Prepared by a Number of Leading Orientalists

Under the Patronage of the International Union of Academies

The Encyclopaedia of Islam (New Edition) sets out the present state of our knowledge of the Islamic World. It is a unique and invaluable reference tool, an essential key to understanding the world of Islam, and the authoritative source not only for the religion, but also for the believers and the countries in which they live.

'...The closest parallel is the 11th edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. In brief, this is one of the great scholarly surveys of learning produced in the 20th century...simply essential for any kind of cross-cultural educational pursuit...'

Guy Gran, World Development, Vol. 17, No. 4, 1989.

'...belongs in all academic libraries where courses on the Islamic world are taught, and in all major public libraries.'

David L. White, ARBA, 1994.

'...no large library should be without it...'

Mohammad Shoeb Nomani, librarian of the King Fahd University, Dhahran, Arab News, 1988.

The Arts of China to A.D. 900

William Watson

This book is the first in a major three-volume series that will survey China's immense wealth of art, architecture, and artifacts from prehistoric times to the twentieth century. The Arts of China to A.D. 900 investigates the beginnings of the traditions on which much of the art rests, moving from Neolithic and Bronze Age China to the era of the Tang Dynasty around A.D. 900.

Japan Encounters the Barbarian

Japanese Travellers in America and Europe
W. G. Beasley

For over a hundred years the Japanese have looked to the West for ideas, institutions, and technology that would help them achieve the goal of "national wealth and strength." In this book W.G. Beasley discusses Japan's "cultural borrowings" from America and Europe, focusing on the mid-nineteenth century.

Two Chinese Treatises on Calligraphy

Treatise on Calligraphy (Shu pu)
Sun Qianli

Sequel to the "Treatise on Calligraphy"
(Xu shu pu)

Jiang Kui

Introduced, translated, and annotated by
Chang Ch'ung-ho and Hans H. Frankel

"This book provides translations of two of the most important Chinese texts on calligraphy. Accompanied by useful notes, a glossary of names, and a glossary of technical terms, it will satisfy a need in the field of Chinese art studies for reliable translations from the vast body of traditional writings on calligraphy, the most revered of all the arts in China."

—Robert E. Harrist, Jr., Oberlin College

Negotiating Daily Life in Traditional China

How Ordinary People Used Contracts, 600-1400

Valerie Hansen

This intriguing book explores how ordinary people in traditional China used contracts to facilitate the transactions of their daily lives, as they bought, sold, rented, or borrowed land, livestock, people, or money. In the process it illuminates specific everyday concerns during China's medieval transformation.

"This is a valuable and eminently readable contribution to the field."—Barend J. ter Haar, University of Heidelberg
