

Nazi Economics

Ideology, Theory, and Policy

Avraham Barkai

translated by Ruth Hadass-Vashitz

In this book—first published in Germany in 1977—Avraham Barkai shows that fundamental ideological and political goals of Nazi leaders made them receptive to revolutionary economic theories being developed by scholars such as J.M. Keynes and by German reformers who formulated their theories from a specific German tradition of economic thought.

“An impressive book of major importance that manages to be at the same time informative, stimulating, provocative, and...concise.”

—Henry Ashby Turner, Journal of Modern History (on the German edition) $27.50

A World Elsewhere

Europe's Encounter with Japan in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries

Derek Massarella

In this book—the definitive work on the early English in Japan—Derek Massarella focuses on the East India Company and the factory it maintained in Japan from 1613 to 1623. Using previously unexplored sources, Massarella describes the history of the company, its arrival in Japan, the rise and decline of the factory, and the English merchant's encounters with the local population. $30.00

AMERICAN NATIONAL BIOGRAPHY

To be published under the auspices of the AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES

This new biographical dictionary, which will contain sketches of approximately 20,000 persons, will be published in twenty volumes by Oxford University Press.

It will cover the entire sweep of American history from the first explorations to the present, and include persons prominent in every field of human activity.

Already under consideration for inclusion are all persons in the Dictionary of American Biography, Notable American Women, and other important collections. But the editors are eager to locate significant people whose careers have not been described in these reference works. Readers of this journal who have come across such persons in the course of their research are urged to nominate them by writing to:

John A. Garraty, General Editor
American National Biography
Center for the Social Sciences
Columbia University
New York, NY 10027

Please include a brief explanation of why each nominee merits inclusion.

The editors are writing biographies and should write to you indicating their interest. They are hoping to include persons in the and be interested in such persons. Please write to the above address, and please include a brief explanation of why each nominee merits inclusion. The editors will prepare sketches of persons in the field. Please include a brief explanation of why each nominee merits inclusion.
