byzantine world: South Italy, Sicily, Sardinia, Cyprus, Asia Minor, the Black Sea and North Africa are covered regularly.

Archaeological Reports is very grateful for the support of the A. G. LEVENTIS FOUNDATION
