CHRIST AND THE NEW NATIONS

Martin Jarrett-Kerr, C.R.

6s. 6d.

The new Afro-Asian nations have for the most part been served for many years by Christian missionaries. But with what impact, or lack of impact? The Church must face the facts, and learn its lesson. Only so can it meet the new situation. And the need is urgent.

LEARNING AND DISCERNING IN HIGHER EDUCATION

M. B. W. Trapnell

6s. 6d.

The Headmaster of Denstone College insists that discussion on education must have reference to basic aims. He seeks to harmonize his theory of higher education with the daily realities of it as a headmaster encounters them.

IRONY IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

Published in the U.S.A. by the Westminster Press

"Of the six major essays, those on Job, Ecclesiastes, and Jonah are outstandingly good. . . . It is fairly obvious that the kind of literary sophistication with which Professor Good has become fascinated is that which emanated from the educated circles of Israel among whom the power and subtleties of speech were deliberately cultivated. Worthy exegetes, who are insensitive to verbal high-jinks and different tones of voice, not surprisingly fall into portentous misinterpretation." E. W. Heaton: View Review

MYTH AND SYMBOL

S.P.C.K. Theological Collections, No. 7

F. W. Dillistone Editor

16s. 6d. net

These essays (most of which have been specially written or extensively revised for this publication) are concerned with the place of myth and symbol in our contemporary world. From the first Christianity has employed symbolic forms to express its faith and worship. Are the traditional symbols now outmoded? Is it possible to discover new symbols related more closely to the modern cultural structure?

THE
'UNWRITTEN' AND 'SECRET'
APOSTOLIC TRADITIONS
IN THE
THEOLOGICAL THOUGHT
OF ST. BASIL OF CAESAREA

By The Reverend Dr. AMAND DE MENDIETA, M.A., B.D.

Edited by Professor T. F. Torrance

In this book the author, drawing from all the relevant texts of the treatise 'On the Holy Spirit', gives an interpretation of the theological thought of St. Basil of Caesarea. In order to investigate systematically St. Basil's theology he has to discuss four different subjects. First he deals with the use of unscriptural words in the writings against heretics. Secondly he analyses all the passages of the treatise in which the adjective 'unwritten' occurs, in order to define its precise meaning in connection with such words as traditions, witnesses, customs, and sacraments. Thirdly on the basis of the available evidence, he considers what St. Basil means by the 'secret' or 'esoteric' character which he attributes to the church's 'unwritten' traditions. Finally he expounds the thought of the Bishop of Caesarea concerning the 'apostolic' or 'patristic' origin of the church's 'unwritten' traditions.
